Carolina Football is ...

• BOWL GAMES
Carolina has played in five consecutive postseason bowl games, which ties the longest streak in UNC history and is the ninth-longest active streak in college football.

• BOWL WINS
UNC has three bowl victories in the last five years (Peach Bowl in January 1993, Carquest Bowl in December 1995 and Gator Bowl in January 1997) plus a win in the 1993 Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

• WINS IN THE 1990s
Carolina is the 12th-winningest Division I program in the country and the second-winningest in the Atlantic Coast Conference over the last five seasons; the Tar Heels have 57 wins and a tie in the last seven years.

• WINNING SEASONS
The Tar Heels have seven consecutive winning seasons, the longest streak at Carolina since 1934-40, and the third-longest active streak in the ACC.

• STATE TITLES
Four consecutive sweeps over in-state rivals Duke, N.C. State and Wake Forest, a school first.

• NFL ACTIVE
Carolina had 34 former players in the NFL in 1996, the eighth-highest figure among opening day NFL rosters.

• SUPER BOWL
Carolina players have played in each of the last 12 Super Bowls, including linebacker Bernardo Harris and fullback William Henderson of the reigning world champion Green Bay Packers.

• BALANCE
UNC was one of only two schools in the country last year to finish in the final Associated Press Top 10 rankings and earn the College Football Association's award for outstanding graduation rates.

• DEGREES
Honored by the CFA for outstanding graduation rates in eight of the last nine years.

• DIPLOMAS
Carolina's NFL player graduation rate is better than 70 percent; the NFL average for all players is 30 percent.

• A HOT TICKET
Carolina sold out of season football tickets in record fashion this year. A record 34,000 season tickets were accounted for by June 11, more than eight weeks ahead of the previous record pace.

• EXPANSION
The Frank H. Kenan Football Center, North Side Preferred Seating Box and west end zone seating are scheduled to open in August 1997; the Football Center will contain Carolina's locker room, strength and conditioning facility, training room, meeting room, coaches' offices, academic study center and football memorabilia room.

• TELEVISION
Six of the season's first nine games, including the first four, are scheduled to be televised (ESPN, espn2, ABC and Jefferson-Pilot Sports).

• EXPOSURE
Over the last two years, 21 of the Tar Heels' 24 games have been televised.

• HONORS
Mack Brown was the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year in 1996 and was a finalist for the Bear Bryant Award, which goes to the National Coach of the Year.

Will Owens

Mack Brown and the Bowl Trophies.

• EXPERIENCE
Seven of Carolina's nine assistant coaches have been head coaches, including five at the collegiate level.

• MORE BOWLS
Carolina has played in 21 postseason bowl games, which is tied for the most of any of the original ACC institutions.

• DOUBLE DIGITS
UNC has won 10 or more games six times in history, including twice in the last four years.

• TAR PIT
The Tar Heels are 35-8-1 at Kenan Stadium in the 1990s, including 5-0 in 1996, the first perfect home record since 1980.

• NATIONAL HONORS
Carolina returns three players who earned All-America honors in 1996 and nine players who have earned All-ACC accolades, including consensus first-team All-America cornerback Dre' Bly.

• DEFENSE
Carolina was No. 1 in the country last year in scoring defense and turnover margin, No. 2 in total yards allowed and No. 3 in both pass efficiency and rushing yards allowed.

• LEAGUE LEADERS
The Tar Heels have led the ACC in total yards allowed per game in each of the last two seasons; last year the defense topped the ACC in pass efficiency for the first time since 1982.

• FOCUSED
UNC set a school record last year by committing only 12 turnovers, seven fewer than the previous UNC record set in 1990 and 1992.

• EXPLOSIVE
The Tar Heels set dozens of school records last year, including team passing marks for most yards, touchdowns and first downs.

• CATCHY
Carolina had four players catch at least 30 passes last year, the first time in school history four had even as many as 25 apiece.

• TAILBACKS
Tar Heel running backs have rushed for 1,000 yards or more in a season 23 times, the most in NCAA history; Natrone Means accounted for two of the five 1,000-yard seasons in Mack Brown's first nine seasons.

Covering the Tar Heels

Media relations for football: Coordinated by Steve Kirschner, Director of Media Relations for Revenue Sports, and Kevin Best, Assistant Media Relations Director. Please direct interview, information and photo requests to either Kirschner or Best.

The University of North Carolina Athletic Media Relations and Sports Information Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center, less than one mile from Kenan Stadium. Parking is available with a visitor's pass in the lot behind Koury Natatorium and can be accessed from Skipper Bowles Drive. Enter the building via the sidewalk which runs between the Smith Center and the Natatorium. The office is on Level 2 directly across the hallway from the men's basketball office.

Credentials: Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home football games should be made in writing on company letterhead to Rick Brewer, Associate Athletic Director for Communications, in the Carolina Athletic Media Relations Office. The mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515. Requests may be sent via fax, but all requests, mailed or faxed, should be sent so that they reach the Media Relations Office at least one week prior to the game.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies which cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority. Other credentials will be issued on the basis of circulation and the availability of space. Credentials will be mailed if at all possible. Otherwise, they may be picked up before 5 p.m. on Friday at the Media Relations Office from administrative assistant Lee Snyder. Those credentials not picked up by 5 p.m. on Friday will be left for Saturday pickup at Kenan Stadium Will Call, which is at Gate Six (6), directly behind the press box. Will Call opens two hours prior to kickoff.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working press box. Children, spouses, dates and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America. There is no cheering in the press box.

Press Box Services: Programs, flip cards, statistics and notes will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game. Press box announcer Dave Lohse will announce abbreviated statistical information after the first and third quarters.

A meal will be served before each game. Soft drinks, coffee and snacks will be available throughout the game.

Sideline Policy: Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without an armband. Armbands can be picked up in the press box 90 minutes prior to each game. Each photographer must pick up his or her own armband. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field. Credential holders not working will be asked to leave the sidelines. Assistant Director of Media Relations Kevin Best will be on the field to handle any questions and serve as field liasion to the press box officials.

We ask for the safety of the players and officials to please not leave equipment unattended on the sidelines. If you are shooting with a tripod, please keep a safe distance from the playing field.

Gameday Parking: Press parking at Kenan Stadium is available on an extremely limited basis. Requests for parking passes should be made well in advance to Rick Brewer. Parking passes tend to run out quickly and the Media Relations Office has parking available in just two areas.

Parking is located in the lot on the corner of Gravely Drive and Manning Drive or the parking deck diagonally across the street from that lot. Either location is a five-minute walk from the press box.

Postgame Interviews: Following a brief cooling off period, requested UNC players will head directly to the interview area for a 20-25 minute interview period. The Tar Heel locker room is closed.

Representatives from the Media Relations Office will walk through the press box midway through the fourth quarter and take player requests from the media. On-field media should direct interview requests to Kevin Best or Steve Kirschner either in the last five minutes of the game or immediately after the game.

Coach Mack Brown will conduct a short interview with Woody Durham for the Tar Heel Sports Network's live broadcast while the players are in the interview area. Approximately 10 minutes after the players have begun their interview period Coach Brown will begin his postgame press conference.

The site of both the players' and Coach Brown's press conferences will be determined at a later date once the ground floor of the new Frank H. Kenan Center is completed.

Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.

phones along press row for writers to transmit stories. There is a bank of phones stationed along press row. All long distance calls must be by credit card, collect or billed to a third number.

Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell at least two weeks prior to the game. If you are calling from within the 919 area code dial 780-2800. However, if you are calling from outside the 919 area code, then you must dial 1-800-919-2800.

Note: the on-campus building number for the press box at Kenan Stadium, for which you will be asked, is #519. Rick Brewer should be listed as the stadium contact for placing the phone.

The Carolina Media Relations Office has one fax machine which will be available for filing. Writers should make a representative of the UNC Media Relations Office aware of their fax needs prior to the end of the game.

Interviews with Coach Brown: Mack Brown will be available to the media at a press conference at 10 a.m. each Monday preceding a game during the football season. Coach Brown will meet with all members of the media at one time. Print, television and radio interviews will be conducted concurrently inside the Rams Room of the original fieldhouse, located above the visitors' dressing room.

A teleconference-style phone line will also be available at this time. If you can not be in Chapel Hill during Coach Brown's press conference, you can listen and ask questions, time permitting, by using this service. Contact Steve Kirschner for the phone number and operating instructions.

Interviews with Brown at other times during the week can be set up by contacting Becky Medford, Coach Brown's secretary in the football office. If Coach Brown is unavailable at that time, he will make every effort to return the call as soon as possible. Staff meetings are conducted during the morning. The football office number is (919) 966-2575.

Coach Brown is also available on the weekly ACC Teleconference at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesdays. Contact Brian Morrison at the ACC or Kirschner for the phone number.

Player Interviews: All player interviews should be arranged through Steve Kirschner or Kevin Best in the Media Relations Office. Players have been instructed to conduct no interviews unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be at the conclusion of practice at the practice field. All interviews are to be conducted on Tuesday and Wednesday only.

One day each week several players will be made available to the media from 1-1:30 p.m. at the Rams Room. Representatives from the Media Relations Office will alert the media to the exact day of that week's press opportunity no later than Monday afternoon.

Telephone interviews are conducted at the player's convenience. Usually they are handled by players returning calls immediately after practice on Tuesday or Wednesday (approximately between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.). No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Please do not show up and wait for players unannounced at either the dining hall, the weight room, the locker room, players' housing or the football office. The players have been instructed to politely decline the request and refer the person to the Media Relations Office.

Players may do taped radio interviews but will not be available for live call-in radio shows.

Practice Coverage: Subject to change, the Tar Heels practice each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 4 p.m. on the practice fields located directly across the street from the baseball stadium and adjacent to the UNC School of Law.

Practice is open to the media on Tuesday only. The media is allowed to attend all of Tuesday's practices, which generally last until 6:30-7 p.m. Players and coaches are available to meet with the media after practice on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Wednesday the media will be allowed to enter the practice field once practice is over.

Once the team goes into pads in the fall, photographers (still and video) will be allowed to shoot only warm-ups, stretching drills and the first three periods of work (15 minutes). Team meetings after practice are private.

Once the school year starts, practice generally begins with stretching exercises at 3:45 p.m. and the first period of drills at approximately 4 p.m. The team, in general, does only light running and stretching on Sunday and does not practice on Monday, except after an open date.

FaxBack Service: The Atlantic Coast Conference and its member institutions provide statistics, schedules, notes and releases on a fax-on-demand service. Each school places full postgame boxscores and play-by-play on the service and updates its football release by no later than 5 p.m. Monday afternoon. This is a media information service. Phone numbers are not to be distributed to the general public. If you wish to use this service, please call the Media Relations Office or the ACC Service Bureau for further information.

File numbers for Carolina information are as follows: Monday morning release, including notes from the previous game, a preview of the upcoming contest, injury updates and statistics (file #61050, available Monday by 12 noon); pregame notes (file #61051, available Friday afternoon by 1 p.m.); team statistics (file #61052, available Sunday afternoon by 3 p.m.); complete box scores with team and individual statistics, scoring summary, play-by-play and postgame coaches' quotes (file #61053, available as soon as possible following the completion of the game); 1997 schedule and rosters (file #61054, available at any time)

Satellite Feed and Teleconference: A highlight clip of each Atlantic Coast Conference school is available weekly via satellite transmission. Coordinates and time of the transmission can be obtained by contacting the ACC Service Bureau in Greensboro (910) 854-8787.

All of the league's head coaches are also available each week to the media on a teleconference. Starting time is 11 a.m. every Wednesday. The teleconference feed is of broadcast quality. The phone number for the media to use in becoming a part of this teleconference can be obtained through the Carolina Media Relations Office or the ACC Service Bureau.

Directions to Press Parking

(access only with authorized parking pass)

From Eastern North Carolina and/or Raleigh/Durham International Airport: Take I-40 West to Chapel Hill. Stay in the left or middle lane because the road about five miles past the airport and the right lane heads towards Durham. Stay to the left and follow I-40 West to Exit 273-B. Signs marking this exit are marked in any of the following ways: UNC-Chapel Hill/Carrboro, Kenan Stadium - Dean E. Smith Center, 54 West. Exit 273-B is a right-hand exit. Stay straight on 54 West for approximately three miles. Exit right onto Route 15-501 South/54 West and follow for one mile. Turn right at the traffic light onto Manning Drive. Follow up the hill, stay straight through the intersection (Smith Center will be down the hill on your left) and turn right at the next traffic light. That is the intersection of Manning Drive and Gravely Drive. An attendant will check for your pass and allow you to turn into the lot.

From North of Chapel Hill: Take I-85 South to Durham. I-85 will split at exit 174. The right-hand lane takes you to I-40 and Greensboro. Stay in the left-hand lane and take exit 174 (a left-hand exit) for 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

From Charlotte and West of Chapel Hill: Take I-85 North to I-40 East. 85 and 40 split in Hillsborough, just west of Chapel Hill. Take I-40 to exit 270 and exit onto Route 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

From South of Chapel Hill: Take I-77 North to I-85 and then follow the same directions as from Charlotte. Or take I-95 North to I-40 West. 95 and 40 converge just north of Benson, N.C. Then take I-40 all the way to Chapel Hill and follow the directions from the airport. See above.

Carolina's Position Rankings

Wide Receivers
Notional ronk No. 1 in Lindy's, No. 3 in Sporting News and Street & Smith's

Octavus Barnes is not listed as a starter, which says a whole bunch. He's a great one, but explosive L.C. Stevens and sure-handed Na Brown give Tar Heels an uncoverable collection. –Lindy's

Defensive Line
National ronk No. 2 in Lindy's, No. 3 in Street & Smith's and No. 7 in Sporting News

Linebackers
Notional ronk No. 1 in Sporting News, No. 2 in Lindy's and No. 2 in Street & Smith's

Secondary
National ronk No. 1 in Lindy's and Sporting News, No. 5 in Street & Smith's

All four starters are back from a tremendous gronp. Dre' Bly and Robert Williams are the best pair of corners in the nation and the safety duo of Omar Brown and Greg Williams is up there too. Depth is excellent at corner. –Sporting News

Previewing the 1997 Tar Heels

In Chapel Hill, enthusiasm is at an all-time high as Carolina enters the 1997 season with great expectations. With 15 starters returning, including nine from the nation's top-ranked scoring defense, the Tar Heels are seeking a return to the Top 10 and a major bowl bid.

The University of North Carolina returns 15 starters from the 1996 team that won 10 games, finished tied for second in the Atlantic Coast Conference, was ranked No. 10 in the country in the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN final polls and defeated West Virginia, 20-13, in the Toyota Gator Bowl.

Carolina head coach Mack Brown returns for his 10th year in Chapel Hill and understands that the successes of 1996 bring with it added expectations and anticipation for a 1997 schedule. The season opens on September 6th at noon at newly-renovated Kenan Stadium against Indiana University.

The Tar Heel football program has not been transformed into one of national prestige overnight. It has been a nine-year work in progress since Brown became the UNC head coach in December 1987. Carolina enters the 1997 season with seven consecutive winning seasons, five straight bowl appearances and the 12th-most wins and 13th-best winning percentage in the nation over the past five years. Carolina is one of only 12 programs to have won at least 10 games in at least two of the past four seasons.

The Tar Heels feature nine players who have received first- or second-team All-ACC honors and a trio who earned All-America plaudits in 1996. Adding to a very talented class of returning players is a recruiting class which many analysts placed in the Top 10 nationally. No wonder optimism is high in Chapel Hill.

"People are talking football year-round here now and that's exciting," says Brown, who has a 59-45-1 record at UNC and an overall head coaching mark of 76-73-1 in 13 years. "You can't, however, let expectations become pressure for your players. They had fun last year; they played recklessly throughout the season. We have to take that enthusiasm and channel it to be the best we can be and not feel pressure and not play less aggressively than we did a year ago."

Last year the Tar Heel defense was the No. 1 overall defensive unit in the nation. Carolina led the country in scoring defense (10.0 ppg) and turnover margin (plus 2.0 per game), was second in total yards allowed per game (225.6), and third in both pass efficiency defense (83.2 points) and rushing yards allowed per contest (73.9).

Nine starters return on defense, led by consensus first-team All-America cornerback Dre' Bly, two-time first-team All-ACC and second-team All-America defensive end Greg Ellis and All-ACC, Butkus Award semifinalist and second-team All-America outside linebacker Brian Simmons.

The Sporting News ranks Carolina's linebackers and secondary as the best in the country and the defensive front four No. 7 in the nation. The magazine picks Simmons as a first-team All-America and ACC Defensive Player of the Year, ranks Ellis and Bly third best in the country at their respective positions and cornerback Robert Williams seventh-best. This is the second consecutive year The Sporting News has ranked UNC's linebackers No. 1.

Bly became the first defensive player in college football history to be named as a freshman to the Associated Press' All-America first team. He led the nation with 11 interceptions in the regular season and added two more in the Gator Bowl. Bly, the ACC's Rookie of the Year, also broke up 13 passes and earned first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News, the Football Writers and the Walter Camp Foundation.

The Chesapeake, Va., native burst onto the scene in the third game of the season as he picked off three Georgia Tech passes in a 16-0 Tar Heel triumph. A week later he had two more interceptions at Florida State and held All-ACC wideout Andre Cooper without a catch for the first time in 18 games. He also had a pair of pass thefts at Virginia, returning one of them 51 yards for a touchdown. Bly capped his remarkable season with two interceptions, his fourth multi-theft game, against West Virginia in the Gator Bowl.

"Dre' simply had an outstanding season and not just for a freshman," says Brown. "Any player regardless of his class would have been proud of what he accomplished last year. He reads the game very well, closes on the receiver quickly, likes to be physical and aggressive and has exceptional hand-eye coordination. The thing that really makes him a great player, however, is his competitiveness. We can play the tight man coverage in part because of players like Dre' and Robert Williams. They love that challenge of stopping a talented receiver."

Ellis, a senior, is just one-half a quarterback sack from equaling Carolina's alltime record, which was set by Marcus Jones from 1992-95. Ellis had 12.5 sacks for 99 yards in losses last year, the second-highest single-season figure in school history. He was third in the league in sacks and tackles for losses. In his career, Ellis has 23.5 sacks for 188 yards in losses. Only two players in Carolina history have been named to the league's official all-conference team three times and Ellis is bidding to become just the third player overall and second defensive lineman to earn that distinction. (William Fuller is currently the only UNC defensive lineman to earn three all-league honors). Ellis was named second-team All-America by The Sporting News and third team by the Associated Press.

In 1997, Carolina's defense stands to be one of the nation's best. Second in yards allowed in 1996, the defense returns (l-r) Brian Simmons (41), Kivuusama Mays (53), Greg Ellis (87), Vannie Halliday (90), Russell Davis (96) and Keith Newman (9).

"Greg Ellis is a coaching staff's dream," says Brown. "He is one of the nicest, classiest, most talented and most well-respected players to play at Carolina. He also is one tough man to stop. Greg is one of the prototype players for his position with his size, strength, agility, quickness and ability to disrupt the quarterback by sacking him, pressuring him or simply getting a hand in his passing lane. To be just one sack away from breaking Marcus Jones' alltime school record is an amazing achievement when you consider what a great player Marcus is and the fact Greg has a full year to break and extend the record."

Simmons is a lightning-quick linebacker who might be one of the best defensive players in the country, regardless of position. Last year he had 85 tackles in 10 regular-season games and picked off four passes. He returned one for an 84-yard touchdown against Louisville and another 57 yards at Virginia. Simmons, a senior, covers the field as well as any player in the ACC, and his aggressive, blitzing style of play is what Carolina hopes to feature in years to come.

Simmons set UNC single-season and career records last year for interception return yardage, demonstrating his athleticism. The New Bern, N.C., native is known for making big plays in big games. He was all over the field last year at Florida State and repeatedly stuffed ball-carriers in the Gator Bowl win. His blitz on fourth down led to West Virginia's errant last-gasp pass and sealed the Tar Heels' victory.

"Anytime Brian Simmons is on the field you have the privilege of knowing you are watching one of the finest football players in the country, regardless of position," says Brown. "You just can't truly appreciate what a great player he is unless you watch the game from field level and gain a sense for how hard he hits, how fast he runs and how determined he plays. North Carolina has had many great linebackers in its history and Brian deserves to be ranked among the very best."

By no means are Bly, Ellis and Simmons the only standouts on a unit which has led the ACC in total defense each of the past two years. The front seven is one of the best in college football. Senior middle linebacker Kivuusama Mays was a first-team All-ACC selection in 1995 and a second-team choice in 1996. Mays has led the Tar Heels in tackles both times with a combined 250 hits. Senior defensive tackle Vonnie Holliday was second on the squad last fall with five quarterback sacks. Junior defensive end Mike Pringley had 25 quarterback pressures and three sacks and made a key third-down tackle for a loss in the fourth quarter of the Gator Bowl.

Ellis and Pringley should start at defensive end and will be backed up by juniors Teto Simpson and Ebenezer Ekuban, who shifted over to defense after two years on the depth chart at tight end. Red-shirt freshmen Stephon McQueen and Damon Dawson add depth at an already talented position.

Holliday is one of the most underrated players on the squad. He had the responsibility of replacing Marcus Jones last year and filled the position admirably with 11 tackles for losses. His sack on the first play of the game led to an N.C. State fumble which UNC recovered for a touchdown. The Camden, S.C., native had four negative yardage tackles, including two sacks, in the shutout of Georgia Tech. He has to take the leadership role held last year by Rick Terry, who was the first pick of the second round of the 1997 NFL Draft by the New York Jets. Holliday is a great deal like Terry in that he is relatively unknown, except by the professional scouts who are watching him and the offensive linemen who have a hard time trying to stop him.

Juniors Marcus Dow and Russell Davis share the starting assignment at the other defensive tackle slot. Dow had a terrific spring, but would be the least experienced of the defensive starters. Davis played two years at defensive end and has 5.5 career quarterback sacks. The coaches feel he can use his quickness and agility along with his size to stop both the pass and run.

Senior Nate Hobgood-Chittick and sophomore Ricco McCain will provide help off the bench and contribute on special teams.

Last year The Sporting News rated linebackers Mays, Simmons and James Hamilton the No. 1 group in the country. Even though Hamilton has graduated and will play this fall for the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars, the coaches feel this year's linebackers may be even better. Simmons and Mays are a year older, wiser and more experienced, and junior Keith Newman is an outstanding talent. The Tampa, Fla., native had 13 tackles at Florida State last fall in his first collegiate start. Sophomore Brandon Spoon is like a fourth starter. Carl Torbush, 1996 National Defensive Coordinator of the Year, has all four players learning each of the three positions so he can use a four-man rotation to keep the freshest players on the field at all times.

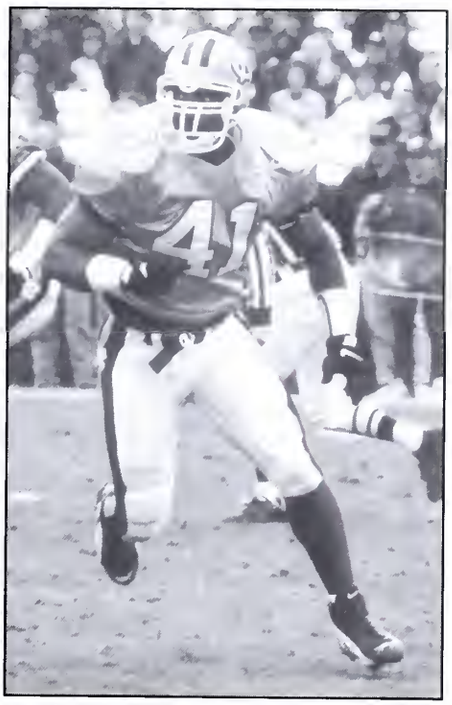
Junior Mark Dunn, sophomore Shawn Woodard and red-shirt freshmen Ricky Smith and Tim Burgess headline the group of linebacker reserves.

"No question that linebacker is a position of strength for us again," says Brown, who while at Carolina has coached NFL linebackers Dwight Hollier, Mike Morton, Antonio Goss, Bernardo Harris, Eddie Mason, Reggie Clark, Ray Jacobs and Hamilton. "Our front seven has the talent, size and experience to both stuff the run and force the quarterback into making plays quicker than he intends. That is the style of attack-oriented defensive football we want to play at Carolina. If the corners and safeties play like they did a year ago, that is, not giving up the deep threat, then we feel like our front seven can force the opposition to play at our pace, and that is in our favor.

"Any player that plays linebacker for us has to be able to run, hit and read the quarterback. Simmons, Mays, Newman and Spoon all do that and much more and have a chance to be the cornerstone of another great defense."



A semifinolist for the Butkus Award os a junior, Brian Simmons may be the best Tar Heel linebocker since Lawrence Taylor.

One of the biggest question marks at the start of last season was the secondary, as just one starter was returning. All four starters and several key reserves are back in 1997, however, led by senior safeties Omar Brown and Greg Williams. Brown has started at cornerback, free and strong safety at different points in his career and was a second-team All-ACC pick a year ago when he made 71 tackles and broke up six passes. Williams, a converted wide receiver, moved into the starting lineup at strong safety in the third week last fall and was one of the most underrated players on the squad. Williams averaged six tackles per game, caused a fourth-quarter interception that helped seal Carolina's win at ninth-ranked Syracuse and made a crucial fumble recovery in the third quarter of the Gator Bowl.

"We were very concerned about the secondary at the start of last season," says Brown. "Not because we didn't feel we had talented players there, but because other than Omar (Brown) there was very little experience. That is especially true when you consider we had installed an aggressive, man cover scheme in which the corners were going to have to make big plays.

"However, the secondary was a major reason why we led the country in scoring defense and were third in the nation in pass defense efficiency. Bly's interceptions were obviously remarkable, but no less important was the play of Robert Williams, Brown and Greg Williams. Robert played so well he made it impossible for quarterbacks to simply throw away from Dre'. The interception he made against West Virginia that led to a field goal was one of the key plays in that game.

"You can't be the second-best team in the country against the run without physical play from your safeties. Greg Williams and Omar Brown gave us that physical element and also gave us the confidence to let the corners play aggressively. We gave up a few deep throws, but far less than we stopped and that is in great part to the safeties."

Robert Williams, a junior from Shelby, N.C., is an unheralded standout. A second-team All-ACC selection, Williams did not get as much national attention, probably due to the interception exploits of fellow corner Bly. Williams was equal to the task, though, as he broke up a UNC-record and ACC-leading 23 passes in the regular season. He broke up three more passes and picked off another with a circus catch in the Gator Bowl.

Senior cornerbacks Terry Billups and Reggie Love and junior safety Jomo Legins will be among the first players off the bench in the secondary. All three have a wealth of experience and have started games in the past. Redshirt freshmen Antwon Black and Quinton Savage are pushing hard for playing time and will need to play to get experience for the future.

"We set very high goals last year," says Brown. "Our goals on defense were to be No. 1 in scoring defense and turnover margin and we did that. Those are the goals that will again be first in our minds this year, because if you do those things, you will be a successful football team."

Offensive coordinator Greg Davis and his staff are in need of a little more retooling than their defensive counterparts. The Tar Heels must replace at least five starters, including a pair of all-conference standouts. Gone is tailback Leon Johnson, a four-year starter and the ACC's alltime leader in all-purpose yardage, as well as Carolina's alltime leading scorer, second-leading receiver and third-leading rusher.

Other departed starters include two-time first-team All-ACC tight end Freddie Jones, three-year offensive line starters Byron Thomas and Jerness Gethers and two-year starting fullback Chris Watson. Brian Honeycutt started every game in 1995 and for the first four games last year at right guard until a knee injury brought his season and career to a premature end. Joe Ellison, a sophomore, shared starting honors at right guard after Honeycutt's injury with Mike Hobgood, but Ellison injured a knee ligament in the bowl game. Ellison may be ready in time for the start of the season.

"Our offense has a long way to go," says Brown. "We lose an NFL tight end, three starters in the offensive line, two productive and experienced fullbacks and Leon Johnson, the most productive yardage gainer in ACC history. We have a lot of work to do in our running game and our protection with our front five. Unless you are successful up front you have no chance on offense."

Quarterbock Chris Keldorf earned first-team All-ACC honors in 1996 and is being considered for the Heisman Trophy in 1997. Last fall he set severol schaol recards, including most tauchdowns, most completions and fewest interceptians

Carolina returns not one, but two, proven winners at quarterback. Senior Chris Keldorf became the first Tar Heel quarterback to earn first-team all-conference honors since 1974 as he set UNC single-season passing records for most completions (201), touchdown passes (23), fewest interceptions (five) and most consecutive passes without an interception (143). Keldorf, who transferred to UNC from Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif., became the first Tar Heel to lead the ACC in passing since Mark Maye in 1986.

He had season highs of 25 completions twice (against Maryland and Houston), 340 yards (against Maryland) and four touchdowns on two occasions (Maryland and Houston).

Keldorf suffered a fracture dislocation of his left ankle in the final regular-season game at Duke and did not play in the Gator Bowl. Originally he was not slated to see action in the spring but his rehabilitation proceeded ahead of schedule and was able to participate fully.

ESPN Draft analyst Mel Kiper Jr. rates Keldorf the second-best senior quarterback in the country behind only Peyton Manning of Tennessee. He was one of 10 finalists in 1996 for the Davey O'Brien Award, which is given to the top quarterback in the nation.

"Chris showed a lot of maturity coming into a veteran program and earning the respect from the players and coaches," says Brown. "His ability as a quarterback was evident from the first day in spring practice, but what we learned almost as quickly is that this guy is a winner and a great leader. Chris is humble almost to a fault, always willing to share in the blame and never wants to be seen as the guy who should receive credit for a big play. He has a stronger arm than people think because he knows how to take pace off the ball and make it catchable. His accuracy and the reaction time from seeing a play develop and then letting the ball go are what makes him stand out above the crowd.

"The other thing about Chris that most people didn't see was the way he worked with Oscar (Davenport) and Kevin Carty last year when he was injured and they were preparing for the Gator Bowl. He is a very mature young man with a bright future."

Junior Oscar Davenport took over for Keldorf and led Carolina to wins over Duke and West Virginia. He threw an 80-yard touchdown pass against the Blue Devils and was the Most Valuable Player of the bowl game after he completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and a touchdown and rushed for 31 yards and a score.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., native might start at most of the other schools in the ACC and goes into preseason practice as the No. 2 quarterback at Carolina, but he does so without a word of dissent. Keldorf and Davenport are friendly competitors, constantly striving to make each other better.

Davenport has a strong arm, a quick release and can gain yardage by running with the ball. Offensive coordinator Greg Davis says, however, that it would be a mistake to label Daven-

"It would really be unfair to say that Oscar is a good athlete who plays quarterback. Instead, Oscar is a really good quarterback who also is a very fine athlete."

Red-shirt freshmen Kevin Carty and true freshman Phillip Deas, who came to Carolina in January and participated in spring drills, are vying for the No. 3 role.

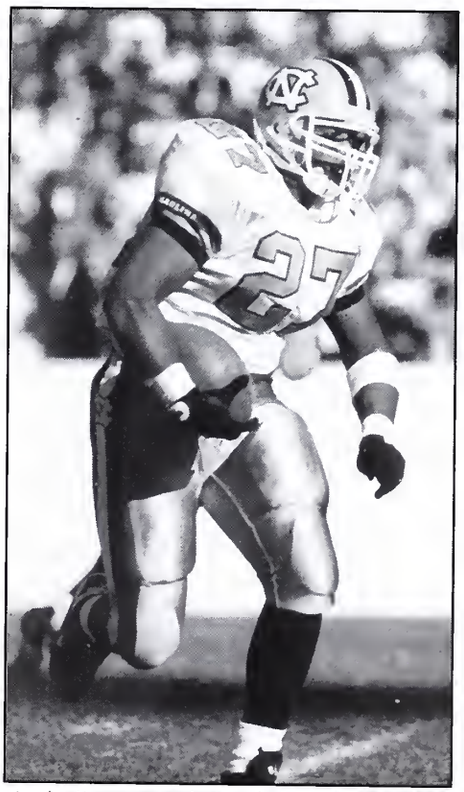
All-ACC center Jeff Saturday headlines the returnees on the offensive line. Saturday, a senior, has started the past two seasons and is one of the top leaders on and off the field. His vocal style of leadership is backed by exemplary play. He was outstanding in the Gator Bowl as the Tar Heels compiled 20 points against the nation's No. 1 statistically-rated defense.

"What a competitor Jeff Saturday is," says Brown. "In addition to being a first-team All-ACC center, Jeff is a standout in the classroom. It is easy to see and hear how much of a vocal leader Jeff is, but you have to understand how much he also leads by example. Jeff works hard and demands a lot of himself and his teammates, and that pushes us to be a better team. He really is the anchor of our offensive line, and we need him to stay healthy and have a big year."

Seniors Saturday, Ryan Hoffman (left tackle), Mike Gimbol (left guard), Mike Hobgood (right guard), and Mike Baxter (right tackle) are the likely starters along the offensive line. A number of younger, more inexperienced players could challenge them for playing time, however. Brown says a number of the more experienced players could be asked to learn two positions until the younger players mature.

Saturday has started every game the last two years and is the most experienced of all the linemen. Hobgood, a Durham, N.C., native, has started 13 regular-season games over the last three years and has the unique distinction of starting in bowl games for three straight seasons. Hobgood and Hoffman were both outstanding in the Gator Bowl. Baxter has 18 career starts and is a talented run blocker.

Gimbol had his finest set of practices at Carolina during the spring and should be ready to start for the first time at left guard. If not, he will likely be pushed by red-shirt freshman Cam Holland and Ellison, who split time at right guard last year.



Jonathan Linton returns as the Tar Heels most experienced tailback. Linton has scored four career touchdowns and gained over 500 yards at UNC, including a career-high 102 yards at Maryland in 1995.

Sophomores Kareem Ellis, Bryan Jones and Robert Nixon and red-shirt freshman James Wagstaff are in the mix of players vying for time at tackle; sophomore Jon Hall has a chance to play some at guard and junior John Surigao and sophomore Ryan Carfley will spell Jeff Saturday at center.

"The offensive line may collectively be the most underrated position on the team," says Brown. "Jeff Saturday should be an All-America this year and Ryan Hoffman, Mike Hobgood and Mike Baxter are seniors with a lot of experience. What we really need is our younger players to step up and assert themselves and put us in a position to have a dominant run game again."

A completely new running game is in order with the losses of Johnson and fullbacks Chris Watson and Maurice McGregor. They combined for 304 carries for 1,109 yards and 54 receptions last year. Rising senior tailback Jonathan Linton rushed 55 times for 200 yards and classmate Mike Geter had 24 carries for 95 yards. They are the two leading candidates among the returning players to step in at tailback, although the Tar Heels signed four tailbacks in the offseason who could get long looks in preseason camp.

Linton rushed for 102 yards against Maryland in 1995 and has shown the power-back style reminiscent of former Tar Heel standout Natrone Means. He broke a bone in his arm just before the Carquest Bowl in 1995 and missed all of spring practice last year, which put him in catch-up mode all of preseason practice. This past spring he ran confidently and well and has earned the starting job heading into camp.

Sophomore Deon Dyer, red-shirt freshman Ronnie Robinson and converted linebacker Jamie Carrick will get the first looks at fullback. Dyer was impressive as a true freshman last year, gaining 58 yards on four carries and playing very well on special teams.

"Obviously, any time you lose a player of Leon Johnson's caliber as well as the experience Watson and McGregor gave us, you have to have players step up and fill the void," says Brown. "Jon Linton had a good spring practice and gives us every indication he will be able to handle the responsibility we ask of our tailbacks. Mike Geter will compete for the backup job with the incoming freshmen, all of whom will get a chance to play this year if they can help us and if it is a good situation for them."

The Tar Heels signed what most recruiting observers called a Top 10 national class this year, led by a quartet of tailback possibilities. Ravon Anderson of Hoboken, N.J., rushed for 1,399 yards and 19 touchdowns and was SuperPrep's No. 4-rated running back; Rufus Brown of Belzoni, Miss., rushed for 1,332 yards and 14 touchdowns and was SuperPrep's No. 3-rated running back; Tyrell Godwin of Council, N.C., was the North Carolina High School Male Athlete of the Year after rushing for 2,016 yards and 30 touchdowns; and Domonique Williams of Upper Marlboro, Md., played quarterback for an option-style offense and rushed for 1,397 yards.

Carolina will look to replace its top two tight ends from a year ago. Jones made 32 receptions, a school record for tight ends, and was picked in the second round by the San Diego Chargers. Ekuban added five, including one for a touchdown, but shifted to defensive end this year.

Sophomore Alge Crumpler enters preseason practice as the starter, with depth provided by Dauntae' Finger and Allen Mogridge. Crumpler is the brother of Seattle Seahawks tight end Carlester Crumpler Jr. and son of former Buffalo Bills tight end Carlester Crumpler. He was a special teams standout as a true freshman and shared the team award for Outstanding Special Teams Player with Dyer.

"Tight end is an important position in our scheme," says Brown. "We have been fortunate that the last three years we have had the first-team All-ACC tight end in Greg DeLong and Freddie Jones, both of whom are in the NFL. Our tight ends have to be physical run blockers and exceptional receivers, because we ask them to do both at a high level. Alge Crumpler has a chance with a year's experience to be one of the premiere players in the country."

Similar to the defensive secondary, wide receiver was a position in question at this time last year, but proved to be one of the most productive areas on the field come fall. Juniors Na Brown and L.C. Stevens and senior Octavus Barnes form one of the best receiver trios in the nation. The Sporting News ranks UNC's receivers No. 3 in the country.

Brown had 52 receptions in the regular season, Stevens had 44 catches for seven touchdowns and a 17.5 yards-per-catch average and Barnes had 23 receptions and six scores.

Barnes has 108 catches for 1,957 yards and 14 touchdowns in his career and overcame a serious knee injury in the 1995 Carquest Bowl. He is second in school history in receiving yardage, tied for second in receiving touchdowns and third in catches. He needs 47 receptions in his senior season to equal Corey Holliday's school record and four to match College Football Hall of Famer Art Weiner's mark for TD catches. Barnes holds the UNC record for most yards per reception at 18.1.

Stevens is one of the top big-play threats in the country. He shared the lead for touchdown catches in the ACC last year and was second in the conference in yards per catch. Stevens has caught three of the eight longest scoring passes in UNC history, including 80 yards at Duke and 76 yards vs. Maryland last year.

Brown, who arguably has the best set of hands in the conference, was well on his way to breaking Johnson's single-season UNC receptions record (54) before he sprained an ankle in week eight. He was less than 100 percent healthy the last three weeks of the regular season.

Sophomore Jason Peace came to UNC originally to play quarterback, but moved to wide receiver prior to the 1996 season and is now in position to receive extensive playing time. Peace had a couple of receptions last year, but is ready for a more expanded role. Junior Chuckie Parquet and sophomore Greg Harris will play in three- and four-receiver sets.

"We still are looking for more depth at receiver, but our top-line players are among the finest in the country. Any coach at any program would love to line up L.C. Stevens, Na Brown and Octavus Barnes and like his chances to win each Saturday.

"Stevens is truly becoming a big-play maker. He is tall, runs like a deer and catches most everything headed his way. He has the size to be a physical inside receiver, yet he possesses the speed to go for the home run ball.

"Barnes has made important plays for us every year. His knee injury really set him back last year because he didn't have that burst of speed he was used to, and that frustrated him. He started to get that back in the spring and I think he will be back to the point he was in 1994 and 1995 when he routinely made big plays.

"Na Brown is the type receiver every successful team needs to have, no matter what level the game is played," Brown continues. "He made third down his down last year with his ability to make catch after catch in that situation. Even when defenders think the ball is coming his way, Na has the ability to get into tight spaces and make the catch, and he has the smarts to be sure he has first-down yardage. He's a student of the game who gets better every day."

Kickers Josh McGee, Brian Schmitz, Derrick DePriest and David Secrest all return. McGee was 9 for 17 in the regular season in field goals and added two short field goals in the Gator Bowl. DePriest handled the longer punts to an average of 38.6 yards per kick. Schmitz kicked off 50 times and had seven touchbacks and Secrest dropped four punts inside the opposition's 20-yard line.

"The kicking game and its effect on winning football games cannot be overestimated," says Brown. "You have to control field position and not make mistakes in the kicking game if you wish to be a consistent winner. Our kicking game has shown signs of being more consistent, but it must be even more proficient if we are really going to take our program to a higher level."

Leon Johnson returned 14 of 19 kickoff returns and 13 of 31 punt returns and was first-team All-ACC specialist last year, so an emphasis in preseason drills will be to find another returner.

"We have talked to this team about the fact that this group has not won any games yet. We can enjoy the memories of last year, we can build on the success of last year, but last year's team had very few injuries, great chemistry and tremendous leadership. This team has to start developing all of those things on a day-to-day basis that last year's team really developed in the spring. Every team has its own personality. You don't win with your mouth, you win by producing on the field."

Kenan Stadium

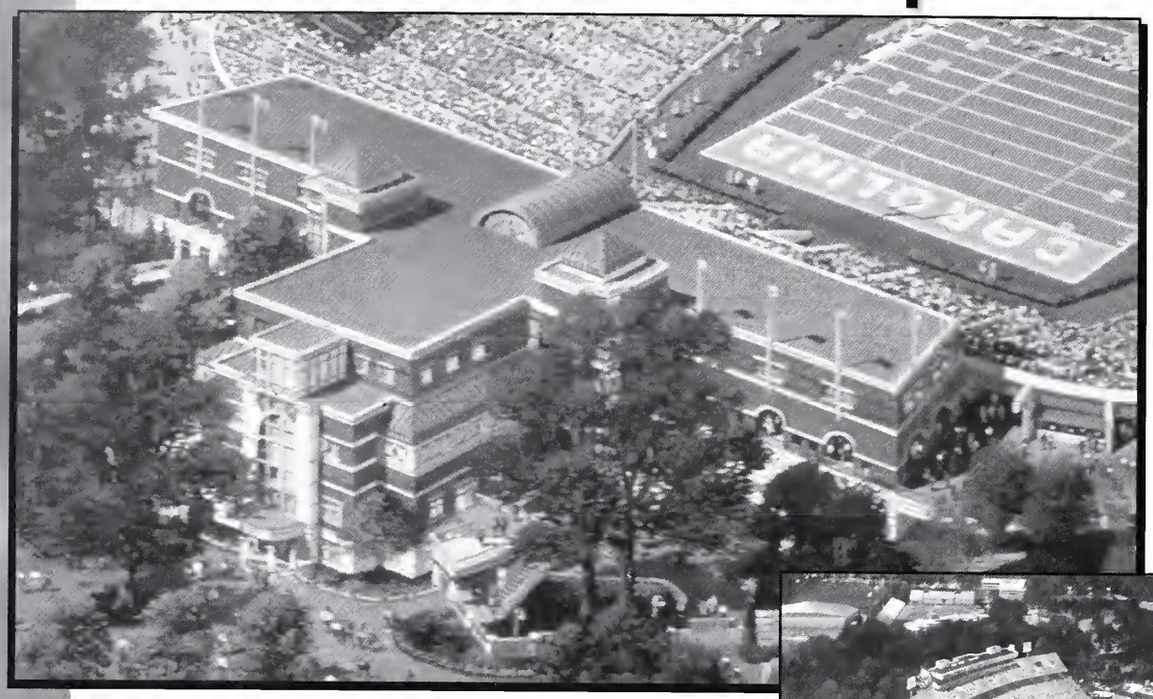
"The atmosphere in Kenan Stadium is incredibly exciting. Just knowing that both the fans and the team are pulling together for a common goal gives us an incredible feeling of strength."

Marcus Jones, 1994 First-Team All-America

"I've always wondered what it would be like to play in Kenan Stadium on a sunny afternoon in front of a big crowd. That's one of the things I miss about college football Saturdays. They're something special in Chapel Hill. I can't imagine what it must be like for the guys who get to play in that beautiful stadium every week."

Michael Jordan, four-time NBA MVP and UNC graduate

Kenan Stadium Expansion



The Frank H. Kenan Football Center will house the football offices, lockerroom, meeting rooms, academic study areas, players' lounge, weight room, equipment room, training room and memorablia room.

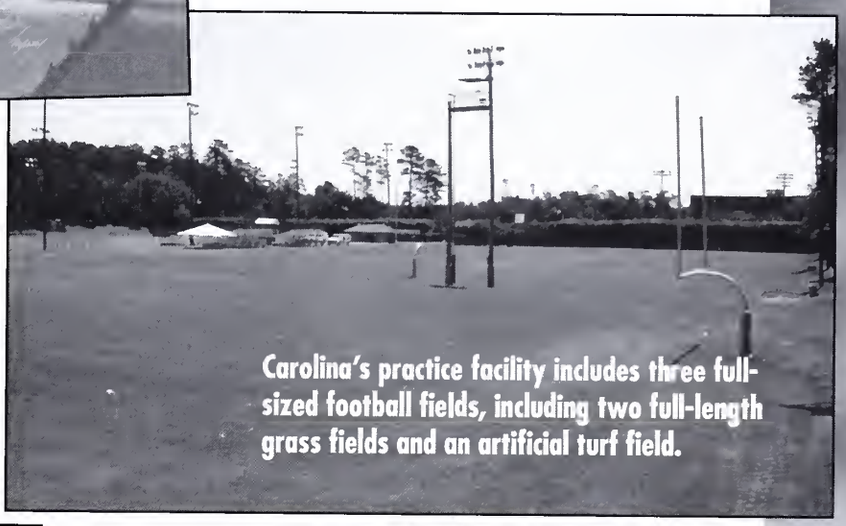
Since that time Kenan has undergane nan-stap canstruction.

Kenan Stadium's $40 million expansion and renovation project is adding 8,000 seats, a preferred seating box and a new football center.

Carolina's Football Facilities

A brand new indoor practice facility, currently in design, will include an indoor football field and a 200-meter, six-lane track.



Carolina's practice facility includes three full-sized football fields, including two full-length grass fields and an artificial turf field.

Head coach Mack Brown and the Carolina players presented Mrs. Betty Kenan with a game ball from the 1996 season in appreciation of the Kenan family's outstanding contributions to the University and the stadium expansion project.

The Tar Heel strength and conditioning room in the new Frank H. Kenan Football Center will be one of the finest of its kind in the country. Coordinator Jeff Madden has installed top-of-the-line equipment which players such as tight end Alge Crumpler will use to fulfill the Tar Heel maxim:
Practice Winning Every Day!

Superb Secondary
Over the last few years Carolina has produced some of the best defensive backs in the country. Last season, cornerback Dre' Bly earned first-team All-America honors after leading the nation with 11 interceptions. Thomas Smith (below) came to UNC as a walk-on and left as a first-round draft pick of the Buffalo Bills.

"It's really an outstonding group of ployers for o senior closs. These guys hove reolly done well here. They've got good size guys. They are athletic ond they will graduote. It's an outstanding quolity group of kids both os ployers and chorocters."

Academic Excellence

Carolina and Florida State are the only two schools to finish in the Top 10 in 1996 and also receive the College Football Association's Award for outstanding graduation rates.

"Faatball daes nat last forever. I know that one day my NFL career will be aver and I will depend on the education I received and degree I earned ta make a living. Carolina has a great reputation. It really is respected throughout the business warld. A lot af people recagnize the school and it is a big plus to have a degree from here."

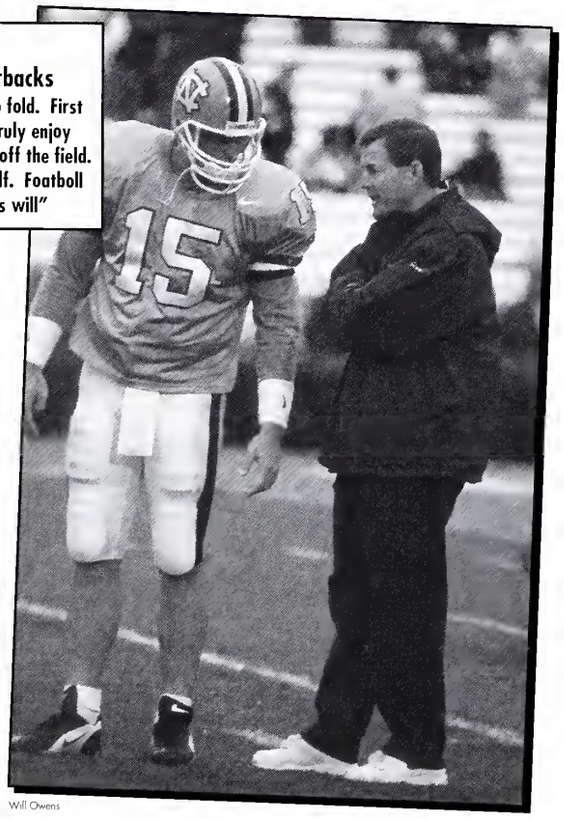
Greg Davis - Offensive Coordinator, Quarterbacks

"The reasan I cooch callege football is two fold. First and foremost is the kids themselves. I truly enjoy watching o young man moture bath on ond off the field. The secand reoson I caach is the game itself. Foatboll foscinates me, olways has ond always will"



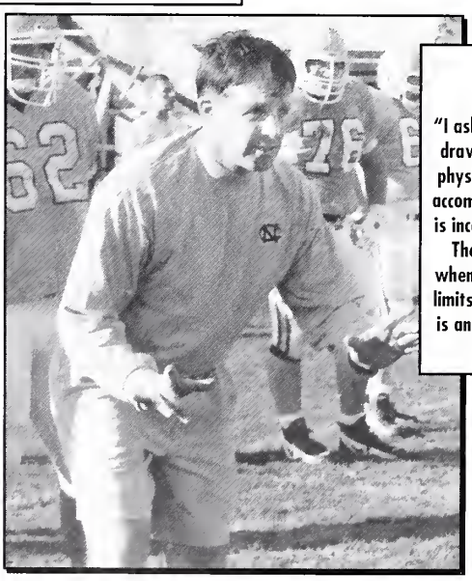
Will Owens

Ken Mack - Running Backs

"My cooching philasophy combines three very importont ingredients to ensure the most positive college experience. First, I want to moke sure my players succeed in the classroom ond graduate. Second, I want to caach them to develap into the best faotboll players they con be. Third, I wish ta help eoch young man become sacially prepored ta face life's chollenges."

Tim Brewster - Tight Ends

"Eoch young man thot enters Carolino to ploy football hos dreams of success. I take a great deol of pride in helping moke those dreams come true. I ask o great deal of these young men on ond off the field. I alsa ask o greot deal af myself. Together we can occomplish the goals we set as a group. My philosophy is, in a word, preporatian. We toke pride in being prepored far Saturdoy's challenges. I stress to my players to react to the situations the game presents and my chollenge is to have them prepared to reoct accardingly."



Eddie Williamson - Offensive Line

"I ask the ployers whom I coach to draw an as much of their mental, physical and emotionol obilities to accomplish on individual tosk which is incorporoted into a graup effort. The fun and excitement comes when a young man reoches for the limits of his talents and reolizes he is an importont port of helping his team succeed."

Cleve Bryant - Receivers

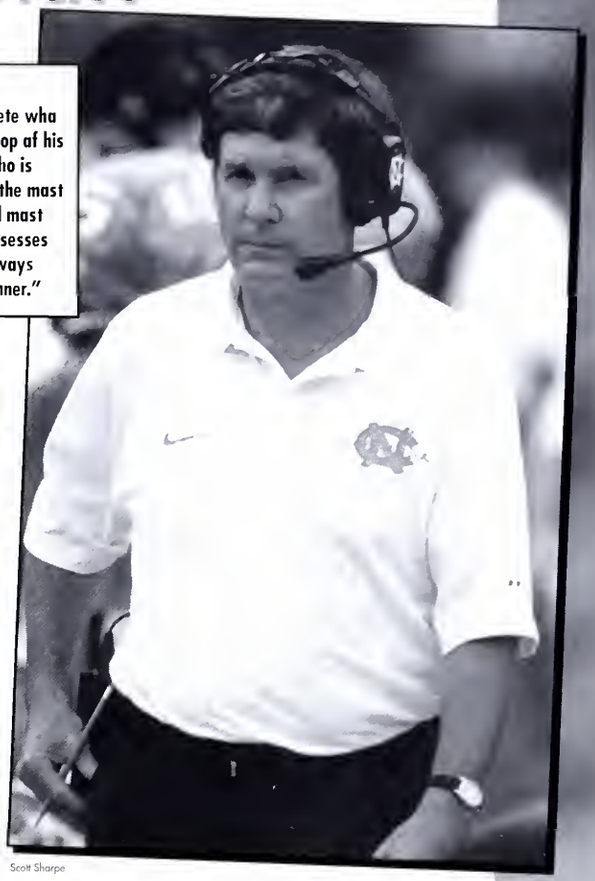
"I coach becouse it is the only job I would do withaut pay. Over 20 years of coaching, through wins and lasses and different jobs in different towns, I hove never hated a single doy going to work as a footboll cooch. It gives yau a chance to become involved with young men ond moybe make a difference in their lives and help them become productive citizens. If I know I have made a difference to even one player then my time cooching has been rewarding."

Jim Bounds

Coaching Staff

Mack Brown - Head Coach

"The first thing we look for is a student-athlete who has placed receiving his college degree at the top of his priority list. Second, we want a player who is athletically gifted, one who can compete with the most talented players in the country. Finally, and most importantly, we want a young man who possesses strong character and integrity who will always represent the University in a first-class manner."



Scott Sharpe

Ron Case - Defensive Backs

"My coaching philosophy is to put the best players on the field. I coach them to play as hard as they can within a scheme that uses their abilities and gives us a chance to win."

Carl Torbush - Defensive Coordinator, Linebackers

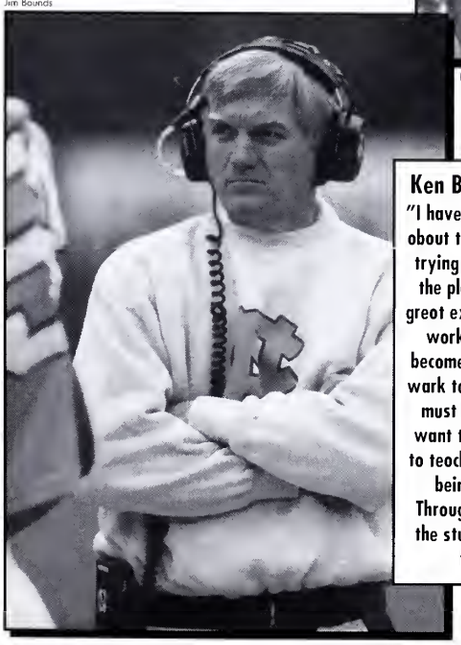
"My philosophy as a coach as well as a person is to enable every young man I touch to develop to the fullest academically, athletically, socially and spiritually. Through discipline, guidance, hard work and a special coach/player love, I expect a young man to leave Carolina feeling he has become the best student, athlete and person possible. Coaching here enables me to coach at a school in which I truly believe and respect what it represents. When you talk about balance between academics, athletics and social atmosphere, there are few schools that can compete with Carolina."

Bill Richards

Donnie Thompson - Defensive Ends

"My coaching philosophy is based on five principles of success. One is fundamentals - teaching the necessary techniques and knowledge in order to develop as a great player. Two is focus - pay attention to details. Three is fairness - having a mature respect between player and coach at all times. Four is fun - teaching my players how to enjoy success on and off the playing field. Five is friends - I want my players to leave Chapel Hill as personal friends for life."

Jim Bounds



Ken Browning - Defensive Tackles

"I have a positive and enthusiastic attitude about the players I coach and what we are trying to accomplish. I respect and enjoy the players, and at the same time, have great expectations from them in having the work ethic and discipline necessary to become great players. I think we have to work together to accomplish team goals. I must be able to teach and they have to want to learn. Two things are necessary to teach: knowing your subject matter and being able to motivate the student. Throughout this process, the teacher and the student must enjoy it and have some fun in order to do our best."

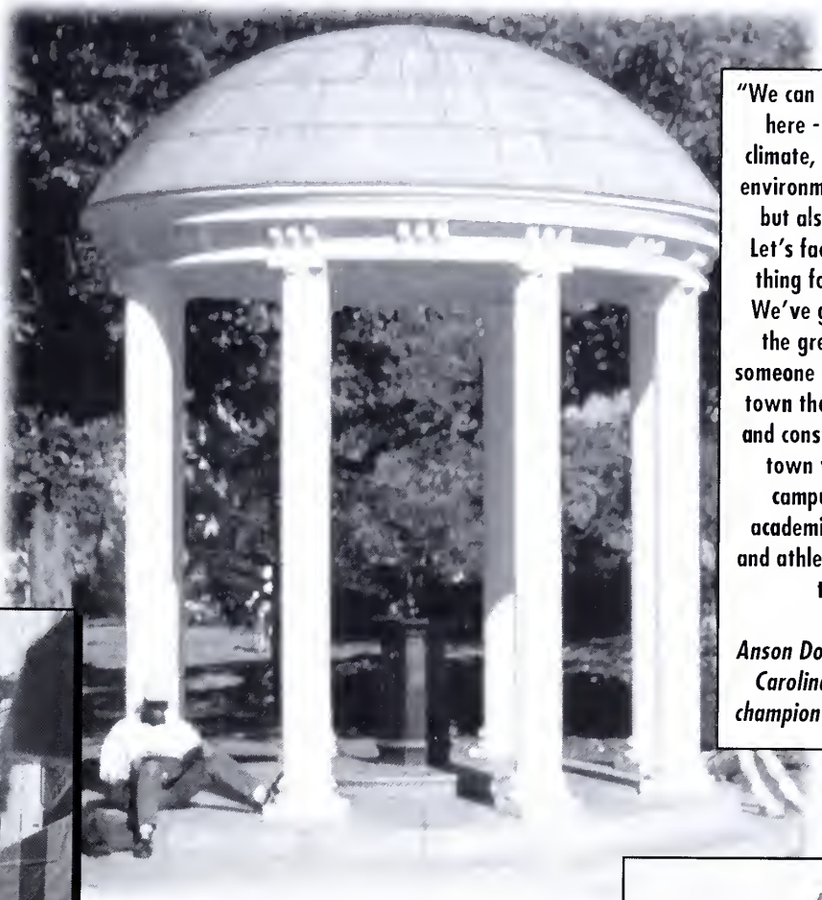
Chapel Hill

"The thing I have always admired about the University of North Carolina is it's been a place that emphasized both academics and athletics and other extracurricular activites. And it's demonstrated to the country that it is not necessary to make a choice, and that there's something to be said for learning how to compete, to work on a team, to put aside your own personal ambition for what is best for a group, and that an institution like the Unviersity of North Carolina can really set a standard for the entire country."

President Bill Clinton

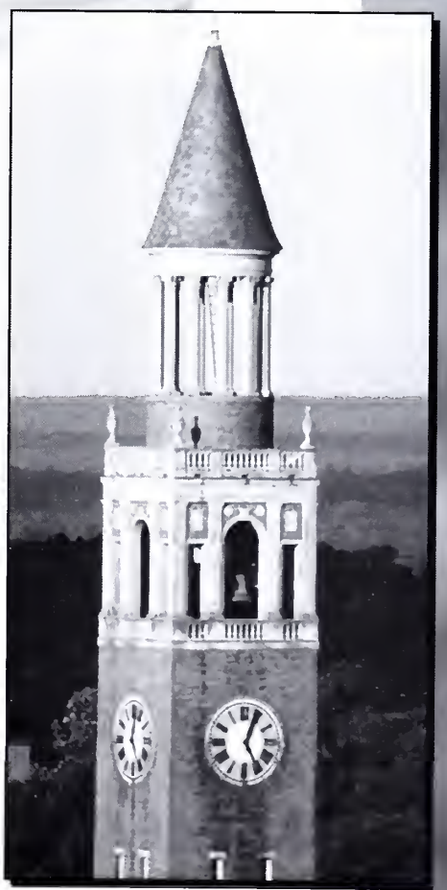


"We can sell the whole package here - a great year-round climate, an excellent academic environment, athletic tradition, but also a great social life. Let's face it, UNC has everything for an undergraduate. We've got the archetype for the great college town. If someone had to create a college town they'd call it Chapel Hill and construct it right after the town we have here. The campus is beautiful, the academic reputation is great and athletics top to bottom are tremendous."

Anson Dorrance, Head Coach of Carolina's 14-time national champion women's soccer team.

Dan Sears

The Chapel Hill-Durham-Raleigh Research Triangle was ranked the "No. 1 mid-sized place to live in America" in Money magazine's April 1997 survey. Money listed the Research Triangle the No. 1 overall place to live in the USA in 1994.



Ward Collum

Average daily temperatures in Chapel Hill range from a high of a sunny 89 degrees in July to a comfortable 50 in January. Gameday conditions average 82 degrees in September to a beautiful fall climate of 62 degrees in November.

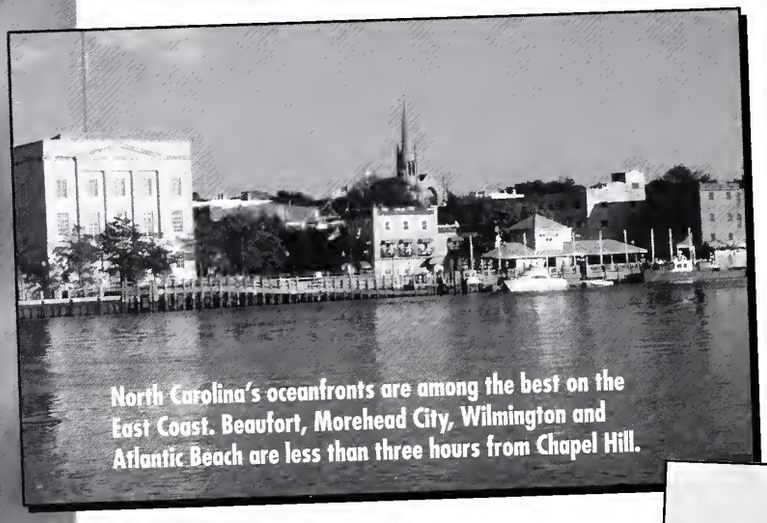
Dan Sears

North Carolina: Tar Heel State

The Best of Both Worlds:
The University of North Carolina is just a short drive from the beautiful Crystal Coast or the Great Smoky Mountains.

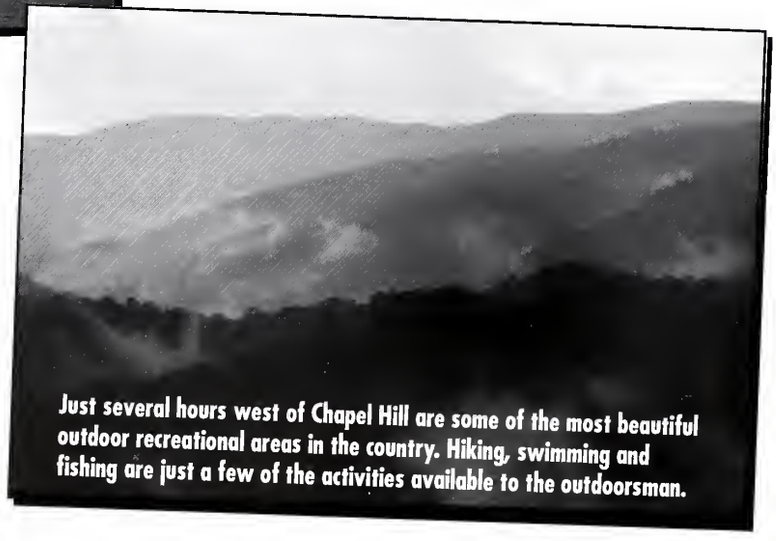
Fortune magazine rated the Research Triangle region the No. 1 place in the country to do business, based on the area's innovation and technology.

North Carolina is one the premier golfing states. A.E. Finley Golf Course on the UNC campus is one of the finest collegiate courses in the country. Pinehurst, one of the game's legendary sites and home to the 1999 U.S. Open, is an hour south of Chapel Hill.



North Carolina's oceanfronts are among the best on the East Coast. Beaufort, Morehead City, Wilmington and Atlantic Beach are less than three hours from Chapel Hill.

Chapel Hill has several street festivals each year, including Apple Chill in the spring and Festifall in autumn. Both events are marked by music, food, dance and fun for both families and students.



Just several hours west of Chapel Hill are some of the most beautiful outdoor recreational areas in the country. Hiking, swimming and fishing are just a few of the activities available to the outdoorsman.

In his second year as a Tar Heel • Last year he played strong safety on the scout team • This year he is working at outside linebacker • Played four years of football and two years of basketball at Ravenscroft High School in Raleigh • Helped lead Ravenscroft to the 1994 state title and 1995 state championship game • Played for Coach Ned Gonet • Majoring in business administration • Born Robert Noble Bailey on Jan. 15, 1977.

Varian Ballard

Defensive Tackle
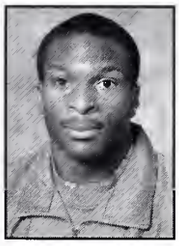
Gates, N.C. (Andrews)

Promising young player • Competing for playing time at defensive tackle • Should see some time on special teams and in a reserve role at tackle • Likely to be asked to play a bigger role in the future • Has good size and is getting bigger • Is very quick for an inside defender.

High School — Selected to Tom Lemmings' All-America team as a senior • 1995 all-state choice by the N.C. Prep Football News • Named to the All-Western North Carolina squad as both a junior and senior • All-conference selection as a senior • Was honorable mention all-conference as a junior • Scored two defensive touchdowns in one game in 1995 • Had 81 tackles and seven sacks in the regular season and led Andrews to a 7-4 record and a berth in the playoffs • Played his freshman and sophomore years at Gates County High School • Coached by Don Kiefer • Was a state power-lifting champion • A four-year starter in basketball • Has competed in the long jump, high jump and 400 relay in track and field • His uncle, Quentin Ballard, played pro football for the Indianapolis Colts and was an All-America at Elon College • Enrolled in the general college.



Octavus Barnes

Wide Receiver
Wilson, N.C. (Hunt)

One of the finest receivers ever to play at Carolina • With one year to play he has a chance to set several alltime UNC receiving marks • Member of the 15-player Leadership Committee • Is third alltime at Carolina with 108 receptions • Only Corey Holliday (155) and Leon Johnson (151) have more receptions than Barnes • Is second in UNC history in receiving yardage with 1,957 yards • Holliday is first with 2,447 • Barnes is tied for second place on the school's career receiving touchdowns list with 14 • College Football Hall of Famer Art Weiner had 18 and Mark Smith also had 14 • Barnes holds the UNC record for highest average gain per reception for players with at least 100 catches • He has averaged 18.1 yards per catch for the first three years of his career • Has 15 career receptions of 30 yards or more and four touchdowns of at least 60 yards • No other Tar Heel player has that many long-distance TD catches • Holds the school record with seven 100-yard games • One of the premier postseason performers in school history • Set Carolina and Sun Bowl records in 1994 against Texas • Had nine receptions for 165 yards, including a 50-yard TD catch from Mike Thomas in the fourth quarter • The nine receptions equaled the UNC postseason record set a year earlier by Holliday in the Gator Bowl against Alabama • No UNC player has ever had more postseason yards receiving than Barnes had against Texas • Had three receptions for 21 yards against Arkansas in the Carquest Bowl before he suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee • Last year he grabbed an 18-yard touchdown in the Gator Bowl against West Virginia • Had a fine spring practice • Appeared to be running at nearly the same level he was prior the knee injury he suffered in the 1995 Carquest Bowl • When healthy, he has the speed and instincts to make game-breaking plays • Receivers coach Cleve Bryant says he has the potential to put six points on the board any time he touches the ball.

1996 — Was the fifth-leading receiver on the team with 23 catches for 378 yards • Played in all 11 regular-season games a total of 337 snaps • Averaged 18 snaps per game the first seven weeks and 52.8 snaps the last four weeks • Switched positions from split end, where he was a second-team All-ACC selection in 1995, to flanker • Was limited early in the year due to the knee injury he suffered in the Carquest Bowl last December • Did not compete in spring practice and was not 100 percent healthy until at least mid-season • Played a very limited role in September, worked more into the lineup in October and started the last three games of the season after Na Brown went down in the N.C. State game with a sprained ankle • Averaged 16.4 yards per catch, the second-highest figure on the team • Had at least one reception in eight games with a season-high seven at Virginia • Caught his first pass at Syracuse • Had two receptions for 25 yards at Florida State • Made three receptions in four different games – against Wake Forest, Houston, N.C. State and Louisville • Was second on the team with six touchdown catches • Had a 32-yard touchdown at Wake Forest, his first TD since the final regular-season game in 1995 • Scored twice against N.C. State, the second of which was a 63-yard catch-and-run down the right sideline • Also had touchdowns at Houston, against Louisville and at Virginia • Had 66 yards receiving in Charlottesville • Caught four passes to convert third-down chances on the Tar Heels' third-quarter

Defensive Tackle
6-0, 279, Junior
Thomasville, N.C. (Thomasville)

Performed as well in the spring as any player on the team • Shares the starter's job at one defensive tackle position along with Russell Davis • Plays with great leverage and is very hard to move off his line • Can slip blockers and get under their pads and move them off their ground • Very consistent player • Will have to step up and play more often this year • Not flashy, but quietly effective.

1996 — Made 12 tackles, including two quarterback sacks, and had 11 pressures • Had sacks against Maryland and Louisville • Played 190 snaps with a game-high 25 against Georgia Tech • Played 15 or downs in eight of the 12 games.

1995 — Recorded seven tackles, including four solo hits, and two quarterback pressures • Played a total of 80 snaps, including a high of 34 versus Ohio • Recorded an assisted tackle and a quarterback pressure in the bowl-game win over Arkansas.

1994—Was red-shirted.

High School—Shrine Bowl participant • Selected all-conference in 1992 and 1993 • Honorable mention Associated Press all-state selection • Averaged 11 tackles per game and led the team in hits as a senior • Also recorded 15.5 quarterback sacks and an additional 10 tackles for losses • Was a member of the 1991 state champions • In his three years of play, Thomasville posted a 35-7 record • Coached by Allen Brown.

Personal — Majoring in communication studies • Born Marcus Staton Dow on Jan. 16, 1976 • Greatest athletic achievement is winning the high school 2-A title as a sophomore • Since coming to Carolina he has learned not to be so hard on himself • Would like to improve as a pass rusher • Three people in history he would take to dinner if given the chance would be his grandfather, Robert, his uncle, Jimmy, and actress Halle Berry • Three things people should know about him are: 1. he's a really nice guy; 2. no, he is not hurt, this is the way he walks; and 3. just because he walks slowly does not mean he is slow on the field.

Deon Dyer

Fullback
6-0, 250, Sophomore
Chesapeake, Va. (Deep Creek)

A true sophomore who is competing to be the starter at fullback • Has the toughness, size and strength to be a very fine player • Is being asked to grow up in a hurry and be ready to compete at a very high level as just a second-year player • Simply lacks game experience • Is a good runner and has shown the ability to catch the ball.

1996—Co-recipient of the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding Special Teams Player • Appeared in every game a total of 131 plays and had 13 tackles • Had five multi-tackle games, caused a fumble against Georgia Tech and had a season-high three tackles against Houston • Also had 58 yards rushing on four carries, including a 48-yard gain at Wake Forest • Caught two passes, one for 12 yards at Wake Forest and one for 27 yards against Maryland • Gained distinction for his all-out special teams coverage.

High School — All-district, all-region and all-state choice as a junior and senior • Named the Most Outstanding Football Player in the Tidewater, Va., region • A four-year starter at fullback for Deep Creek High School • Deep Creek posted undefeated regular-season marks of 10-0 in his last two seasons • Combined record for his last two seasons was 24-2 • Ran for 1,790 yards and 27 touchdowns as a senior • Rushed for 301 yards in a playoff loss in 1995 • Coached by Jerry Carter • Enrolled in the General College. Personal — Favorite sports teams as a kid were the Dallas Cowboys and the Chicago Bears • Favorite athlete to watch is Natrone Means • Pretended to be Walter Payton as a kid • Would like to improve his speed • His mom has been his biggest influence • Says the best thing about being a UNC athlete is upholding the tradition.

Ebenezer Ekuban

Defensive End
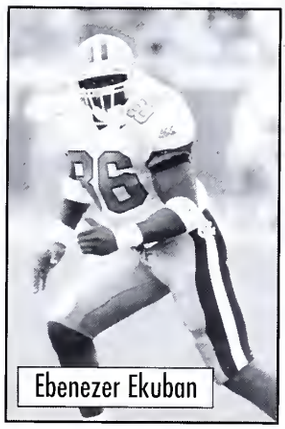
Riverdale, Md. (Bladensburg)

Made what appears to be a very successful transition in the spring from tight end to defensive end • Is No. 2 on the depth chart behind Mike Pringley • Is a big, powerful young player who is still learning how to play football • Has played football for just four years • Top backup at tight end last year • Had six career receptions, two for scores.

1996 — Played in 10 of the 11 games on a total of 252 snaps, an average of 25 plays per game • Did not play against Maryland due to a pinched nerve in his neck • Caught five passes for 62 yards, an average of 12.4 yards • Had a season-long reception of 22 yards at Houston • Scored his second career touchdown on a four-yard reception from Oscar Davenport in the win at Houston • Had two catches at Houston, a 20-yard catch against Clemson, a 9-yard grab at Syracuse and a 7-yard catch at Wake Forest.



Ebenezer Ekuban

1995 — Caught one pass for four yards and a touchdown as a backup to first-team All-ACC tight end Freddie Jones • Made his first collegiate reception a memorable one as he snared a four-yarder from quarterback Mike Thomas in the end zone against Duke • Catch came five seconds into the fourth quarter, cutting the Blue Devil lead to 24-21 • Played in the last eight games of the regular season and the Carquest Bowl.

High School — Native of Ghana who played just two years of football before coming to UNC • Caught 28 passes as a senior for 546 yards and five TDs • Named to the SuperPrep All-America Team on defense • Made 76 tackles at defensive end, including 11 sacks • Coached by Pat Murphy at Bladensburg High School • Personal—Born Ebenezer Ekuban Jr. on May 29, 1976 • Majoring in exercise and sports science.

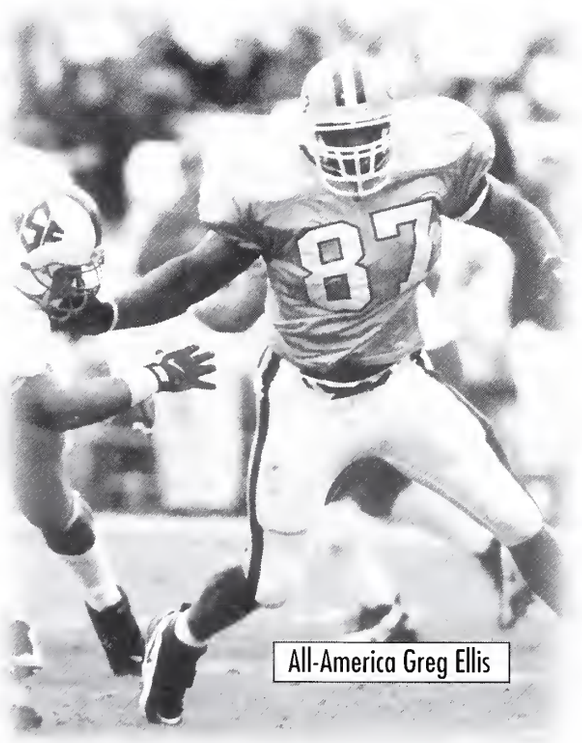
quarterback sack in seven consecutive games • Sack streak began against Georgia Tech and concluded against Louisville • Was third in the ACC in sacks and tackles for losses behind only Peter Boulware and Reinard Wilson of Florida State • Made 62 tackles, including 36 primary stops, caused two fumbles, batted down one pass and pressured the quarterback a remarkable 38 times • That is the most pressures by a Tar Heel player since the stat was first recorded in 1983 • William Fuller had 27 pressures in 1983, the previous UNC high • Made 31 tackles over the last four regular-season games, including nine against N.C. State and Virginia, eight against Louisville and five at Duke • Had a season-high seven pressures against N.C. State • Had six tackles, caused a fumble and pressured Donovan McNabb five times in Carolina's win at Syracuse • Had three tackles for losses, including two sacks for 19 yards, against Georgia Tech • Sacked Florida State quarterback Thad Busby for an 11-yard loss and caused a fumble which UNC recovered at midfield • Had two tackles for losses, a 3-yard sack, five pressures and blocked a field goal attempt at Wake Forest • Sacked Maryland quarterback Brian Cummings twice for nine yards in the win over the Terrapins • Had an 11-yard sack, four pressures and six total tackles as Carolina held Houston to 200 yards below its season average in a Tar Heel win in the Astrodome.



All-America Greg Ellis

Jim Bounds

Really turned up the heat in the final month of the season, just like Marcus Jones did in 1995 • Dominated the line of scrimmage in UNC's 52-20 win over N.C. State as he had nine tackles and seven pressures • Sacked Wolfpack quarterback Jamie Barnette 2.5 times for 33 yards • Had eight tackles, including three quarterback sacks for 13 yards against Louisville • Did not sack Virginia's quarterbacks, but did have a solid game in Charlottesville • Had nine tackles, three pressures and a tackle for a loss against the Cavaliers • Had an outstanding game against West Virginia in the Gator Bowl as he made six tackles, including one for a 4-yard sack and another for a loss, and forced two bad passes.

1995 — First-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference defensive lineman • Was the first sophomore defensive lineman at Carolina to earn first-team All-ACC honors since Reuben Davis in 1985 • Also was named to the All-ACC first team by Football News • Garnered honorable mention All-America honors from UPI • Twice was named the ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week • Earned those honors for his play at Louisville and against Virginia • Was brilliant in the Carquest Bowl victory over Arkansas, recording seven tackles, two tackles for loss, one sack and one pressure against the Razorbacks • Was named the Tar Heels' defensive player of the week three times • Tied for fourth in the ACC in quarterback sacks with seven for 62 yards • Was the fifth-leading tackler on the team and second among defensive linemen • Had 38 primary hits and assisted on 33 other tackles for 71 total stops • Also had 11 pressures, nine tackles for losses, seven sacks, deflected seven passes and caused two fumbles • Was hindered late in the year by a sore elbow but still led all Tar Heel defensive linemen by seeing action on 569 regular-season plays, an average of 51.7 per game • Credited with six unassisted and two assisted tackles in the season-opener against Syracuse • Was outstanding versus Louisville, earning ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week honors • Had eight tackles, including two quarterback sacks for 25 yards and two other tackles for losses, caused one fumble and batted down four passes at the line of scrimmage in the win over the Cardinals • UNC's defensive player of the week the following week against Ohio • Made a team-high 13 tackles, including two quarterback sacks for 16 yards, and batted down a pass in the rout of the Bobcats • Was named the ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week for the second time in three games in the win over ninth-ranked Virginia • Led the Tar Heels with 11 tackles and caused one fumble in that game • Registered three sacks in the third quarter alone and had two key stops late in the fourth quarter to prevent a Cavalier comeback • Recorded seven tackles at Georgia Tech • Had four quarterback pressures against Wake Forest • Made eight tackles at Clemson • Recovered a fumble and batted down two passes versus Florida State • Fumble recovery led to Carolina's first touchdown against the Seminoles • Hurried quarterback Terry Harvey into making four bad throws in the 30-28 victory at N.C. State • Started and saw action on 30 plays in the Carquest Bowl win over Arkansas • Recorded seven tackles, two tackles for loss, a sack and a quarterback pressure versus the Razorbacks • Tallied his sack on a second-and-10 play from the Carolina 34-yard line in the second quarter • Had a tackle for loss on Arkansas' first possession of the second half.

1994 — Was second on the team in quarterback sacks with four, trailing only Marcus Jones • Saw action in 10 of 11 games and played on 318 snaps as a red-shirt freshman • Was injured and did not play at Wake Forest • Saw his most extensive action against Texas in the Sun Bowl, appearing in 54 plays • Had three tackles in the bowl game, including one primary stop for a loss of two yards • Was the top backup at defensive end • Made 13 primary hits and assisted on 11 other tackles • Had five tackles for losses for 29 yards, including four quarterback sacks for 27 yards • Made a season-high five tackles at Duke • Also had four hits against Tulane and Virginia • Had sacks against Tulane, Maryland, Virginia and N.C. State.

High School—Key member of an 8-3 East Wake team which reached the state playoffs as a senior • Greensboro News & Record all-state selection on defense • Intercepted five passes, returning all for touchdowns • Also blocked four punts, recovering two for scores • Coached by Johnny Sasser • Played in the Shrine Bowl • In addition, starred in basketball.

Personal — Majoring in communications studies • Born Gregory Lemont Ellis Aug. 14, 1975.

Kareem Ellis

Offensive Tackle
6-5, 315, Sophomore
Jacksonville, N.C. (Southwest Onslow)

65

Made big strides in the spring • Has worked himself into position where he should have a chance to play this year • Has become a much tougher player • Has shown nice progress in pass protection • Simply will get better with age.

1996—Played in five games at offensive tackle • Saw action against Clemson, Wake Forest, Maryland, Houston and N.C. State a total of 52 snaps • 1995—Was red-shirted.

High School—Played at S.W. Onslow for four years, starting the final three • Started in both the offensive and defensive lines as a senior • SuperPrep All-America on offense • As senior, had 70 tackles and six sacks, caused four fumbles and recovered two • Twice an all-conference pick • Attended the same school which produced 1995 consensus first-team All-America Marcus Jones • Coached by Phil Padgett at Southwest Onslow High • Also competed in track • Won the state 1-A shot put championship as both a junior and senior • Set a state record in that event each year, including a toss of 51-10 as a senior • Finished second in the discus as a senior.

Personal — Born Kareem Ray Ellis on April 14, 1977 • Favorite teams to watch are the Chicago Bulls and the Denver Broncos • Greatest athletic achievement is winning the high school state title in the shot put for two straight years • Pregame rituals include reading from the Bible, listening to Otis Redding and visualizing his assignments • Best thing about expanding the stadium is that it shows the program is moving up the next level • Favorite thing about being a UNC football player is that it feels like a family in the way in which the players and staff look out for one another • Away from football he likes to go fishing, play video games and listen to music • Loves to tinker with electronics • Majoring in industrial relations.

Joe Ellison

Offensive Guard
6-3, 301, Sophomore
Winston-Salem, N.C. (Mount Tabor)

56

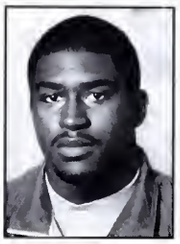
A lot of what happens along the offensive line may be determined by how healthy he is • Injured a knee ligament in the Gator Bowl and was unable to participate in spring drills • Is a very competitive and tough player • Has good size and is very strong • Really softened the blow of losing senior Brian Honeycutt, who was injured, with his improved play a year ago.

1996—Shared playing time at right offensive guard with Mike Hobgood • Started to see extensive playing time after Honeycutt went down with a season-ending knee injury in the fourth week of the season • Played in every game except Syracuse and Georgia Tech • Averaged 38 snaps per game over the last seven games of the regular-season • Suffered an anterior cruciate ligament tear in his knee in the first half of the Gator Bowl.

1995 — Was red-shirted.

High School—Four-year starter in the offensive line and a three-time all-conference pick • Played on a 12-3 team as a senior which reached the state 4-A semifinals • Elected his team's MVP • Shrine Bowl selection • Coached by Bob Sapp at Mount Tabor High School • Lettered three times in track where he won all-conference honors • Competed in the shot and discus • Also lettered once in wrestling.

Personal — Born Joseph Michael Ellison on Jan. 3, 1977 • Favorite teams to watch are the Dallas Cowboys and New York Yankees • Would like to switch places for a day with Donald Trump • People who have helped him the most since coming to UNC are Associate Director of Academic Support Brian Davis and teammate Jeff Saturday • Best opposing player he has faced is Florida State's Andre Wadsworth • Biggest influence on him is his mom • Majoring in exercise and sports science



Dauntae' Finger

Tight End
*6-5, 252, Freshman
Newton, N.C. (Newton-Conover)

83

Another promising young player • Is the No. 2 tight end as preseason camp opens • Has a lot of the fine athletic qualities of sophomore Alge Crumpler, who is the preseason starter • Is big, runs well and can catch the ball • Needs to get stronger to improve his run-blocking skills • Had a fine spring camp • Is an outstanding prospect.

1996 — Was red-shirted.

High School—Shrine Bowl selection • Started at tight end for the North Carolina squad • Named all-state • All-conference selection in 1994 and 1995 • All-Piedmont pick in 1995 • Three-year starter at Newton-Conover High School • Started at tight end as a junior and senior and at wide receiver as a sophomore • Also started at defensive end • Caught 12 passes for 178 yards and four touchdowns as a senior • Recorded 36 tackles, picked off one pass and recovered one fumble while playing defensive end • Coached by Don Patrick • Was conference player of the year in basketball for the 1994-95 season.

Personal — Born Dauntae' Breyon Finger on April 5, 1977, in Hickory, N.C • Favorite players to watch include Lynn Swann and Penny Hardaway • Three people in history he would take to dinner if given the chance would be Napoleon, King Arthur and Elvis Presley • College football dream moment is to catch the winning touchdown in the national championship game • Loves to play basketball • Post-school ambition is to be a televsion sports commentator • Enrolled in the General College.

Steve Fisher

Cornerback
5-10, 180, Junior
New Bern, N.C. (New Bern)

One of the most talented non-scholarship players on the squad • Has a chance to see extensive playing time on special teams and could even play as a reserve at cornerback • Defensive backs coach Ron Case said he would not hesitate to play him on the corner • Could be an impact special teams performer • Is a fine man-to-man cover guy • Played in all 12 games last year as a reserve in the secondary and on special teams • Made six tackles, including two at Wake Forest • Played in seven regular-season games in 1995, including the last six • Recorded seven tackles, including two solo hits • Had two solo tackles against Ohio and was in on two tackles against both Wake Forest and Duke.

High School — Four-sport star at New Bern High • Played running back and linebacker and was named all-conference as a junior and senior • Set a New Bern High single-game record with 250 yards rushing on 12 carries • Named all-conference in baseball as an outfielder his senior year • All-conference at point guard in basketball as a junior and senior • Also competed for three years on the track team.

Mike Hobgood

Offensive Guard
6-3, 275, Senior
Durham, N.C. (Northern Durham)

Had his best spring as a Tar Heel • Has really come a long way as a pass blocker • Always has shown good mechanics and is a very intelligent player • Played much more relaxed in the spring than he has in the past • Has started games in each of the past three seasons • Started at both guard slots • Has started in 13 regular-season games and three bowl games in his career • Started at left guard in the final seven regular-season games and the Gator Bowl in 1996, the final two regular-season games and the Carquest Bowl in 1995 and the final four regular-season contests and the Sun Bowl in 1994.

1996 — Began the year in a reserve role at both guard slots, but moved into the starting lineup in the fifth week of the season after starter Brian Honeycutt injured his knee at Florida State • Averaged 56 snaps per game over the last seven weeks of the regular season • Shared playing time with Joe Ellison • Played perhaps his best game as a Tar Heel in the 20-13 win over West Virginia • Had a key block on a long run by Leon Johnson, which set up Carolina's second touchdown • Helped the Tar Heels amass 155 yards rushing against the nation's top defense.

1995 — Started the final two games of the season and the Carquest Bowl at left offensive guard • Suffered a badly torn tendon on his right hand early in preseason drills and did not play against Syracuse or Maryland • Returned to the lineup against Louisville and played with an oversized protective splint on his hand • Also appeared in 52 plays in the Carquest Bowl • In the two games he started, the Tar Heels rushed for 217 yards against both the Blue Devils and N.C. State • Played his best game of the year against Wake as UNC rushed for 240 yards.

1994 — Saw extensive action over the second half of the season due to the steady series of injuries on the offensive line • Played on 426 plays, an average of 39 per game • Played in all 11 games and started at right guard in each of the last four regular-season contests • Started against N.C. State, Clemson, Wake Forest and Duke • Also started the Sun Bowl against Texas and played on 85 snaps • Played his best game of the season in the Tar Heels' 31-17 win over arch-rival N.C. State • Helped Carolina run for 280 yards and hold the ball for nearly 38 minutes.

1993—Was red-shirted.

High School — Helped lead Northern Durham to the state 4-A championship game and a 14-1 record • Two-time selection to the Durham Herald-Sun All-Area Team • A two-time All-East and all-conference pick • Conference's co-lineman of the year • Named to the 1992 all-state teams chosen by the Associated Press and the Greensboro News & Record • In his three years Northern was 37-4 and won three conference titles • Coached by Ken Browning.

Personal — Majoring in communication studies • Born Michael Edward Hobgood on Nov. 29, 1974.

Vonnie Holliday

Defensive Tackle
Camden, S.C. (Camden)

Very intelligent, consistent performer who should be a player the professional scouts watch closely this fall • Has developed into a dependable leader on and off the field • Is a fourth-year senior • Member of the 15-player Leadership Committee • Has great size and strength • Tough man to block one on one • Has been overshadowed in his career by other linemen, but this is his time to stand out • Very similar to how Rick Terry was at this point in his career • Not too many people have heard much about him, but even fewer can block him effectively.

1996 — Had a very solid year replacing first-team All-America Marcus Jones at defensive tackle • Was the seventh-leading tackler on the team with 47 hits • Was second on the team with five quarterback sacks for 48 yards and third on the squad in tackles for losses with 11 for 67 yards • Caused two fumbles, one by N.C. State and another by Virginia • Sacked N.C. State quarterback Jamie Barnette on the very first play of the game • The play was a 20-yard loss and the ball rolled into the end zone where UNC linebacker Kivuusama Mays fell on it for a touchdown • Also had a 10-yard sack against the Wolfpack • Forced a fumble in the second quarter at Virginia which Rick Terry recovered • That led to a game-tying field goal • Had a season-high eight tackles in Charlottesville • Played perhaps his finest game as a Tar Heel in the shutout win over Georgia Tech • Had seven tackles against the Yellow Jackets, including four behind the line of scrimmage for 18 yards, two sacks for 10 yards, and had three quarterback pressures • Had five tackles, including an eight-yard sack, one pressure and a deflected pass against

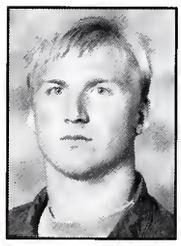
High School — Selected All-Greater Houston as a senior • Named all-district in 1992 and 1993 • All-Greater Houston selection • Made 25 receptions for 375 yards as a senior • Returned a punt 77 yards for a touchdown • Named to All-Greater Houston Academic Team as a senior • As a junior, had 12 catches in one game for 244 yards and four TDs • That included an 85-yard reception with 15 seconds left • Played on three straight district championship teams • Godson of Tar Heel Strength Coach Jeff Madden • His father, Cedrick, played football at Rice from 1977 to 1981 • Coached by Tom Nolen • Also lettered in track.

Personal — Majoring in industrial relations • Born Darien Michard Johnson on June 8, 1976.



Bryan Jones

Offensive Tackle
6-4, 271, Sophomore
Valparaiso, Fla. (Niceville)

Worked with the scout team at defensive tackle in 1996, but shifted to offensive tackle in the spring and is on the two deep • Goes into the preseason as the backup at left tackle behind starter Ryan Hoffman • Did not play last year and was red-shirted in 1995.

High School — An all-area and all-district selection in the offensive line as a senior at Niceville High School • Won third-team all-state honors • Team captain • Named his team's most outstanding blocker for two straight years • A three-time letterwinner and two-year starter • Played on three straight district championship teams • Chosen for the Florida-Georgia All-Star Game • Coached by Frank Sorrells • National Honor Society.

Personal— Born Charles Bryan Jones on Oct. 18, 1976 • Favorite teams as a kid were the Tar Heels, Florida State, Atlanta Braves and Minnesota Vikings • Favorite player was Pittsburgh's Joe Greene • Would love to switch places for a day with Bill Gates • Best thing about playing at UNC is playing for a great team and knowing he will be able to get a good job after graduation because of the school's academic reputation • Three people in history he would take to dinner if given the chance would be Andrew Carnegie, Michael Jordan and his dad • Likes to make pottery and play softball with his church league team • Craziest ambition is to become a gourmet chef • Majoring in industrial relations.

Chris Keldorf

Quarterback
Manhattan Beach, Calif. (Palomar J.C.)

A remarkable story • Transferred to Carolina in January 1996 from a junior college in California and earned first-team All-ACC honors in his first Division I season • Has a chance to rewrite the Carolina record books • Should be 100 percent ready to play by the start of preseason practice • Had surgery on March 31 to remove a screw from his injured left ankle and to remove a pair of ruptured discs in his back which were causing him pain in his legs (a condition through which he played all of last season) • Rated the No. 2 senior quarterback by ESPN NFL Draft analyst Mel Kiper Jr • Tennessee's Peyton Manning is the only senior quarterback rated ahead of him • Member of the 15-player Leadership Committee • Very intelligent, accurate thrower • Shows remarkable poise and uncanny touch • Knows when to rifle the ball to a receiver and when to take pace off the throw • Tosses a very catchable ball • Has a much stronger arm than people give him credit for • Best evidence of that is the throw he made to L.C. Stevens for a 44-yard score against Louisville • Had no room to step up in the pocket, got blasted as he threw the ball (and knew it was coming) and still got the ball several yards deep into the end zone • Throws from a variety of angles • Has good pocket awareness • Shows the ability make things happen when the play gets busted • A mature player • What sets him apart may be his incredibly quick reaction time • Has the ability and arm strength to get the ball to receivers a fraction of a second after he sees an opening • Anticipates things exceptionally well • Biggest room for improvement in the offseason was in his footwork coming out underneath center • Worked very hard on his first step away from center.

1996 — First-team All-ACC quarterback • One of 10 finalists for the Davey O'Brien national Quarterback of the Year Award • The first Tar Heel quarterback to earn All-ACC honors since Chris Kupec in 1974 • Is the first UNC player to lead the ACC in passing since Mark Maye in 1987 • Posted one of the most prolific passing seasons in Carolina history • Was first in the ACC and 24th in the country in pass efficiency • Through the eighth week of the season he was sixth in the nation in pass efficiency • Set school records for most pass completions, pass attempts, touchdowns, first downs, interception avoidance and two, three and four-game consecutive highs for yards, completions and total offense • Elected by his teammates as a team captain following the regular season • Unfortunately, he suffered a season-ending ankle injury in the first quarter of the final regular-season game at Duke and did not play in the Toyota Gator Bowl • Scrambled for a 2-yard gain and was tackled by linebacker Chike Egbuniwe and suffered a fracture dislocation of his left ankle • Had surgery performed that evening by team doctors, who inserted a metal plate to stabilize the bone and repaired torn ligaments • Saw more extensive action in spring practice than doctors originally thought was possible • By the end of spring drills he was cleared for full action • Completed 201 of 388 passes for 2,347 yards • Had a completion percentage of .595, the fourth-best in UNC single-season history • His yardage total is the second-best in school history • Mike Thomas set the mark in 1995 with 2,436 yards, 89 more than Keldorf's total • Led the ACC with a pass efficiency rating of 137.25, the fourth-best in school history • Broke UNC records for completions with 201 (previous, 185 by Thomas in 1995) and attempts with 338 (previous, 332 by Thomas in 1995) • Posted an outstanding touchdown-interception ratio of 23 to 5 • Shattered the touchdown record with 23, five more than Matt Kupec had in 1979 • Set a school record with an interception rate of 1.48 percent • The previous best was 2.0 by Chris Kupec in 74 • He also broke Chris Kupec's record for most consecutive passes without an interception • Kupec's mark was 120 from 1972-74 • Keldorf threw 143 passes without being picked off, a span which began late in the fourth quarter at Florida State through the Wake Forest, Maryland, Houston and N.C. State games and ended in the first quarter of the Louisville game • Had the most prolific four-game passing stretch in Carolina history in wins over Wake Forest, Maryland, Houston and N.C. State • Was 22 for 34 for 262 yards and three touchdowns at Wake Forest, 25 for 35 for 340 yards and four scores against Maryland, 25 for 36 for 322 yards and four scores at Houston and 16 for 22 for 315 yards and three touchdowns against N.C. State • In that four-game stretch he set school records for most yards in two consecutive games (662 vs. Maryland & Houston), most yards in three consecutive (977 vs. Maryland, Houston & N.C. State), most yards in four consecutive (1,239 yards), most completions in two consecutive (50 vs. Maryland & Houston), most completions in three consecutive (72 vs. Wake Forest, Maryland & Houston), most completions in four consecutive (88), most yards total offense in two consecutive (654 vs. Maryland & Houston), most yards total offense in three consecutive (975 vs. Maryland, Houston & N.C. State), and most yards total offense in four consecutive (1,243) • Began the season by leading Carolina to a 45-0 win over Clemson • Tossed touchdown passes of 14 and 45 yards to L.C. Stevens • Was 15 for 22 for 182 yards in his collegiate debut • That is the most yards of total offense ever by a Tar Heel in his UNC debut • Was simply awesome in the Tar Heels' 27-10 win at Syracuse • He was 22 for 32 for 218 yards and two touchdowns and completed 10 of 13 for 84 yards on third down passes • He was 6 for 7 for 42 yards on the Tar Heels' first possession, including three key third-down conversions • He made three more critical completions on Carolina's late first-half scoring drive, which he capped with a 3-yard TD to Na Brown • After the Orangemen blocked two third-quarter punts to get back into the game, Keldorf lobbed a 30-yard completion to Leon Johnson, a play which shifted field position and the game back to the Tar Heels • Was not as sharp as he would have liked against Georgia Tech, but he still completed 15 of 29 for 134 yards and two scores • He hooked up with tight end Freddie Jones on a beautiful lob pass in the left corner of the end zone and found Brown for a 24-yard score late in the first half • Spent much of the game at Florida State under a relentless pass rush • Completed 16 of 35 for 147 yards, but was sacked eight times and knocked down almost a dozen other times • Keldorf had his first three-touchdown game of the season at Wake Forest • Threw a 32-yard TD pass to Octavus Barnes late in the first half, a 3-yard strike to Jones in the third quarter and a 7-yard scoring dart to Jonathan Linton later in the third • Was 10 for 13 for 117 yards in the second half against the Deacons • His biggest statistical outing came against Maryland as he passed for 340 yards, the second-highest yardage figure in UNC history, and had four touchdowns • Only Mark Maye, who had 406 yards against Georgia Tech in 1987, ever threw for more yards in a game • He completed 25 of 35 passes, which tied the second-most completions in a game in UNC history • The four touchdowns were the most by a Tar Heel since Maye had four at Georgia Tech in 1987 • He had 330 yards of total offense, the sixth-best figure at Carolina • Three of his touchdown passes were in the first half and all three were caught by Stevens • On the second play from scrimmage in the opening quarter, Keldorf hit Stevens with a deep bomb down the left sideline for a 76-yard score, the longest passing touchdown by Carolina in Kenan Stadium history • Keldorf and Stevens also connected on scoring passes of 25 and 7 yards before the first half was 24 minutes into the books • Late in the third quarter he hit Brown for a 19-yard touchdown • The following game in Houston Keldorf became the first UNC quarterback to ever throw for 300 yards in consecutive games • He was 25 for 36 for another 322 yards and four more touchdowns • He had TD passes of 3 yards to Brown, 32 yards to Barnes, 43 yards to Jones and 5 yards to fullback Chris Watson • Against N.C. State he extended his record 300-yard streak to three games as he went 16 for 22 for 315 yards and three scores • He connected with Watson for 19 yards (he was the fourth option on the play), Barnes for 32 yards (after Keldorf was forced to scramble out of the pocket, he threw across the field to a sliding Barnes just beyond the goal line) and 63 yards to Barnes (an out pattern which Barnes turned upfield and raced past the Wolfpack secondary) • Completed 21 of 43 passes for 206 yards and two touchdowns in the win over Louisville • Shifting winds and a half-dozen dropped balls kept his numbers down, but he still managed to throw TD passes of 44 yards to Stevens and 15 yards to Barnes • He got clobbered just after he released a long, high floater to Stevens, which tied the game at 7-7 • The Barnes' touchdown again came after he was forced to buy time and find a secondary receiver • Interception-less streak came to an end in the first quarter when he was picked off by All-America cornerback Sam Madison • Got hit often and hard by the Virginia pass rush and finished the day 19 for 39 for 154 yards and one score • Led the Tar Heels on a 17-play, 80-yard scoring drive to open the third quarter • Converted five third-down opportunities on that scoring drive which he capped with a 7-yard touchdown pass to Barnes • Was 5 for 11 for 67 yards against Duke before being injured on a scramble.

Prior to UNC— Played at Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif., in 1994 and 1995 • Completed 264 of 461 passes in 1995 for 3,037 yards and 30 touchdowns • In 1994 he passed for nearly 500 yards and five touchdowns • Red-shirted the 1993 season at El Camino Junior College in Torrance, Calif • Originally enrolled at Utah State in 1992 but transferred to El Camino before classes ever began at Utah State • Earned Junior College Academic All-America honors in 1995 • Enrolled at North Carolina in January 1996 • Picked as one of the top 50 junior college players in the country by SuperPrep • Member of the The National Recruiting Advisor's JUCO Top 44 Team • Played scholastically at St. Bernard High.

Personal— Born Chris John Keldorf on June 28, 1974, in Manhattan Beach, Calif. • Majoring in communication studies.

Keith Newman

Outside Linebacker
6-3, 239, Junior
Tampa, Fla. (Thomas Jefferson)

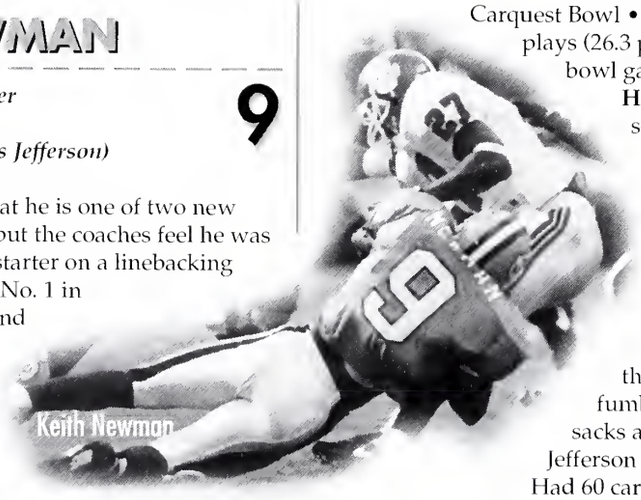
It might appear that he is one of two new starters on defense, but the coaches feel he was like a 12th starter a year ago • Rookie starter on a linebacking corps which The Sporting News ranks No. 1 in the country • Played safety and tight end in high school and can really run • Very sound tackler • Has good speed and strength and uses his hands very well • Is an experienced player • There should be no drop off in production at this position even though starter James Hamilton went in the third round of the NFL Draft.



Brad Smith

1996 — One of the top reserves on the team • Basically was a fourth starter at linebacker • Arguably the most talented non-starter on the football team • Started twice, against Florida State for James Hamilton and against Maryland for Brian Simmons • Made a career-high 13 tackles at Florida State when the Tar Heels held the Seminoles to their lowest yardage figure in a decade • Had one tackle for a loss, recovered a Thad Busby fumble and pressured him three times • Had six tackles, including a 9-yard quarterback sack, against Maryland • Also had five tackles against Virginia and Duke • Caused fumbles against Clemson and the Blue Devils • Had two tackles, including a 9-yard sack, against West Virginia in the Gator Bowl • Was one of the upbacks on the kickoff return team and had three returns for 39 yards • Played on 396 snaps in the regular season, just 66 less than starter James Hamilton.

1995 — One of five true freshmen to play • Recorded 21 tackles (nine solo), one tackle for loss and a pass break up • Played his first collegiate game against Virginia • Made six tackles in his second game at Georgia Tech • Had seven hits the next week versus Wake Forest • Recorded a tackle for a loss of a yard and broke up a pass against the Demon Deacons • Had four tackles versus Duke and three at N.C. State • Had two solo hits in the Carquest Bowl • Saw action on 184 regular-season plays (26.3 per game) and 19 snaps in the bowl game versus Arkansas.

High School — All-America selection at tight end by SuperPrep • In high school he played tight end, defensive end, wide receiver, outside linebacker and safety • Had 20 catches for 415 yards as a senior, averaging 20.7 yards a catch and scoring three times • At safety he made 110 tackles with three interceptions, six forced fumbles, five fumble recoveries, three sacks and a blocked punt • Led Thomas Jefferson High School to a district title • Had 60 career catches for 1,528 yards (25.4 per catch) and 11 TDs • Coached by Darlee Nelson.

Personal — Born Keith Anthony Newman on Jan. 19, 1977 • Majoring in exercise and sports science.

Mike Pringley

Defensive End
6-5, 255, Junior
Linden, N.J. (Linden)

Is ready to emerge as a prime-time player • Had probably as good a spring practice as any defensive player • If he can stay healthy he could emerge as an all-conference performer • Strong enough to move inside to tackle if needed • Has the size, strength and foot speed to be a dominant defensive end • Tremendous hand-eye coordination • This is a player to watch • Could have a breakout year • Preseason second-team All-ACC selection by The Sporting News • Has battled through several injuries at UNC.

1996 — Started nine games at defensive end and shared playing time with Russell Davis • Did not play against Duke in the regular-season finale due to a fractured fibula he suffered in the Virginia game on November 16 • Was third on the team with 25 quarterback pressures and fifth on the squad with eight tackles for losses for 37 yards • Had three sacks for 23 yards, two of which came in the road win at ninth-ranked Syracuse • Had a season-high seven tackles, including three for losses of six yards, in the shutout win over Georgia Tech • Also had a sack at Houston • Pressured the quarterback a season-high seven times and had a tackle for a loss against Louisville • Made one of the biggest defensive plays of the season on West Virginia's final fourth-quarter drive in the Gator Bowl • Trailing the Tar Heels, 20-13, West Virginia had marched to the Carolina 22-yard line with just over 2:00 to play and faced a 3rd-and-4 • Pringley clobbered tailback Amos Zereoue for a 2-yard loss forcing a 4th-and-6 pass which fell incomplete to seal the win for UNC • Had three tackles in the Gator Bowl.

1995 — Shared playing time at defensive end with another freshman, Russell Davis • Made 41 tackles, 10 pressures, five tackles for losses for 30 yards and four sacks for 26 yards in his freshman season • Made three starts, including his first college game against Syracuse • Also started against Wake Forest and Clemson • Began his collegiate career by sacking Orangemen quarterback Donovan McNabb on the first play of the game • Did not play against Maryland due to a groin injury • Earned his second sack in the win at Louisville • That sack came on third down in the fourth quarter and forced the Cardinals to punt the ball to Carolina • The Tar Heels then tied the game on a field goal and went on to win • Made a season-high seven tackles against Ohio • Had six tackles, including two for losses and one for a sack at Georgia Tech • Recorded a nine-yard sack and had three QB pressures against Wake Forest • Also had six hits against Florida State • Finished the regular-season with a season-best four pressures at N.C. State • Made three tackles and batted down a pass in the Carquest Bowl win over Arkansas • A converted linebacker • 1994 — Was red-shirted.

High School — First-team Parade and SuperPrep All-America • Also was first-team all-state (overall) and first-team all-state (Group IV) • First-team all-county • School's career sack leader with 30, including 14 as a senior • Led the team as a senior with 121 tackles, including 76 primary hits and 45 assists • Had 17 tackles for losses • Also was the leading receiver his last two seasons • Caught 22 passes

Another example of a player who did not see immediate playing time but eventually reaped the benefits of working hard and becoming an invaluable contributor • Second-year starter who is part of The Sporting News' No. 1 nationally-ranked secondary • Came to Carolina as an all-star wide receiver, but played little his first two years • Last year he switched to strong safety in the spring and moved into the starting lineup in the third week of the season • Now he has a chance to play at the next level • Runs well and has shown he can be a physical tackler • Member of the 15-player Leadership Committee • Had a very fine spring • Continues to improve • Possesses the knowledge and techniques needed to play the position • A solid player • Was really playing well at the end of last season • Could move over to free safety if needed • Has a good understanding of the game • Played one of his finest games in the Gator Bowl win over West Virginia.

Greg Williams

Brad Smith

1996 — One of the most pleasant surprise stories on the football team • Shifted to strong safety in the spring after spending two years as a reserve wide receiver and ended up in the starting lineup by the third week of the season • While the cornerbacks received much of the attention, it was the play of the safeties, primarily Omar Brown and Williams, which allowed the corners to play such tight man coverage • Averaged six tackles per game and finished the regular season with 42 primary hits • Broke up four passes, intercepted one and caused a fumble which helped preserve a Carolina victory • Made one of the biggest defensive plays of the year in the win over Louisville • Stripped UL receiver Ibn Gren at the 5-yard line as Green was about to score on a long pass play in the fourth quarter • UNC lineman Russell Davis fell on the ball at the 1-yard line • Picked off Clemson's Nealon Green in the season opener • Broke up two passes and forced a key, fourth-quarter interception in the win at No. 9-ranked Syracuse • With UNC leading 17-10, Williams hit quarterback Donovan McNabb just as he released a pass and the ball floated into the hands of cornerback Dre' Bly • Carolina scored the game-clinching touchdown two plays later on a long pass from Chris Keldorf to tight end Freddie Jones • Also forced an interception at Florida State • Hit All-ACC wide receiver Andre Cooper just as the ball arrived and the ball popped into the air and was picked off by Bly • Had a regular-season-high 10 tackles (six primary) at Virginia • Had nine tackles and a pass breakup against Georgia Tech • Had eight tackles against Duke, seven against N.C. State and six against Florida State, Wake Forest and Louisville • Made another key play in the third quarter of the Gator Bowl against West Virginia as he alertly fell on a fumble at the Carolina 30-yard line by Mountaineer tailback Amos Zereoue • That turnover shifted momentum back to the Tar Heels after WVU had opened the half with a score and was driving downfield for the tying points • Led the team with 11 tackles, his unofficial career high • Had six solo hits and one tackle for a loss.

1995 — Appeared in 10 of 11 regular-season games at wide receiver • Made one catch for 10 yards • Caught that pass, the first of his collegiate career, from Toney Coles in the fourth quarter of the Ohio game • Saw action on 96 plays in the regular season and four in the Carquest Bowl.

1994 — One of three true freshmen to see action in 1994 • Appeared in every game including the Sun Bowl • Did not catch a pass but returned three kickoffs for a total of 48 yards • Had his longest KO return of the year, 27 yards, against Tulane • Saw action on 66 plays in the regular season • Also appeared in six plays in the Sun Bowl.

High School — First-team USA Today, Parade and SuperPrep All-America selection • Unanimous all-state selection • Selected the Player of the Year in the state of Illinois by Gatorade, the Chicago Sun-Times, the Chicago Tribune and the Champaign Gazette • Named all-conference in 1992 and 1993 on both offense and defense • Statistics as a senior included 159 rushing attempts for 1,568 yards and 18 touchdowns • Also had nine receptions for one score • Returned 21 kicks and six interceptions for 544 yards • Returned both a kickoff and an interception for touchdowns • Scored on a 98-yard touchdown run which began as a quarterback sneak • Had a total of 21 touchdowns on the season • Added 42 solo tackles, 26 assists, six interceptions and broke up five passes • Led his team to a 13-1 record and a second-place finish in the Class 5-A playoffs • Coached by Phil Acton •

Personal — Born Gregory David Williams on March 12, 1976 • Majoring in sociology.

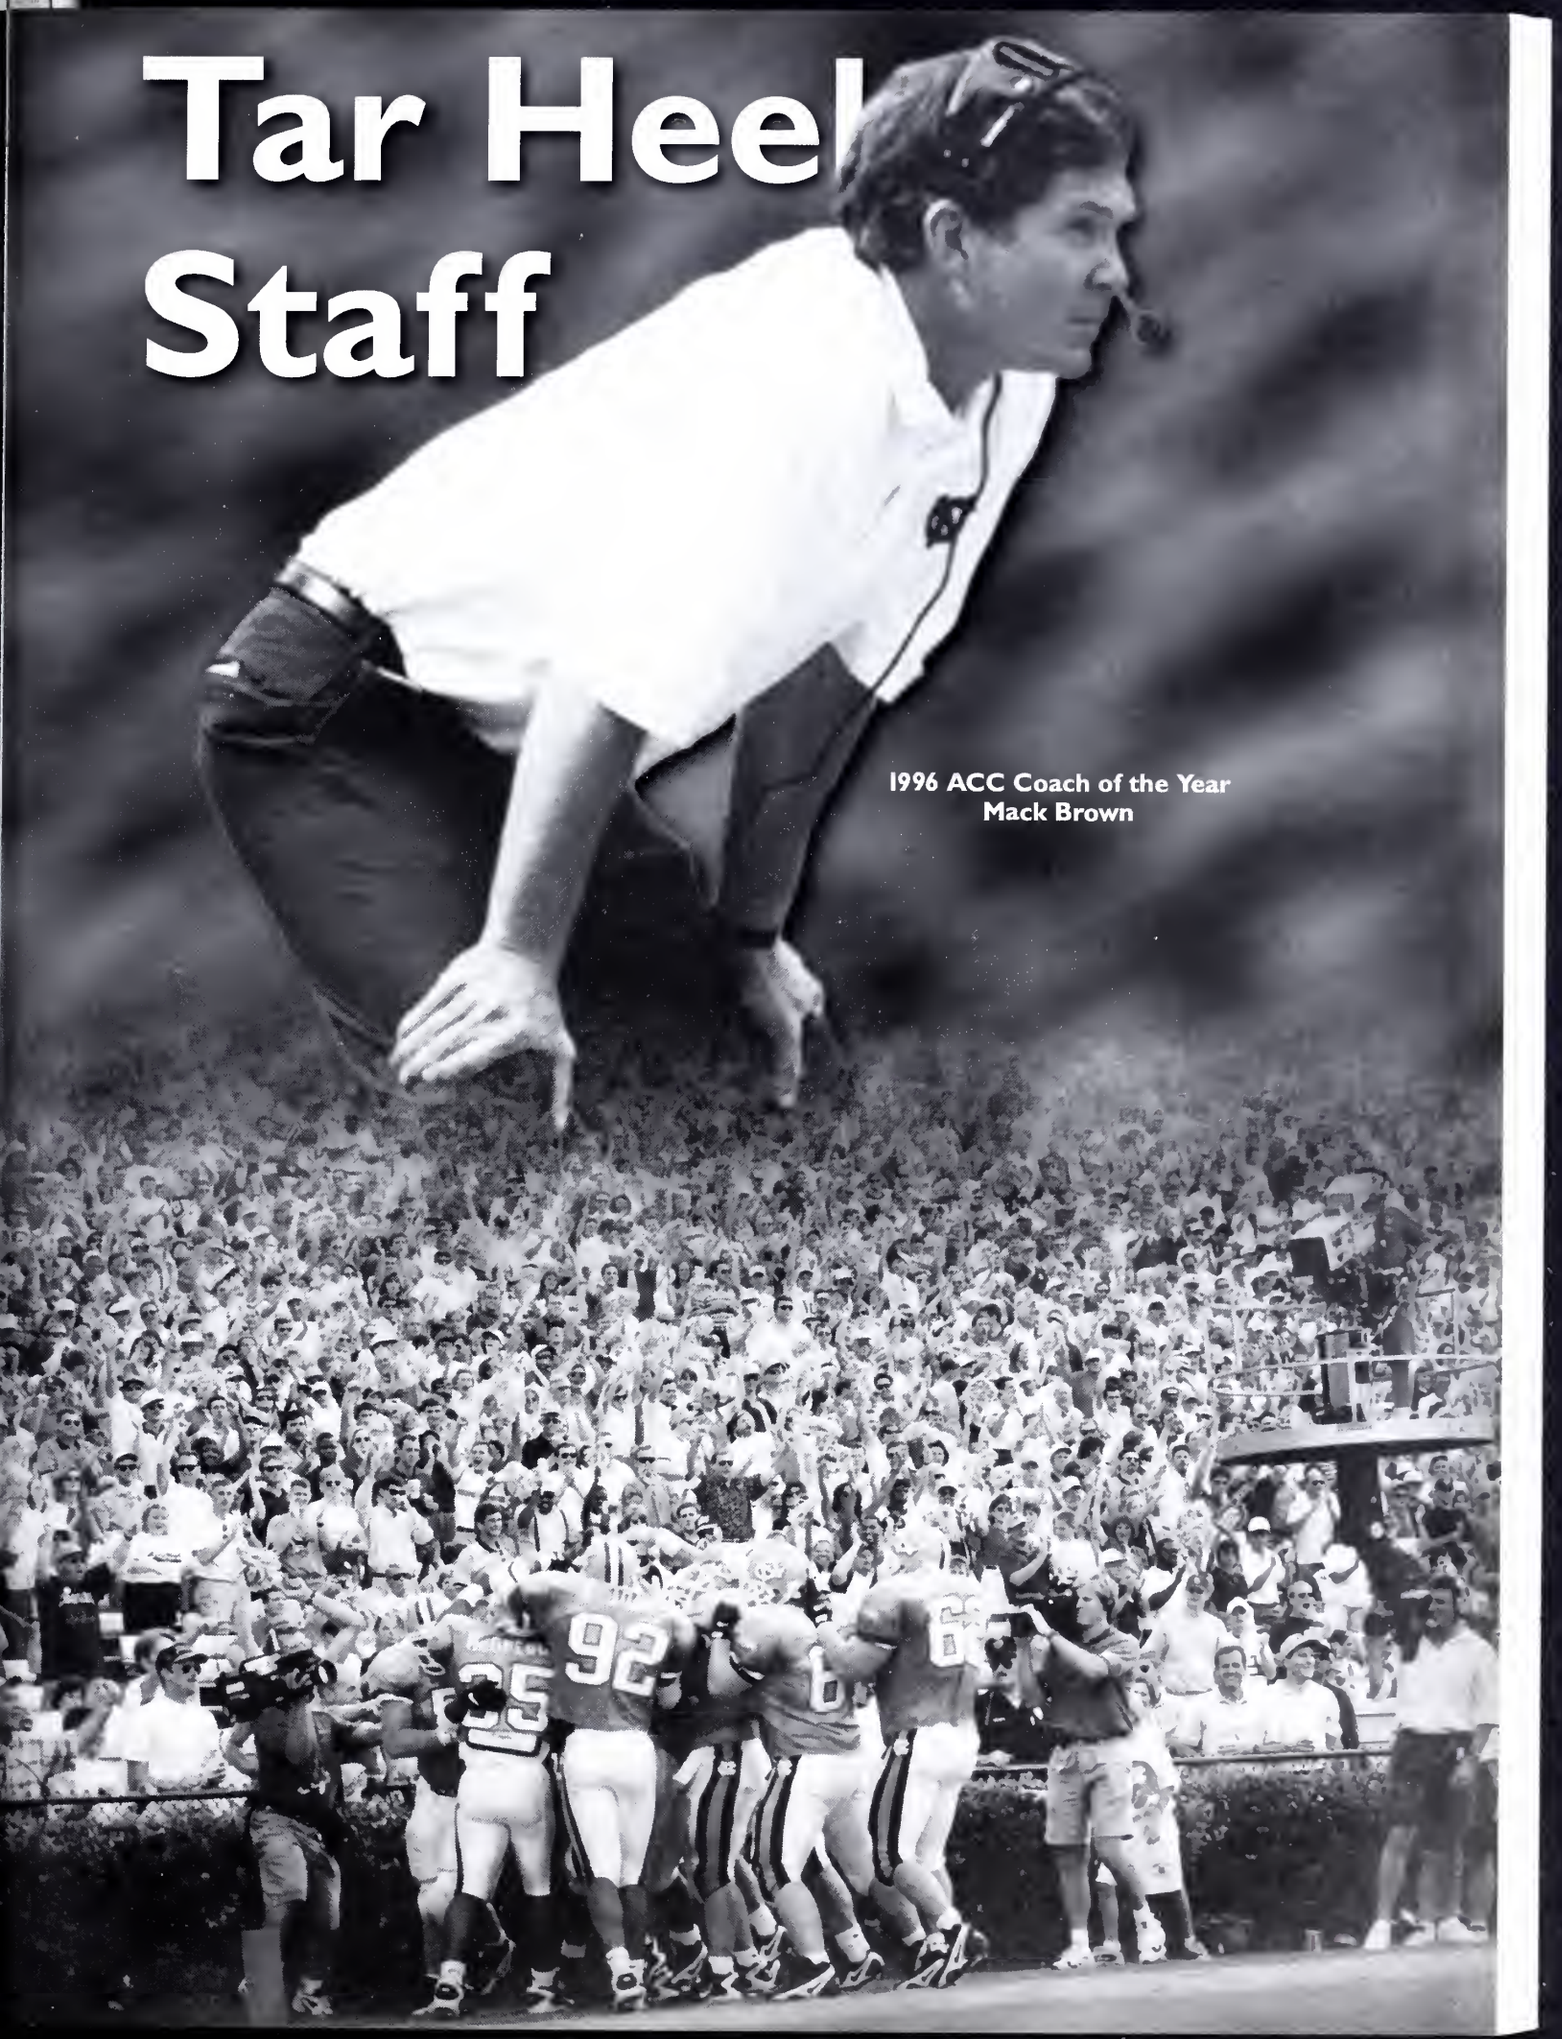
Tar Heel Staff



1996 ACC Coach of the Year
Mack Brown

Athletic Director Dick Baddour

The new director of athletics at the University of North Carolina is Dick Baddour, who has served as number two man in the department for the past 11 years.

Baddour was appointed to the job June 25 by Chancellor Michael Hooker. He replaced John Swofford who became commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"We were very fortunate to have an extremely strong pool of candidates for this position," said Hooker, in making the announcement. "In the end, Dick's familiarity with and inside knowledge of Carolina athletics made him the top choice.

"Dick knows firsthand the inner-workings of our athletic department. As John Swofford's right-hand man for more than a decade, he unquestionably knows more about the operation of Carolina athletics than anyone besides John. He also is well-known and has a long history of service to the ACC.

"Even more importantly, however, is his steadfast dedication to our student-athletes. I am confident he will be able to maintain the academic integrity and high standards that are hallmarks of the Carolina athletic program. Dick will be an exceptional role model for our student-athletes and a powerful leader of our department. I am delighted to recommend him for this important post."

Baddour was among 40 candidates considered by a 14-member search committee chaired by Dr. Elson Floyd, executive vice-chancellor. The panel included faculty, staff, student, alumni, trustee and athletic department representatives.

"It is an honor to have the opportunity to serve the University as its director of athletics," said Baddour at the time of his appointment. "To be the successor to John Swofford and to build on the tradition of excellence that he, the staff, the coaches and the student-athletes have established over the years is the most exciting challenge I can imagine.

"Michael Hooker has a vision of what he wants the University to be and I pledge my support and that of this department to that end— for Carolina to be the number one public institution in this country."

Baddour is beginning his 31st year of continuous service to the University. He has worked at several different positions in that time and gotten involved in numerous aspects of campus life— working with faculty, staff and students. He may know as much about how the entire University operates as almost anyone at the school today.

Prior to replacing Swofford, he had been the Athletic Department's executive associate director of athletics. In that role he was Swofford's chief assistant and handled many of the day-to-day affairs of the department. That included handling personnel matters, serving as NCAA and ACC compliance coordinator, supervisor of the grant-in-aid program, administrator of the student-athlete development program and liaison with the academic support programs.

Baddour also assisted with the scheduling of football and men's basketball games, helped coordinate an intern program with the Department of Physical Education and worked with several faculty committees, including the Faculty Committee on Athletics.

He has chaired or served on at least seven ACC committees and coordinated the UNC's NCAA certification process and review.

However, unlike most officials in college athletics, he did not begin his career planning for this line of work to be his profession.

A 1966 Carolina graduate with B.A. in economics, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to his alma mater in 1967 as assistant dean of men, an office he jokes does now not even exist. In that role he worked closely with students, directing orientation and serving as the administration's liaison with fraternities and Student Government committees.

In May 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. That brought him in close contact with all of Carolina's academic departments. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state.

While working in undergraduate admissions in 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment programs and the law school's fund-raising activities.

He was approached by Swofford about joining the athletic department and became associate athletic director in April 1986. He was promoted to senior associate director in July 1990 and to executive associate in June 1995.

"I need to express my gratitude to John who, 11 years ago, gave me an opportunity in college athletics just as Michael Hooker is giving me one now," said Baddour when chosen for the department's top spot. "Through the years John guided and prepared me to be an athletic director. This is a time to look forward, but I also think it's important to look back at what has been accomplished here under his leadership."

Baddour will head one of the largest and most successful athletic programs in the nation. Carolina has the largest program in the entire South, fielding 28 teams. The newest, women's rowing, begins varsity competition next spring. The Tar Heels won the Sears Directors' Cup for having the best overall athletic program in the nation in 1993-94 and have been a top contender for that trophy each of the past three years, as well.

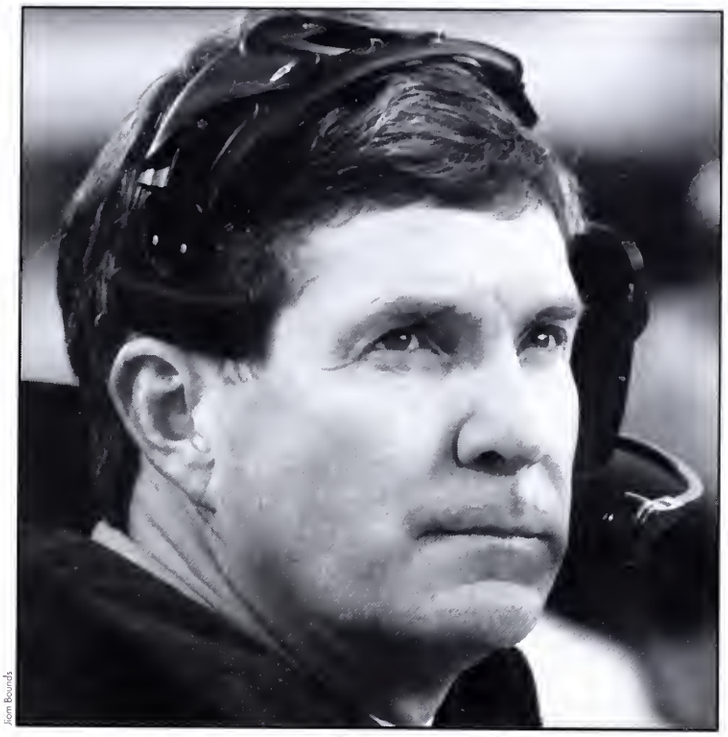
A native of Goldsboro, N.C. and a 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour is also active in community affairs in Chapel Hill despite his busy schedule at the University. He is past president of the Public School Foundation, has been co-president of the Ephesus Elementary School PTA and has served on the Chapel Hill-Carrboro School System Effective Schools Committee.

He recently received the Chapel Hill/Carrboro Public School System award as "Volunteer of the Year" for his service and leadership as president of the Public School Foundation.

He has been a member of the Chapel Hill Library Foundation, The Chapel Hill Library Building Committee and the board of directors of The Village Bank and later Triangle Bank.

He is a past president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club and served as vice-president of the Chapel Hill Parks and Recreation Commission. Baddour is completing 31 years as a member of the N.C. National Guard and holds the rank of colonel.

Baddour's wife, Lynda, taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years. They have two sons, Allen, 26, who graduated from UNC and is a Carolina law student, and David, 24, a UNC graduate and an accountant in Washington, D.C., and a daughter Jennifer, 23, a graduate of UNC Greensboro and a current graduate student in the UNC School of Social Work.



Jason Bounds

Head Coach Mack Brown

The University of North Carolina football program enters the 1997 season ranked among the Top 10 in the nation, and head coach Mack Brown is one of the main reasons the Tar Heel program's fortunes continue to soar toward the top.

Brown is a man of many talents. Father, husband, coach, mentor, counselor and leader of a football program that is beginning to be considered among the country's premier institutions. If you ask Brown, however, what he considers to be his greatest mission in Chapel Hill, he will likely say educator. The Tar Heel players will attest to that. Brown instructs them in the finer points of playing football, is a proponent of higher education and a teacher of life's challenges. For if one thing can be said about Carolina football players under Mack Brown, it can be said they have developed into a group of young men who continue to make Coach and University very proud.

Under Brown's direction the Tar Heel football program has returned to the Top 10. Carolina has posted winning records in seven consecutive seasons, tying the longest streak in modern Tar Heel football history, and UNC is the 12th winningest program in the country over the last five years. Lindy's magazine named Brown its preseason National Coach of the Year in 1997.

"Mack Brown is a coach with his priorities in order," says UNC Chancellor Michael Hooker. "First and foremost, he is committed to making sure his players succeed academically. He recognizes that student-athletes are students first and that they are at Carolina for an education which will prepare them for the future. Of course he also wants them to win on Saturday afternoon, and I applaud his unstinting commitment to making his team the best it can be.

"This kind of integrity is obvious throughout the Tar Heel football program under Coach Brown. He has clearly shown than an academically sound team also can be a winning team, as demonstrated by our 1997 Gator Bowl championship. Mack is a class act through and through. He is as much a team leader off the field as on it, coaching his players in the all-important game of life."

Brown instituted changes in staff and philosophy on both sides of the ball prior to the 1996 season, and the rewards were quite evident. Last year Carolina's defense led the nation in points allowed, was second in the country in total defense and third in stopping both the run and the pass. Offensively, the Tar Heels established school records for passing touchdowns while still having a runner rush for more than 900 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The Tar Heels defeated No. 25 West Virginia, 20-13, in the Toyota Gator Bowl on New Year's Day, the third time in five years Carolina has won in the postseason. UNC finished tied for second place in the ACC and won on the road at both Syracuse and Houston. The Orangemen were ranked No. 9 in the country at the time and finished the year in a tie for the Big East Conference championship. Carolina held the Liberty Bowl-bound Cougars to more than 200 yards below their season average and passed for a UNC-record-tying five touchdowns. The Tar Heels held Florida State to its lowest point total in four years and lowest yardage mark in 10 years in a tightly contested battled against the nation's then No. 1-ranked team in Tallahassee.

Carolina scored school-record totals against a pair of arch-rivals (52 points against N.C. State and 45 against Clemson), swept its in-state ACC opponents for the fourth straight season and transformed an I-back offense into a balanced pro-style set that featured the school's first all-conference quarterback in 22 years and a record four receivers with 30 or more catches.

Brown was at the helm as several Tar Heels set school records and were among ACC and national leaders. UNC led the ACC in passing offense and pass defense and improved from 105th in the country to first in the nation in turnover margin.

"Throughout my 27 years of coaching at the college level, Mack was clearly the most talented offensive coach that I was associated with," says Barry Switzer, who won three national championships at Oklahoma and a Super Bowl crown with the Dallas Cowboys. "You could tell early on that he had the complete package and that he was going to be a very successful head coach. What he has accomplished at North Carolina has come as no surprise to me."

Tailback Leon Johnson set the ACC career record for all-purpose yards and Carolina marks for touchdowns and overall scoring; quarterback Chris Keldorf set numerous UNC passing marks and threw the fifth-most touchdown passes in ACC single-season history; first-team All-America cornerback Dre' Bly led the nation and set the ACC single-season record for interceptions; defensive end Greg Ellis moved within half a sack from the school record and was named first-team All-ACC for the second straight year; and linebacker Brian Simmons was a semifinalist for the Butkus Award and a first-team All-ACC choice.

Five Tar Heels were selected in the first five rounds of the 1997 NFL Draft and several more signed free-agent contracts.

Carolina also received honorable mention accolades from the College Football Association for outstanding graduation rates last year. UNC and Florida State are the only two schools which finished in the National Top 10 last year in the final Associated Press and CNN/USA Today polls to receive the CFA award.

"As much pride as we take in receiving awards for our actions on the field, we gain an even greater sense of accomplishment and pride when our student-athletes receive their degree," says Brown. "That is the true mission of the University and the reason we are able to attract such quality young men to play football here at Carolina. The opportunities a college degree affords them are limitless, and the feeling we as a football staff have to see them earn that degree is one of respect and pride.

"To be one of just two programs to receive the award and finish in the Top 10 in the country is an indication where this program is going," said Brown. "We want to be a total program, and this is just another indication of reaching that goal."

Brown's players graduate, they represent the University in a first-class manner and they stay out of trouble. Why? The head coach demands it be just that way. Brown has built a program which has won 57 games in the last seven years and graduated at least 70 percent of its players all but once in the last nine years. Several players who are just credits shy of a Carolina degree are playing in the NFL, where the minimum salary is more than $130,000.

"I want to to thank Coach Brown for giving a 210-pound linebacker a chance to start at linebacker," says Dwight Hollier, now in his sixth season with the Miami Dolphins and the leading tackler in Carolina history. "I give him a lot of credit for bringing in the coaching staff and players that were needed to turn the program around. No matter how tough it got those first two years, he managed to stay positive and kept us working hard during that whole time. It was that attitude that also helped to turn the program around."

In fact, Carolina had the fourth-most alumni in the NFL last fall with 34 players and 27 of them played at UNC for Brown. But it is more than on-field coaching which has made Brown one of the most personable, approachable and appreciative head coaches in the game.

It is the understanding that Brown has for the commitment his staff and players demonstrate for the game of football; it is the ability to communicate with fans, media, alumni, faculty and most importantly, his players and staff; it is his desire to see his players get the most out of their collegiate experience, on the field, in the classroom and amidst the social climate of one of the top collegiate environments in the country; it is the manner in which Brown can be both a disciplinarian and counselor to more than 100 young adults; it is the intensity with which Brown competes; it is the excitement and enthusiasm with which he celebrates success; and it is even the passion and compassion with which he deals with defeat.

If you could be in the locker room with the Carolina team after a game, it is indeed a sight. No player has likely spent as much emotion or is as physically drained after a game as is Brown. The man simply puts his heart and soul into each and every play for 60 minutes. The reason is clear. Brown, better than anyone else, knows the time, the work, the sweat and tears, camaraderie, highs and lows, the effort that goes into putting together a Top 10 football program.

Brown exudes emotion with every hearty handshake or simple hug of the back of your neck. Whether it is the elation of winning a nationally-televised game at the home of the ninth-ranked team in the country, or beating local-rival Duke for a seventh straight time or the disappointment of a tough loss, Carolina's players know Brown cares about them and their emotions. When Brown broke down in front of his players after the loss at Virginia last year, it was not for what was lost for him, but for the heartache and disappointment he knew his players were feeling. Yet it was Brown who also led the charge to pick up the pieces and get back to work toward beating the Blue Devils in the regular-season finale.

Go to a Carolina practice and you will find Brown all over the practice complex. You will see him giving an encouraging word to a player who might not be playing as much as he would like; writing notes on the practice plan for later review or comment; issuing some positive reinforcement for a job well done; a stern word now and then when the intensity is not as crisp as he demands; a word to an assistant coach to amend some method of instruction; or even some hands-on, on-field demonstration of the technique or strategy the Tar Heels wish to employ. Brown is a head coach who lets his players play and his coaches coach. But as head coach he knows he is ultimately responsible for what happens on and off the field. That is a burden many people shy away from, but one Brown accepts and embraces.

Carolina's practices are well organized and direct. The Tar Heels typically practice on Tuesdays through Thursdays and Brown structures them in a way to insure that Carolina is as fresh and well rested as possible on game day. In return for that streamlined approach, Brown expects his players to give 100 percent attention and effort in that time. That does not mean they don't have fun. Media who attend practice can attest to the fact that Carolina's practices are spirited and competitive. Veteran players are given the game plan, younger players compete for future assignments and everyone drills on the fundamentals and the kicking game.

The changes evident in Carolina's offensive and defensive schemes the last two years are part of a larger approach of recruiting the best players in the country. Brown's move to a more balanced pro-set on offense and an aggressive, physical, speed-based defense is simple to understand.

Quarterbacks want to throw the ball and learn how to read defenses; running backs wish to operate in a system which allows them to run and catch out of the backfield; receivers want to play where they will run complex routes, catch the ball and compete against the best corners and safeties each day in practice; linemen, many of whom grew up in run-oriented high school programs, have to learn pass-blocking techniques to play at the next level; defensive players want to play an aggressive, in-your-face brand of football; cornerbacks want to play at schools where they will be tested daily and play tough man-to-man coverage. These are the kind of players Carolina has recruited and will continue to sign in the future.

"Mack has unbelievable foresight, is highly intelligent and has outstanding character," says Gil Brandt, consultant to the NFL and longtime vice president of the Dallas Cowboys. "He has the uncanny ability to understand the larger picture – that is, the mix between football, academics, alumni and faculty relations, media obligations and the ability to make his players understand that football is just a stepping stone to other great things in one's career.

"I never cease to be amazed by the new ideas and concepts he installs every year on and off the field to make his players better football players and better people. Mack reminds me so much of Coach (Tom) Landry in his ability to understand the entire picture and have a great plan for success."

Brown is in his 10th year in Chapel Hill, where he is tied for third place in alltime wins with Carl Snavely, who coached the teams in the late 1940s led by Hall of Famers Charlie Justice and Art Weiner. Brown has a 59-45-1 record in his first nine years at Carolina and a 76-73-1 overall mark in 13 years as a college head coach.

The 1996 season proved to be one of the most successful and exciting ones in Carolina history. The Cookeville, Tenn., native led the Tar Heels to a spot in the national Top 10 and Carolina made a postseason bowl game appearance for the fifth straight year. For his efforts, Brown was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year. He was a finalist for the Bear Bryant National Coach of the Year Award selected by the Football Writers Association of America. Arizona State's Bruce Snyder, Florida's Steve Spurrier, Wyoming's Joe Tiller, Army's Bob Sutton and Ohio State's John Cooper joined Brown in a select group of award-finalists.

Brown, who is coaching college football players for the 26th year, is in his 14th season as a head coach. He stands third in tenure among active head coaches in the Atlantic Coast Conference behind only Florida State's Bobby Bowden and Virginia's George Welsh. Nationally only 12 men have been head coaches for a longer period at their current institutions. Carolina has in the last five years participated in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta, Disneyland Pigskin Classic in Anaheim, Calif., the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas, and the Carquest Bowl in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"Mack Brown is making a name for himself not only in the ACC, but nationally," says Grant Teaff, Executive Director of the American Football Coaches Association. "He is not only an outstanding coach and recruiter, he also is a leader in our profession."

In November 1996 Athletic Director John Swofford received approval from the Chancellor and the Board of Trustees to offer a two-year contract extension to Brown, which the coach signed to extend his deal at UNC through the year 2001.

"Mack has done a tremendous job of developing our football program into a nationally competitive one," said Swofford, who in April 1997 was selected the next commissioner of the ACC. "Under his leadership we have not only stability but also great momentum heading into the future. We are very pleased that Coach Brown has chosen to make that future right here at Carolina."

Brown has recruited and coached several of the most outstanding football players in Carolina history. He has helped to develop standout players like Marcus Jones, a consensus first-team All-America defensive tackle who also earned ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year honors in 1995; Corey Holliday, the leading receiver in Tar Heel history, a CFA/Hitachi Scholar-Athlete and current member of the Pittsburgh Steelers; Hollier, who made over 500 tackles as a Tar Heel; Natrone Means, who rushed for 1,000-plus yards in each of his last two seasons as a Tar Heel and led the San Diego Chargers to Super Bowl XXIX and the Jacksonville Jaguars to the AFC title game last year; quarterbacks Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas, who together rewrote Carolina's passing and total offense records; cornerback Thomas Smith, who came to UNC in 1989 as a walk-on from a small high school in North Carolina and departed as a first-round draft pick of the AFC champion Buffalo Bills; and tailback Leon Johnson, one of the premier all-purpose offensive threats in ACC history.

"When I first came here we were just trying to establish that we could win games," says Holliday, who caught two passes for the Steelers in Super Bowl XXX. "Now when you hear people talking about Carolina, they are also talking about them with the Florida States and Nebraskas and with winning national championships. The caliber athlete coming here now is different, too. One or two players used to go to the NFL when I was here and now it's more like one or two are going in the Many observers credit Brown's affable qualities and outgoing personality as the key to his success. While those observations are on the mark, what often gets overlooked is Brown's careful attention to detail and game strategy. These personal traits are aided by his hiring an experienced and talented staff. Seven of Brown's nine current assistant coaches have been head coaches, including four at the Division I college level.

"I love coaching at the University of North Carolina because of the friendships I have developed over the years, in addition to the type of young people, coaches and staff members this school attracts," says Brown. "They are people that have class, are intelligent, understand they want ultimate success on the field, but not at the cost of ethical standards or class. That's the type program in which I have always felt like I needed to be. As I get older I know that's the type program I really feel most comfortable with and enjoy every day."

Carolina's 44 wins over the past five years mark the second-highest total in the ACC behind Florida State. The Seminoles have won 54 games in that span. Virginia is third with 39. Carolina, FSU and Virginia are the only schools in the ACC to compile a winning record in each of the last seven seasons. The 44 wins are more than 100 other Division I schools, including Notre Dame, Michigan, Washington, Syracuse, Auburn, USC, UCLA, Georgia and Oklahoma.

The Tar Heels have made steady progress in the polls, as well. In 1992, the first of five straight seasons with bowl appearances, Carolina was 18th in the final A.P. poll and 19th in the USA Today/CNN coaches poll. The Tar Heels finished 19th and 21st in the 1993 rankings and 21st in the coaches' poll in 1994. Last year Carolina was sixth in the country in the Associated Press poll in late October and finished the year ranked No. 10 by both the writers and coaches.

"Tradition has always been important in football, but people also have to recognize change," says Brown. "Right now some of the old names, the traditional old names in college football are not the same people they were 20 years ago. We feel like North Carolina is one of the new names, the new kids on the block. It's a school we want young guys to come to because hopefully we will be one of the programs they are talking about 20 years from now instead of one of the upcoming programs.

"We want to be in a position to challenge for the conference championship and go to a bowl game every year. There's no reason we can't do that, given all the things we have going for us here – a tradition of excellence in athletics, one of the best academic institutions in the nation and with the stadium renovations beginning immediately, our football facility will be among the finest in the nation."

Outgoing and personable, one of Brown's greatest strengths may simply be his integrity. When he says something, people know he means it.

"Coach Brown is a combination of all the things that go into a good head coach," says Holliday, who played for Brown from 1989-93 and was a member of the CFA Hitachi National Scholar-Athlete Team. "He is a solid coach on the field, a father figure who instills discipline, a career counselor and a friend. The thing that impressed me more than anything else was our first meeting at Carolina as freshmen when he made us stand up, introduce ourselves to each other and say what we wanted to major in. He didn't ask us what position we wanted to play or anything like that. He made us know right from day one that academics were the reason we were here in the first place."

That's one reason he's done such an outstanding job as a recruiter. He's honest and forthright in his dealings with his players. He has a good understanding of today's young people, can relate to them and their problems and stresses the importance of academics and a college degree. The incoming class of freshmen in the fall of 1997 has the highest collective board scores and high school academic standing of any class in Brown's 10 years in Chapel Hill. SuperPrep magazine editor Allen Wallace said after National Letter of Intent signing day this year, "We are no longer surprised when North Carolina beats out Notre Dame for a player."

When he came to Chapel Hill, one of his first goals was to reestablish solid relationships with the state's high school coaches. He and his staff have done just that and UNC's football program is once again the dominant factor in the state. Even though Carolina has recruited top players from across the nation, more than half the roster is comprised of young men from the Tar Heel State.

Additionally, he has made a special effort to have former players feel welcome when they return to campus. A spring lettermen's outing has become a huge success, attracting players from all eras back to Chapel Hill.

"All the lettermen are fired up at how well Mack and his assistant coaches are doing," says Brian Bollinger, a first-team All-ACC offensive lineman in 1991 and member of the 1994 Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers. "It's fun to be working in Charlotte and see the benefits of being an alumni and former football player. Being a letterman it makes you proud to see how well the program is spoken of, not only throughout North Carolina but nationally."

As Brown's work has resulted in improvement on Saturday afternoons, it has also benefited his players who have decided to try careers in professional football. Over the past six seasons 25 Tar Heels have been selected in the National Football League draft. Florida State is the only ACC school to have more players drafted in that period. Thirty players who have played at Carolina for Brown have been drafted, and 21 of the 30 have been selected in the first four rounds of the NFL Draft. Marcus Jones and Thomas Smith were first-round selections; Jones by Tampa Bay in 1996 and Smith by Buffalo in 1993. Additionally, in the past six years 30 other Carolina players have signed free agent contracts with NFL teams.

"You go to a place that's won this many games and you see what you expect to see, and that is a lot of fine athletes and good football players," Washington Redskins head coach Norv Turner said this spring at a pre-draft workout in Chapel Hill. "The thing about these guys is that they are extremely well coached, very disciplined and from my exposure, the type of players you want in your program. They go to school, they graduate and they don't have off-field problems."

Brown came to Carolina from Tulane where he had rejuvenated the Green Wave's sagging football fortunes in just three years, taking his team to only its fifth bowl game since 1940 in his final season.

However, Brown may be best known for helping develop some of the most explosive offenses in the college game. As an offensive coordinator and assistant, he directed record-setting attacks at Oklahoma, LSU and Iowa State.

Brown's 1987 Tulane team completed one of the fastest turnarounds in the country. Brown went to Tulane on December 16, 1984, as head coach and was also appointed the school's athletic director the following April. The Green Wave had suffered three straight losing seasons before Brown's arrival in New Orleans.

In his third season, he led Tulane to a 6-5 regular-season mark and earned a spot opposite Washington in the Independence Bowl. In the process, the Green Wave set school records for total offense and points. Tulane ranked 11th in the nation in scoring, averaging 32.5 points a game.

Brown had begun his full-time coaching career at Southern Mississippi in 1974, working with receivers for four seasons. He then spent one year coaching that same position at Memphis State.

At Iowa State, from 1979 to 1981, Brown served as receivers coach for one year and as offensive coordinator for the last two seasons. In his time as offensive coordinator the Cyclones broke 17 school and Big Eight Conference records and produced league leaders in rushing and total offense.

He then took an assistant's job at LSU where he ran the offense in 1982. The Tigers went 8-2-1 and played in the Orange Bowl.

That led to his first head coaching job at Appalachian State. In 1983, at the age of 32, he directed the Mountaineers to a 6-5 record. However, he left after that one season when he became the offensive coordinator at Oklahoma.

In his one year on Barry Switzer's staff, the Sooners were 9-2-1, won the Big Eight Championship and earned a berth in the Orange Bowl. Brown helped Oklahoma develop its best passing attack in years as he coached quarterbacks Danny Bradley, a first-team All-Big Eight selection, and Troy Aikman, three-time Super Bowl champion quarterback of the Dallas Cowboys.

Brown attended Vanderbilt and Florida State. He lettered twice as a running back for the Seminoles in 1971 and 1972. He finished work on his bachelor's degree in education at FSU in 1974. While there, he worked on a part-time basis, coaching receivers and the junior varsity. He earned his master's degree in administration from Southern Mississippi in 1976.

Brown, born Aug. 27, 1951, was a three-sport star at Putnam County High School, lettering three times in football.

In his tenure at Carolina Brown has been invited to coach in postseason all-star games on four occasions, including the Japan Bowl, the Hula Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game. He will direct the East squad in Palo Alto in 1999.

He was named the chairman of the Football Coaches' Committee and was named to the Board of Directors of the College Football Association. Brown was a member of the American Football Coaches Association's Ethics Committee and NCAA Rules Committee and was on the AFCA Public Relations Committee. He also was chairman of the AFCA committee which puts together the organization's summer manual.

Mack and his wife, Sally, have four children – Matt (22), Katherine (20), Barbara (17) and Chris (15). Sally is president of Marin Development and past president of PPP – the Public, Private Partnership, an organization which fostered improved relationship between the University and the town of Chapel Hill. She has also volunteered to chair the fundraising efforts for the UNC Black Cultural Center.

TIM BREWSTER

❑ Tight Ends

A full-time member of Coach Mack Brown's staff since 1990, tight ends coach Tim Brewster enters his ninth season at North Carolina and eighth in a full-time capacity. Brewster was a UNC volunteer assistant in 1989 before he was promoted to a full-time position prior to the 1990 season.

Brewster has coached the Atlantic Coast Conference first-team tight end in each of the last three seasons. Last year in Carolina's revitalized offense, tight end Freddie Jones caught 32 passes, a single-season school record for tight ends, and tied for third on the team with four touchdown catches. Jones was a third-team All-America by Football News and was elected by his teammates as a team captain following the regular season. In the 1997 NFL Draft, Jones was selected in the second round by the San Diego Chargers.

Jones was part of an offense that completed more passes than any other Tar Heel team and for the first time in school history had four players with 30 or more receptions. The Carolina offense averaged more than 30 points per game.

Brewster also has coached NFL tight ends Deems May and Minnesota Vikings' Greg DeLong. Brewster helped convert May from quarterback to tight end. DeLong, the first-team All-ACC tight end in 1994 after overcoming a knee injury, was twice named ACC Lineman of the Week that season.

Brewster is Carolina's liaison with the National Football League and is responsible for organizing the annual pro timing days in Chapel Hill.

Prior to joining Brown's staff, Brewster was the head coach at Central Catholic High School in Lafayette, Ind. He is one of seven current Carolina assistant coaches with previous head coaching experience. At Central, he developed the state's passing leader each year and won 15 of 23 games. Brewster coached the tight ends and offensive tackles at Purdue in 1986 and was a volunteer at Illinois for two years.

A former two-time All-Big Ten selection at Illinois, Brewster led the nation's tight ends in receiving in 1983 and captained the Illini to the 1983 Rose Bowl against UCLA. He graduated in 1983 with a degree in political science. After graduation, Brewster played professionally with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1984-85.

He and his wife, Cathleen, have three sons, Eric, Clint and Nolan.

KEN BROWNING

❑ Defensive Tackles ❑ Camp Coordinator

Entering his fourth season at Carolina, Ken Browning is one of the nation's most respected defensive tackles coach. After a long and successful high school coaching career, Browning joined the Tar Heel staff on Feb. 28, 1994.

Twice named the state's high school Coach of the Year, Browning brought that formula for success to Carolina. Since his arrival in Chapel Hill, Browning has tutored many outstanding players, including first-round NFL draft picks Marcus Jones and Rick Terry. Terry was the 22nd overall pick in the 1997 draft and Jones was a first-round selection of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1996. Andre Purvis was selected in the fifth round of the '97 Draft by the Bengals and Riddick Parker was competing for a job with the Seattle Seahawks.

A second-team All-ACC selection in 1996, Terry was named a team co-captain after the season. He finished his Tar Heel career with 72 tackles, including 13 sacks. In 1995, Jones earned first-team All-America honors, was the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year and set the school record for quarterback sacks.

A year ago, Carolina's defense ranked No. 1 in the country in scoring and turnover margin, second in the nation in total defense and third in run defense and pass effeciency defense. Defensive tackles Terry and Vonnie Holliday combined for 49 quarterback pressures, 94 tackles, 26.5 for losses and eight sacks.

In addition to his on field responsibilities with the defensive tackles, Browning also coordinates the Carolina football camp.

Browning was the head coach and athletic director at Northern High School for 18 years. He posted a 178-35 record and won the 1993 4-A state title and Shrine Bowl. Over his last three years, Northern built a 43-2 record and was named the North Carolina Coach of the Year by the Associated Press in 1992 and 1993. In 1988 he was elected as first president of the North Carolina football Coaches Association. He directed North Carolina to a 9-0 win over South Carolina in the Shrine Bowl as he became only the third coach to win both the state title and Shrine Bowl in the same year. Browning was the coach at Ledford High in Thomasville from 1970-75 before moving to Durham.

CLEVE BRYANT

❑ Wide Receivers ❑ Passing Game ❑ Recruiting Coordinator

Cleve Bryant is in the third year of his second stint as an assistant coach at North Carolina. Bryant, who is in his eighth year overall at UNC, is responsible for the Tar Heels' passing game and receivers. He coached quarterbacks and receivers at Carolina from 1978 to 1981 as a member of Dick Crum's staff.

Last season four Carolina players had 30 or more catches for the first time in school history. Two of those players were wide receivers Na Brown and L.C. Stevens. Brown had 52 catches and Stevens caught 44, including an ACC-best seven for touchdowns. Octavus Barnes overcame injury to catch six regular-season touchdown passes and one in the Gator Bowl. The Tar Heel passing game set school records for most completions (20.5 per game), yards (2,738) and touchdowns (23).

In 1995, Bryant coached quarterbacks and Carolina established school records for passing yards and completions, numbers which UNC then topped in 1996.

A standout quarterback at Ohio from 1966-70, Bryant led the Bobcats to the Mid-American Conference titles in 1967 and 1968. He was inducted into the Ohio University Hall of Fame in 1975 and the Citrus Bowl Hall of Fame in 1988.

Bryant left the Tar Heels in 1981 to coach the New England Patriots' running backs under Head Coach Ron Meyer. He was named head coach at Ohio in 1985 and served in that capacity until 1990. He then worked with receivers at Illinois in 1991 and at Texas from 1992 to 1994.

Bryant and his wife, Jean, have two sons, Rodney and Kyle. Jean is an Assistant Director in Carolina's Academic Support Program.

Highlights

Returned to Chapel Hill in 1995 after a 13-year absence • Coached the quarterbacks in 1995, a position he coached in his first stint at Carolina in 1978-81 • Developed quarterbacks Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins and Scott Stankavage • Bryant was a member of UNC teams which went to bowl games in 1979, 1980 and 1981 • UNC defeated Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl and Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl • The Tar Heels had a record of 34-12-1 record in those four years • Carolina won the 1980 ACC title, posted an 11-1 overall record that year and added a 10-2 season in 1981.

In his first year back at Carolina, he tutored Mike Thomas, who set UNC single-season passing records for most completions and yards and most yards of total offense • The Tar Heels set single-season school records for most yards passing, most pass completions, most pass attempts and most first downs by passing until those numbers were eclipsed last season • Two different players, tailback Leon Johnson and split end Octavus Barnes, each broke the previous single-season record for receptions in 1995.

Last year, the Tar Heel passing game set school records for most completions, yards and touchdowns as four players had 30 or more catches for the first time in UNC history • Two of those players were wide receivers Na Brown and L.C. Stevens.

Left the Tar Heels after the 1981 season to become the running backs coach with the New England Patriots under head coach Ron Meyer • The Patriots were second in the NFL in rushing in 1982 and third in the league in 1983 • He coached Tony Collins, who rushed for 1,049 yards in 1983, Sam Cunningham, the Pats' all-time leading rusher, Craig James, Mosi Tatupu and Mark Van Eeghen • New England had a 22-19 record in those three seasons.

Was the head coach at Ohio University from 1985-90 • Coached receivers at the University of Illinois under head coach John Mackovic and joined Mackovic in Texas as receivers coach for three years prior to his return to Chapel Hill • Worked with two of the Longhorns' finest receivers ever in Mike Adams and Lovell Pinkney • Two Texas receivers had more than 1,000 yards in 1994 • He was on the Texas staff when the Longhorns defeated the Tar Heels, 35-31, in the 1994 Sun Bowl.

Bryant played quarterback at Ohio University • He earned All-Mid-American Conference honors in 1967 and was the MAC Player of the Year in 1968 • He led the Bobcats to MAC titles in 1967 and 1968 • The latter year he accounted for five touchdowns, four passing and one by rush, a record which still stands, in the Tangerine Bowl (now called the Citrus Bowl) against Richmond • Was inducted into the Ohio University Hall of Fame in 1975, Citrus Bowl Hall of Fame in 1988 and Canton Oldtimers Hall of Fame in 1997.

Ron Case

❑ Defensive Backs

After directing one of the nation's best defensive secondaries a year ago, defensive backs coach Ron Case looks to make his second year even more successful.

In just his first season in Chapel Hill, Case coached a unit which intercepted 18 passes in 12 games and allowed only eight touchdown passes. Last fall the Tar Heels were second in the nation in total defense, third in pass efficiency defense and forced the fourth-highest number of turnovers in the country.

Cornerback Dre' Bly became the first freshman defensive player in college football history to earn first-team Associated Press All-America honors after Bly led the nation with 11 interceptions. Cornerback Robert Williams set a school record with 23 pass break-ups. Bly a consensus All-America, was first-team All-ACC and free safety Omar Brown and Williams were second-team picks.

Case came to Carolina from LSU, where the Tigers were first in the Southeastern Conference in pass defense in 1995. He spent six years at both Vanderbilt and Ole Miss and coached UNC defensive coordinator Carl Torbush at Carson-Newman.

He spent 13 years in the U.S. Marines after high school and played 11 years of football in the Corps. In 1969, while an undergraduate, he was the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Carson-Newman.

He was the head coach at his alma mater in 1978-79 and the assistant head coach and defensive coordinator at Richmond from 1980-82.

Case and his wife, Joan, have two children, David and Bonnie.

Highlights

Case joined the Carolina staff in January 1996 after spending 13 seasons coaching at three different schools in the Southeastern Conference • Rejoined Carl Torbush, the Tar Heels' defensive coordinator at Carolina • Torbush played for Case at Carson-Newman College in the early 1970s • They led Carson-Newman to the 1972 NAIA championship game.

Has coached defensive backs each of the last 18 years • Last year Carolina led the nation in scoring defense and turnover ratio, was second in total defense and third in pass efficiency • Coached consensus All-America Dre' Bly, who was the nation's interception leader • Cornerback Robert Williams and safety Omar Brown were second-team All-ACC selections in 1996 • Williams set the school-record for pass break-ups.

At LSU, the Tigers' secondary led the SEC and were sixth in the nation in pass efficiency defense • LSU allowed opponents to complete just 46 percent of their passes, gave up a league-low 1,907 yards in the air and allowed a league-low eight touchdown passes • LSU played in a bowl game for the first time since 1989 • The Tigers defeated Michigan State, 45-26, in the Independence Bowl.

He spent six years at Vanderbilt, including the first two years in which he served under head coach Watson Brown, brother of current UNC coach Mack Brown • In 1989 the Commodores held their opponents to less than 50 percent completions and in 1991 Vanderbilt ranked second in the SEC in pass defense • He went to two bowl games while at Ole Miss and helped the Rebels post the SEC's number-one rated defense in 1986.

From 1980-82 he was the assistant head coach and defensive coordinator at the University of Richmond • That stint followed a two-year run as the head coach and athletic director at Carson-Newman • He led his alma mater to the school's first winning record in five years in 1979 • He had begun his coaching career at Carson-Newman in 1969 and was defensive coordinator and linebackers coach until 1973 • He was also a student at Carson-Newman at the same time he coached defense.

Spent 13 years in the U.S. Marine Corps after graduating from high school • Served in Vietnam and was awarded the National Defense Medal with three stars, the Vietnam Campaign Medal and a Combat Action Ribbon • He also played football for 11 years in the Marine Corps, earning All-Marine honors in 1964.

Greg Davis

❑ Offensive Coordinator ❑ Quarterbacks

Second-year assistant coach Greg Davis helped bring a new offensive philosophy to Carolina last season and the results were unprecedented.

Last fall, the Tar Heels averaged better than 30 points and 367 yards per game while setting school records for most pass completions, most passing yards, most first downs passing and highest scoring margin since joining the ACC. Quarterbacks Chris Keldorf and Oscar Davenport set single-season school records for most pass completions, passing yards and touchdowns. Keldorf set UNC marks for completions, touchdowns and fewest interceptions en route to being named first-team All-ACC. Davenport replaced an injured Keldorf in the 11th game and led Carolina past Duke and then earned MVP honors in the Gator Bowl.

Davis coordinated an offensive attack which featured four players who made at least 30 receptions (two receivers, a tight end and a running back) and a tailback who gained over 900 yards rushing. The Tar Heels converted an amazing 50.5 percent on third-down opportunities and scored touchdowns in the red zone on 70.7 percent of their chances.

Davis, who succeeded Mack Brown as head coach at Tulane, came to UNC from the University of Georgia, where he helped coach SEC standout Eric Zeier. The Davis-Zeier combination led the SEC in total offense and was seventh nationally.

A 1973 graduate of McNeese State, Davis coached quarterbacks at Texas A&M from 1978-84. At McNeese State he played in the 1971 Grantland Rice Bowl. He coached receivers at Tulane from 1985-87 when he worked with Brown and led the Green Wave from 1988-91. He also coached at Arkansas for two years.

He and his wife, Patsy, have two children, Greg Jr. and Stacey. Greg Jr. is a graduate assistant coach on the Tar Heel staff.

Highlights

Directed the Carolina offense to one of the most productive seasons in school history • Coached Chris Keldorf, who became the first All-ACC quarterback at Carolina since Chris Kupec in 1974 • After Keldorf was injured, Oscar Davenport quarterbacked the Tar Heels to a 20-13 victory over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl • Davenport was named the game's MVP • Davis' offensive attack set school records for pass completions, passing yards, passing yards per game, pass attempts, touchdown passes, first-downs passing and lowest percentage of passes intercepted.

Came to Carolina in January 1996 after spending two years as the passing game coordinator at the University of Georgia • Davis helped lead the Bulldogs to the Peach Bowl in 1995, despite injuries to the team's two most experienced quarterbacks • Converted slotback Hines Ward into the team's starting quarterback • Ward set Georgia postseason records as he completed 31 of 59 passes for 413 yards in the Peach Bowl • Three different Georgia quarterbacks passed for at least 200 yards in a game in 1995.

In 1994 he coached Eric Zeier, who earned first-team All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association • Zeier was a third-round pick of the Cleveland Browns and started several games for the Browns as a rookie • Zeier completed 259 of 433 passes for 3,396 yards and 24 touchdowns in 1994 under Davis' direction • Georgia set single-season records that year for most passing yards (3,721) and most total yards (5,135).

Davis also has coached quarterbacks at Arkansas, Tulane and Texas A&M • Coached Greg Kubiak and Kevin Murray at Texas A&M, Marc Zeno and Terrence Jones at Tulane • In 1987 the Green Wave set school records for both points and total offense.

Has coached in five bowl games, including the 1977 Hall of Fame Bowl and 1981 Independence Bowl while at Texas A&M, the 1987 Independence Bowl while at Tulane, the 1995 Peach Bowl at Georgia and last season's 1997 Gator Bowl • He played in the 1971 Grantland Rice Bowl while attending McNeese State University.

Was assistant head coach under Mack Brown at Tulane from 1985-87 and succeeded Brown as the Green Wave's head coach • Directed the Tulane program from 1988-91.

KEN MACK

❑ Running Backs

A three-year letterwinner at Carolina from 1976-78, Ken Mack returned to Chapel Hill for the 1996 season after spending 14 seasons at the University of Virginia. Now entering his second year on the Tar Heel coaching staff, Mack is responsible for the running backs, a position he played at UNC.

Last season, Mack coached second-team All-ACC tailback and first-team All-ACC specialist Leon Johnson, who had 913 yards rushing, 39 receptions and 12 touchdowns.

Mack played running back for coach Bill Dooley in 1976-77 and for Dick Crum in 1978. He was a member of Carolina teams which played in the 1976 Peach Bowl and 1977 Liberty Bowl.

The Wayne County, N.C. native coached offensive backs at Howard University in 1980 and defensive ends at the U.S. Naval Academy in 1981. The following year he joined George Welsh's staff at Virginia where he coached running backs for 14 years.

Mack has coached some of the most outstanding running backs in ACC history. Johnson finished his career as the league's alltime all-purpose yardage leader and is eighth in career rushing. At Virginia, where he was a member of eight bowl game staffs, Mack coached Barry Word, who set the school's single-season rushing record in 1985; Terry Kirby, who established UVa's career rushing record; and Tiki Barber, who led the ACC in all-purpose yardage in 1995, Mack's last year in Charlottesville.

Highlights

Mack returned to his alma mater in 1996 after 14 years as an assistant coach at the University of Virginia • Is the only member of the coaching staff who played collegiately in Chapel Hill • Last year he coached second-team All-ACC running back Leon Johnson, who finished his career as the ACC's all-purpose yardage leader.

Played running back for Coach Bill Dooley in 1976-77 and for Coach Dick Crum in 1978 • Member of UNC teams which played in the 1976 Peach Bowl and 1977 Liberty Bowl • Received the Spring Hustler Award as a senior football player at Carolina in 1978.

Began his coaching career as a part-time assistant under Crum in 1979 • From there he moved on to Howard University in 1980 and the U.S. Naval Academy in 1981 • Began a 15-year run with Coach George Welsh at Navy • Moved with Welsh to Virginia in 1982 and coached defensive ends for one year.

Moved to running backs in 1983 and spent 13 years in that capacity in Charlottesville • Coached six of the top 10 alltime leading rushers in Cavalier history • The Cavaliers played in eight bowl games, were ranked number one in the country in 1990 and shared the ACC title in 1989 • Under his direction, several Cavalier running backs etched their names into the school's record book.

He coached UVa's alltime leading rusher, Terry Kirby, who gained 3,348 yards from 1989-92 • Kirby was twice named first-team All-ACC and has played three seasons with the Miami Dolphins and one with the 49ers • Coached Barry Word, who broke Virginia's 36-year-old single-season rushing yardage record with 1,224 yards in 1985 • Word was named ACC Player of the Year in 1985 and went on to a productive NFL career with the Saints, Chiefs, Vikings and Cardinals • Word's single-season mark stood for a decade until last year when Tiki Barber topped it with 1,397 yards • Barber was second in the ACC and 20th in the nation at 116.4 yards per game • Barber rushed for 193 yards and two touchdowns in Virginia's upset-win over No. 2 ranked Florida State in 1995 • Fullback Charles Way was a sixth round draft pick of the New York Giants in 1995 and started at fullback the last two years.

Coached in the 1981 Liberty Bowl, 1984 and 1995 Peach Bowls, 1987 All-American Bowl, 1989 Florida Citrus Bowl, 1990 USF&G Sugar Bowl, 1991 Gator Bowl, 1993 Carquest Bowl, 1994 Independence Bowl and 1997 Gator Bowl.

Donnie Thompson

❑ Defensive Ends

The second-longest tenured full-time assistant coach at Carolina, Donnie Thompson enters his ninth season with the Tar Heels. He joined the staff in 1989 and is responsible for the defensive ends.

Last season Carolina's defensive ends were among the top players in the ACC. Thompson has helped to develop Mike Pringley, Greg Ellis and Teto Simpson to form one of the top units in the country. Ellis has earned first-team All-ACC honors in each of the last two seasons and is just one sack shy from breaking Marcus Jones' career school record. Ellis also took second-team All-America honors last year.

Thompson coached Jones as he broke Lawrence Taylor's career sack record. Jones was a first-round draft pick of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1996. Thompson also coached Bernardo Harris, a second-team All-ACC linebacker in 1993 and a member of the Super Bowl champion Green Bay Packers. Thompson coached NFL players Chris Doleman at the University of Pittsburgh and Robert Jones at East Carolina.

Thompson also coaches the punt block unit. Bracey Walker was named Sports Illustrated's Special Teams Player of Year in 1993 due to his four blocked punts.

A native of Bogalusa, La., Thompson was a 1975 graduate of Connecticut where he was an All-East linebacker. He also has coached at UConn, Pittsburgh, Western Kentucky and East Carolina.

He has two children, Don and Amie.

Will Owens

Highlights

Thompson is entering his 22nd season as a collegiate coach, all on defense • Has worked at both linebacker positions and the line • Was an All-Yankee Conference and All-East linebacker at Connecticut • He captained the Huskies in 1974 and earned team Most Valuable Player honors.

For the past two years he has coached Greg Ellis, a first-team all-conference performer in 1995 and 1996 and a second-team All-America selection in 1996 • Ellis is just one sack shy of Marcus Jones' school career record • Also coached Mike Pringley, Teto Simpson and Russell Davis last season • In 1995 Ellis became the first sophomore defensive lineman at Carolina to earn first-team All-ACC honors since current San Diego Charger Reuben Davis did so in 1985 • Tutored Russell Davis in 1995 as Davis was named the Tar Heels' rookie of the year.

Helped develop All-America Marcus Jones in 1994, who played defensive end his junior season before moving back to tackle as a senior • Thompson also coached Oscar Sturgis that year, a converted tight end, who was a member of the 1995 Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys.

In 1993, the Tar Heels featured Bernardo Harris, one of the top outside linebackers in the conference • Harris made 90 tackles in 1992, the most by an Carolina OLB since Lawrence Taylor • Harris received second-team All-ACC recognition and now is a Green Bay Packer • Also coached former Tar Heel Jonathan Perry, who earned a share of UNC's Most Valuable Defensive Player award in 1992 • Eric Gash was a second-team All-ACC selection in 1990 and 1991.

Thompson also coaches the Tar Heels' punt block team • Carolina blocked 17 punts from 1990-93 • In 1993, UNC blocked four punts, two of which were recovered for touchdowns • A pair of blocked punts, one of which led to the tying score, was a spark in Carolina's 1993 Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State • Sports Illustrated named Bracey Walker, who blocked four kicks in 1993 and eight in his career, its 1993 National Special Teams Player of the Year.

During his career Thompson has developed four first round draft picks, including, while at Pitt, Bill Maas of Green Bay, Chris Doleman of Minnesota (now with San Francisco), ECU's Robert Jones of the Cowboys (now with the Rams) and Jones of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers • He also coached eventual NFL players Ernie Logan, John Jett and Vince Smith while in Greenville.

One of Thompson's pupils, Greg Ellis, is one-half sack shy of breaking the Carolina record for sacks held by another of his proteges, Marcus Jones.

❑ Defensive Coordinator ❑ Linebackers

The architect of the Carolina defense which has finished No. 1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference in each of the last two years is Carl Torbush, now in his 10th year at UNC. Last year he was named the National Defensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Quarterly.

Torbush is the only remaining member of Mack Brown's original Carolina coaching staff and serves as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach.

During his tenure, Carolina's defense has developed into one of the nation's best. Last fall, the UNC defense ranked first in the nation in points allowed per game, second in total yards allowed per game, third in pass efficiency defense and run defense. The Tar Heels forced 34 turnovers in the regular season, the fourth-most in the country, and forced West Virginia, which had committed the fewest turnovers in the country, to turn the ball over four times in the Gator Bowl.

In 1996 Carolina allowed just 10.0 points and 225.6 yards per game. Three Tar Heel defenders - cornerback Dre' Bly (consensus first team), linebacker Brian Simmons (second team), defensive end Greg Ellis (second team) -earned All-America honors. Seven of the 11 starters were first- or second-team All-ACC selections.

Torbush has coached some of the top linebackers in Carolina history. Dwight Hollier, Tommy Thigpen, Eric Gash, Bernardo Harris, Kerry Mock, Eddie Mason and Mike Morton all earned NFL opportunities.

Torbush is a 1974 graduate of Carson-Newman College and is a member of that school's athletic hall of fame. He is in his 22nd season as a college coach having worked at Baylor, Southeastern Louisiana, Louisiana Tech and Mississippi. He was the defensive coordinator at Ole Miss for four years and coached the Southeastern Conference's top unit in 1986. He came to UNC in 1988 after a year as head coach at Louisiana Tech. He and his wife, Janet, who has her Ph.D. in education, have a son, Trey (7).

Highlights

Has developed Carolina into one of the premier defensive teams in the nation • The Tar Heels led the ACC in total defense in each of the last two years • Last season, UNC was first in the nation in scoring defense, second in total defense and third against both the pass and run • Three players earned All-America honors (Dre' Bly, Brian Simmons, Greg Ellis) • UNC only allowed 10.0 points and 225.6 yards per game • Simmons was the 11th all-conference linebacker in Torbush's nine years at Carolina.

Carolina's defense was sixth in the country in total defense at 267.3 yards per game in 1995 • The next closest-rated team in the conference allowed nearly 60 more yards per game • Second in the ACC in pass efficiency defense, second in scoring defense, first in first downs allowed and third in rushing defense • It was the first UNC team to lead the ACC in total defense since 1983 • The Tar Heels also led the league in sacks • Defensive Tackle Marcus Jones was 1995 ACC Defensive Player of the Year and consensus All-America.

In 1994, Carolina was third in the ACC and 27th in the nation in total defense, giving up 319.3 yards per game • The Tar Heels were fourth in the league and 16th nationally in rushing defense (115.2 ypg) • All three starting linebackers made NFL rosters in 1994, including Mike Morton (Raiders), Eddie Mason (Jets) and Kerry Mock (Buccaneers).

In 1993 the Tar Heels ranked second in the conference in total defense and run defense • UNC led the ACC in quarterback sacks, ranked seventh in the nation in run defense (102.5 ypg) and 21st in the country in total defense (322.3 ypg) • Seven members of the defensive unit earned first-, second- or third-team All-ACC honors in 1993.

Dwight Hollier was taken in the fourth round of the 1992 draft by the Miami Dolphins • In 1990, the Tar Heels set a school record and led the ACC with 45 QB sacks.

Was head coach at Louisiana Tech in 1987.

Is a native of East Spencer, N.C. • All-state baseball and football player at Austin-East High in Knoxville • Attended Tennessee for one year, transferred to Carson-Newman and graduated from the Jefferson City, Tenn., school in 1974 • Was first-team All-America at Carson-Newman in both football and baseball and played a year in the Kansas City Royals' organization • Member of the Carson-Newman and Knoxville Halls of Fame • Named to the Carson-Newman football and baseball teams of the century.

EDDIE WILLIAMSON

❑ Assistant Head Coach ❑ Offensive Line

Eddie Williamson is in his fifth season at Carolina as the offensive line coach and third as assistant head coach.

Last year center Jeff Saturday earned first-team All-ACC honors as the Tar Heel offense set numerous passing records and averaged more than 30 points per outing. Carolina averaged 367.5 total yards per game, which ranked third in the ACC.

Carolina led the ACC in rushing in each of Williamson's first two years at UNC and has established single-season school passing marks in 1995 and 1996. Offensive tackles Russell Babb, Curtis Parker and Ethan Albright, a member of the Buffalo Bills, guard Shawn Hocker and center Saturday have earned All-ACC recognition under Williamson's tutelage.

A graduate of Davidson College, Williamson has coached linemen at Furman, Duke Baylor, Georgia, South Carolina, Wake Forest and North Carolina.

Williamson returned to Chapel Hill 16 years after he served as an academic counselor at UNC under then-head coach Bill Dooley. Williamson, who is in his 23rd year as a college coach, was the head coach at VMI from 1985-88. He is one of seven Tar Heel assistant coaches with previous head coaching experience.

Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, Williamson was the line coach at Wake Forest as the Deacons won eight games, including the Independence Bowl. His star pupil, Ben Coleman, was a Kodak All-America, won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the ACC's best lineman and was a second-round pick in the 1993 NFL draft by the Phoenix Cardinals.

Eddie and his wife, Patty, have a son, Eddie, and two daughters, Carrie and Tricia.

Highlights

In his fifth year as offensive line coach at UNC • Carolina averaged 367.5 yards per game last season • Center Jeff Saturday garnered first-team All-ACC honors at center • Leon Johnson rushed for 913 yards behind the UNC offensive line and had 10 rushing touchdowns.

The Tar Heels averaged 396.5 yards of offense per game in 1995 • Offensive line allowed just 12 quarterback sacks on the season, despite Carolina attempting more passes than any other year in school history prior to 1996 • Coached center Jeff Saturday and right tackle Russell Babb to honorable mention all-conference honors.

In 1994, he was charged with rebuilding the line after losing four senior starters to graduation • Also lost two potential starters to injury, one in preseason and another in the fourth week of the season • After their injuries, Babb started at right guard for four games before suffering a broken fibula against Virginia • He was replaced by Mike Hobgood in the final four games of the season • That unit was led by second-team All-ACC right tackle Roge Purgason • Despite their youth, the offensive linemen led the Tar Heels to a league-leading 226.9 rushing yards per game • Carolina also allowed only 16 sacks.

In 1993, the Tar Heels produced two 1,000-yard backs and averaged 253 yards rushing, the top figure in the ACC by more than 30 yards per game • That was also the seventh-highest total in the country • The line allowed just 20 quarterback sacks in 12 games • The Tar Heels also had the fewest number of penalties in the ACC despite playing a 12th regular-season game • Tackle Ethan Albright, now a Miami Dolphin, was a first-team All-ACC choice and tackle Curtis Parker and guard Shawn Hocker were second-team selections • The Tar Heels had four players receive ACC Lineman-of-the-Week honors.

Williamson returned to Chapel Hill after 16 years away from the Carolina football program • Held his first job following graduate work as an academic counselor with the Tar Heels from March 1976 to March 1977 • Worked for UNC head coach Bill Dooley • Came back to UNC from Wake Forest where he was again linked with Dooley • Was the Demon Deacons' offensive line coach and also coordinated the Deacs' offense in 1991 and 1992 • In his 21st year as a college coach • Has coached offensive line for all but five years and four of those years (1985-88) he was the head coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Also was offensive line coach at Furman, Duke, Baylor, Georgia and South Carolina • In 1992, one of his players, Ben Coleman, was a Kodak All-America and the recipient of the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as top lineman in the ACC • Coleman was selected in the second round of the 1993 draft by the Cardinals • Has been a member of seven bowl staffs.

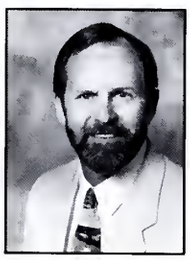
Kevin Best is in his second year as Assistant Athletic Media Relations Director at the University of North Carolina. Best returned to his alma mater in June of 1996 after a two-year stint as the Assistant Sports Information Director at the University of Nebraska.

Best, 26, assists the Director of Media Relations for Football and Men's Basketball in all areas pertaining to those sports and coordinates publicity for men's and women's track and field and cross country. He is the editor of the football game program and co-editor of the football and men's basketball media guides. The 1997 men's basketball guide was judged No. 2 in the country.

At Nebraska, the Raleigh, N.C., native was in charge of publicity for the Cornhuskers' women's volleyball and men's basketball teams. The volleyball team won the 1995 NCAA title and the men's basketball team claimed the 1996 NIT championship.

Best received his bachelor's degree in political science with a minor in business administration from Carolina in 1993. He worked as a student assistant in the Tar Heel SID office from 1991-93. Following graduation Best served a one-year internship at Georgia where he was responsible for track, gymnastics and many football requests.



John Blanchard

Assistant Director of Athletics & Director of the Academic Support Program

John Blanchard is beginning his 13th year as Director of the Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes and second year as Assistant Director of Athletics.

In his capacity with the Academic Support Program he oversees all aspects of the program and supervises a full-time staff of seven. As Assistant Director of Athletics, Blanchard oversees the eligibility certification process for all student-athletes, is the department liaison for the internship program with the Department of Physical Education's graduate program in Sports Administration and oversees the exit interview process with senior student-athletes.

In Blanchard's first five years at Carolina, the number of student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll doubled, from 85 in 1985-86 to 170 in 1989-90. In 1995-96, a UNC-record 213 student-athletes were named to the ACC Honor Roll. In addition, the College Football Association has honored eight out of the last nine UNC classes for graduating over 70% of its players.

Blanchard received the 1996 Southern Region Giant Steps Award for his work helping student-athletes find balance in their athletic and academic lives. He was also one of two finalists that year for the national award.

A native of Sacramento, Calif., Blanchard is a 1975 graduate of Stanford University where he obtained his B.A. in history and was a 1974 first-team All-West Coast free safety. He obtained his master's degree from San Diego State in 1981 in social work with an emphasis in children, youth and family services.

Prior to coming to UNC he served as the first director of the Orange County Volunteers for Youth from July of 1982 to May of 1985. Volunteers for Youth is a non-profit agency serving the youth of Orange County primarily through matching youth on a one-to-one basis with adult volunteers. In the academic year 1981-82 Blanchard was a sixth grade teacher at Friendship Christian Schools in Raleigh.

Blanchard is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A), represents UNC in the National Consortium for Academics and Sports, and serves on a number of UNC committees.

Blanchard is married to the former Dawn London. They have a daughter, Janel (12), and two sons, Shaun (10) and Gabriel (5).

Matt Bowers is in his second year as an Assistant Athletic Media Relations Director. Overall, he begins his seventh year as part of Carolina's Athletic Media Relations Office.

Bowers' responsibilities include handling the publicity needs of the men's soccer, volleyball, wrestling, gymnastics, baseball and women's tennis teams. In addition, he assists in the day-to-day publicity of the UNC men's basketball and football teams and is the assistant curator of the Smith Center Memorabilia Room.

A 1994 graduate of Carolina, Bowers earned a B.A. with honors in history and psychology. He completed his honors thesis in history and was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and Psi Chi, the psychology honor society. As an undergraduate, Bowers worked for three years as a student assistant in the UNC Sports Information Office. Following his graduation, he was the office's intern for another year and a half.

As the intern, Bowers was the primary contact for volleyball, wrestling, baseball and women's lacrosse in addition to aiding with the day-to-day promotion of football and men's basketball. He served as host to the 1996 ACC Wrestling Championships and accompanied the women's basketball team to the 1995 NCAA West Regional in Los Angeles, Calif.

Bowers, 25, is a native of Chapel Hill. He is a fervent record collector and devotee of the Dallas Cowboys.

Rick Brewer

Associate Athletic Director for Communications and Sports Information

Rick Brewer is in his 30th year in the Carolina Media Relations Office and his 23rd as its director. In January 1996 Brewer was promoted to Associate Athletic Director for Communications and Sports Information. Brewer oversees media relations for the entire 28-sport program.

Brewer is a native of North Carolina, growing up in Winston-Salem and Greensboro. He is a 1971 UNC graduate with a degree in journalism. In July 1991, he was inducted into the College Sports Information Directors of America Hall of Fame. Brewer was the president of CoSIDA during the 1995-96 academic season.

At the 1996 Final Four Brewer received the Katha Quinn Award from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association for long and meritorious service to college basketball.

A student assistant in the sports information office for three years, Brewer was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975. He was promoted to assistant athletic director for sports information and public relations in July 1990.

In 1984, Brewer served as a press officer for the United States Olympic Committee at the Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. In that role, he served as a liaison between the media covering the Games and the American athletes and coaches. He has handled similar duties at two U.S. Olympic Festivals - at Indianapolis in 1982 and on the Carolina campus in 1987.

For the past 14 years, Brewer has been a member of the Media Coordination Committee which assists the media at the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championships.

He is a member of the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Brian Davis

Associate Director of the Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes

Brian Davis begins his 14th year on the North Carolina staff, serving as Associate Director of the Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes.

Davis works as the primary academic counselor for the Carolina football team. In that role, he advises players in the area of course selection and scheduling, career planning and rules and regulations pertaining to eligibility.

In addition, Davis monitors the academic progress of the players throughout the school year. His work has paid off as Carolina has graduated over 70 percent of its football players in nine of the last 10 years.

Davis also coordinates and supervises the operation of the Student-Athlete Development Center, scheduling and overseeing study halls and language and computer labs. He assists John Blanchard in running the entire UNC Academic Affairs program.

Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, he worked as an assistant athletic academic counselor at Iowa State. A 1981 graduate, Davis received both his B.A. and master's of science from Iowa State. He was a three-year letterman of the Cyclones' Big Eight championship track team, competing as a long jumper and sprinter.

Davis used to be an avid golfer and fisherman, is married to the former Brenda Perry. Now, however, the couple has twin sons, Spencer and Cameron.

Jeff Elliott

Senior Associate Athletic Director

Jeff Elliott serves as Senior Associate Athletic Director. Elliott took over his current duties in July 1990 after coming to UNC in the summer of 1988 as Assistant Athletic Director and Director of the Smith Center.

In his role at UNC, Elliott oversees the UNC athletic department's budget, the office of business and finance, ticket office, games operations, concessions and the management of Finley Golf Course. Elliott also supervises operations of the Smith Center and oversees the use of all UNC athletic facilities, including the planning and construction of new venues. He was promoted to Senior Associate A.D. in June 1995.

Elliott received a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration in 1969 from Louisiana State University and an MBA in 1972, also from LSU. He was selected for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership society, in 1979.

Prior to working at Carolina, the Farmerville, La., native served as an administrative assistant in the LSU athletic department for two years. He also served as business manager of the LSU Assembly Center from 1973-76 and as the Center's assistant director from 1976-81. From 1981-88, Elliott was the director of the LSU Assembly Center.

He was tournament director of the 1986 NCAA Men's Basketball Southeast Regional, a member of the host committee of the 1987 NCAA Men's Basketball Final Four and tournament director of the 1988 Southeastern Conference Men's Basketball Tournament. He also was the tournament coordinator for the 1979 NCAA Men's Gymnastics Championship.

He is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the International Association of Auditorium Managers, the Carolina Building Managers Association and the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club. He also serves on the Executive Committee of the Sports Management Institute and on the Advisory Council of North Carolina Amateur Sports.

Bruce Hemphill

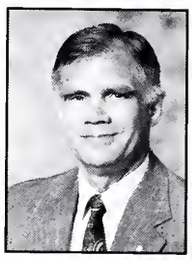
Assistant to the Athletic Director

Bruce Hemphill is entering his seventh season at the University of North Carolina. He joined the Tar Heel staff just prior to the end of the 1990 season as recruiting coordinator and held that position for four years. Hemphill is now an assistant to athletic director Dick Baddour and handles matters of compliance as well as special projects as assigned by the athletic director.

Hemphill is in his 20th season as a college coach or administrator. He is a 1977 graduate of Louisiana State University where he lettered three years in football and won All-Academic Southeastern Conference honors at wide receiver. He served as a graduate assistant in 1977-78 and was the Tigers' recruiting director in 1979. Hemphill earned his master's in education administration at LSU in 1979. He then served as LSU's head junior varsity coach and director of computer scouting from 1980-83. Hemphill became the supervisor for Health and Physical Education for the Louisiana Department of Education in 1984.

Following a short stint there he worked as an assistant coach in charge of wide receivers at Louisiana Tech for two seasons. He was recruiting coordinator at N.C. State from 1987 to 1989. He then became the assistant recruiting coordinator at South Carolina and held that post until he came to Chapel Hill in November 1990.

Bruce was born on Christmas Day 1955, in Sulphur, La., where he was an all-state prepster at Sulphur High. He is married to the former Susan Jones. The couple has a son, Jamie (2), and an infant daughter, Hayden.



Dan Hooker

Head Football Athletic Trainer/Coordinator of Physical Therapy, Athletic Training

Dan Hooker is heading into his ninth season as head athletic trainer for the University of North Carolina football team. Hooker has been on the Carolina athletic training staff since 1972.

In addition to his work with the gridiron Tar Heels, Hooker also coordinates athletic training and physical therapy at Carolina. He has held that position since 1984.

A native of Danville, Va., Hooker initially came to Chapel Hill to direct the physical education department athletic training education program. He has served as head trainer for a number of Tar Heel teams, including football. He has worked with four lacrosse national championship teams.

Hooker earned his Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond in 1967. He also received a Master of Science degree in secondary education from the University of Southern California in 1971 and Ph.D in education from Carolina in 1981. He became a Board Certified Sports Physical Therapist in 1987.

Dan and his wife, Sharon, have two sons, Sean and Stefan.

The St. Albans, W. Va., native placed second in the country in the Hearst sportswriting contest, 17th in Hearst's personality profile and was a finalist at the National Writing Championships in San Francisco. She also was the recipient of the Mary Graber Award for sportswriting from the Association of Women in Sports Media and the Larry and Carolyn Keith Award for excellence in sports journalism from the UNC School of Journalism and Mass Communications.

Beth Miller

Senior Associate Director of Athletics

Beth Miller was promoted in June 1995 to the role of Senior Associate Director of Athletics. In her present capacity, Miller is responsible for supervising the highly-successful 26-sport Olympic program at UNC. She has handled similar duties under different titles since 1985.

Miller is a 1968 alumnus of Appalachian State University with a B.S. degree in health and physical education. She also earned an M.A. from ASU in the same fields a year later. She went on to receive a Doctor of Arts degree in physical education at Middle Tennessee State University in 1974.

From 1969-72, she served as head women's volleyball and basketball coach at ASU while also serving as an instructor in the PE and health department there. She came to Carolina in 1974 as an assistant professor of health and physical education and an assistant women's basketball and volleyball coach. She was named head women's volleyball coach in 1975 and led the Tar Heels to four successive Atlantic Coast Conference titles from 1980-83 and five post-season tournament appearances. She also coached softball at Carolina in 1984.

In 1979, she took on added duties as athletic business manager at Carolina. She retired from coaching volleyball after the 1983 season, but continued to handle all financial affairs for the department through 1987. In 1985, she was also put in charge of the Olympic Sports program.

Miller is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators and the Division I-A Women's Athletic Administrator's Steering Committee. She also serves on the Executive Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the Board of Trustees of the N.C. Health and Fitness Foundation and the UNC Housing Advisory Board.

Bob Savod

Associate Athletic Director & Director of Marketing

Bob Savod, a native of New York, N.Y., and CCNY alumnus, serves as Associate Athletic Director and Director of Marketing at the University of North Carolina. He has been with the Athletic Department since 1976.

Savod's duties involve designing major marketing campaigns for the sale of football and basketball tickets. He is also responsible for corporate sponsorships, coordinating radio and TV affairs, serves as liaison with the Tar Heel Sports Network, Carolina Blue and the UNC trademark licensing program. Additional duties include serving as marketing director for the Dean Smith and Mack Brown TV and radio shows, coordinates half-time shows and negotiating media contracts.

Savod designed the specifications and coordinated the athletic department's negotiations for its "Multi-Media" program linking all radio and TV properties, game programs and other sponsorships into a "one stop" shopping package.

He was one of the first full-time sports marketing directors in the country and designed the "Carolina Fever" campaign in the late 1970s which helped sell out Kenan Stadium for 12 consecutive years. In 1981, the athletic department was named North Carolina

Willie Scroggs

Associate Athletic Director/Operations

Willie Scroggs is beginning his 17th year as the Director for Operations at the University of North Carolina. Scroggs, who retired following the 1990 season after 12 years as Carolina's head lacrosse coach, now devotes his entire attention to his duties in athletic administration. He oversees all game operations for football, men's basketball and the 26 non-revenue sports at Carolina as well as supervising all outdoor facilities and the department's scholarship and transportation programs.

The Baltimore, Md., native came to Carolina in 1978 as head lacrosse coach after being an assistant football and assistant lacrosse coach at his alma mater, Johns Hopkins University, for six seasons. At Carolina, Scroggs worked as assistant business manager and assistant to the athletic director, for three years before accepting his present position. He was also assistant director of the Smith Center from 1986-90. He was the tournament director for the NCAA Wrestling Championships held at the Smith Center in 1994 and the NCAA Women's Soccer Championship at Fetzer Field.

Scroggs' 12 lacrosse teams compiled a record of 120-37, a winning percentage of .764. He led Tar Heel teams to their first NCAA and ACC championships in the sport, winning national crowns in 1981, 1982 and 1986 along with six ACC titles. The 1981 National Coach of the Year, Scroggs led his Tar Heels to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances and a 17-8 tourney record from 1980-90. His teams reached the Final Four of the NCAA Tournament nine times.

Scroggs served on the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Committee for six years, including as chairman in 1987-88 and 1992-95. He is a 1965 alumnus of Baltimore's City College High School and a 1969 Johns Hopkins graduate. He played lacrosse on three Blue Jay national championship teams as a midfielder. He coached lacrosse at the Gilman School in Baltimore for three years before going to Hopkins in 1972.

Scroggs is married to Karen Shelton, Carolina's head field hockey coach. They have a son, William Alexander, born in March 1990. Scroggs also has two daughters, Betsy, 23, a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, and Emily, 19, from a previous marriage.

Dr. Bryan Smith

Head Team Physician

Dr. Bryan Smith is in his fifth season as a team physician having joined the UNC staff in 1993. Smith, a 1979 graduate of the University of North Carolina with an A.B. in chemistry, received his medical degree from Duke University in 1988.

A Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics and Orthopaedics at UNC, Smith was an assistant team physician at UCLA from 1991-93 while completing a sports medicine fellowship. He also was team physician for the United States Women's Select Basketball Team which won the gold medal at the R. William Jones Cup in Taiwan in 1992.

A native of New Bern, N.C., Smith was a North Carolina Merit and Carle C. Conway Scholar. He received his M.A. in exercise physiology from UNC in 1982 and earned a Doctor of Philosophy in that field from Michigan State in 1984.

He was a resident in UNC's Department of Pediatrics from

Carolina Traditions

The First Carolina Diploma

In September 1796, Carolina student Davie Gillespie began working with a group of men to determine the Southern Boundary of the United States. His instructors gave Gillespie a document to carry as proof that he had been a student at the University of North Carolina. The document, now in the Library of Congress, was signed by his professors and ended with the statement, "We thought it proper to give him this certificate."

The University's first graduating class in 1798 included Hinton James, the first student to enroll. Seven men received the first documents that by today's standards can be called UNC-Chapel Hill diplomas. One of the original diplomas is in the Southern Historical Collection in Wilson Library.

During the University's early years, Commencement at Carolina was a time for examinations and promotions to higher classes. There was a commencement, but no degrees awarded and no graduation.

UNC Chapel Hill: The First State University

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill originated in the N.C. state constitution of 1776, which proclaimed that "all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more universities."

Carolina's charter was approved in 1789 and the cornerstone of the first building, Old East, was laid on October 12, 1793. The University annually celebrates Carolina's birth date each October 12. In 1795 the University opened its doors for students.

The University of Georgia at Athens also claims the honor of "first state University." Georgia's constitution of 1777 lays no foundation for state-supported higher education. The university was chartered in 1785, four years before UNC, and those who claim the honor of "first state University" for Georgia refer to this date.

North Carolinians contend that a university begins not when chartered, but when students first enroll in instructional programs and use the school's facilities.

The University of Georgia did not open until 1801, six years after Hinton James enrolled as the first student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Three years after his arrival Carolina graduated its first class.

1988-91. Smith is on the Board of Directors of the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine, is a Fellow of the american Academy of Pediatrics and is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine. Smith also is a member of the NCAA Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports Committee and medical consultant to the NCAA Football Rules Committee.

He is married to Dr. Molly Froelich Smith, herself a 1979 UNC graduate who earned her medical degree at Carolina in 1988. They have a daughter, Mary Bryan, and a son, Stephen.

Don Steelman

Assistant Football Athletic Trainer

Don Steelman is in his ninth season as Assistant Football Athletic Trainer. Steelman is the first full-time assistant trainer to work with the football program.

A 1987 Carolina graduate, he worked from 1984-86 as a student trainer with UNC football.

Steelman, a native of Yadkinville, N.C., entered the University in 1983. After receiving his degree in education, he entered UNC's athletic training graduate program. He completed the two-year program in May 1989. Steelman became a full-time member of the Carolina football staff that summer. He also is the director of the North Carolina Football Trainers' Clinic held annually in Chapel Hill.

Steelman is married to Pam Wooten Steelman, a 1989 education graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. They have an infant daughter, Ashlyn.

Dr. Timothy Taft

Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Timothy Taft serves as the team orthopaedic surgeon and Director of Sports Medicine at the University of North Carolina. Taft has worked at Carolina for more than two decades.

Taft, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received his A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1964 and his M.D. from the University of Missouri in 1969. He completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Carolina in 1974.

Taft holds one of only two endowed professorships in sports medicine in the United States, the Max Novich Distinguished Professor of Sports Medicine chair. He is a member of the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, the Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports for the North Carolina Medical Society and is an examiner for the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery.

Taft served as team physician for the 1979 U.S. Pan American Games Team and the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team and as head physician for the 1981 U.S. World University Games Team. He has served as a team physician for U.S. basketball teams which have competed in the 1980 Olympics, 1981 World University Games, 1982 FIBA International Tournament, 1986 Men's World Championships and 1990 Women's World Championships.

Taft and his wife, Judy, have two children-Todd, 23, and Becky, 18.

Monk Tomlinson

Assistant Athletic Director

Monk Tomlinson is in his sixth full year as an assistant athletic director. In his role, Tomlinson oversees management of the football office operations, including the budget, housing, travel, meals, Kenan Fieldhouse and special events.

Tomlinson moved into the administrative position prior to the 1990 season after he served for two years as interior line coach for two seasons with the Tar Heels. He was one of five assistant coaches Brown brought to Chapel Hill when hired in December 1987 from Tulane. He had been a member of the Green Wave staff for three seasons.

A 1959 graduate of William and Mary, he began his coaching career at Maryville College in Tennessee. He was the offensive line coach there from 1959 to 1963. He then served as the school's head coach until 1971.

From 1971 to 1973, Tomlinson was the offensive backfield coach at Tennessee Tech. He then spent 11 years at Northeast Louisiana before moving on to Tulane.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Tomlinson was a three-year starter at William and Mary at offensive guard and linebacker. He received a master's degree from Tennessee in 1971.

Tomlinson is married to the former Shirley Ann Burgess. They have two children, Julie Ann and John Curtis.

Atlantic Coast Conference

John Swofford

Commissioner

John Swofford assumed his role as the fourth fulltime commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference in the summer of 1997. He follows Gene Corrigan who served as the Commissioner from July 1987 to July 1997, James H. (Jim) Weaver, who held the position from 1954-70, and Robert C. (Bob) James, who served from 1971-1987

In his 17 years as the Director of Athletics at the University of North Carolina, Swofford was instrumental in building UNC's program into one of the country's most respected entities. During his tenure, North Carolina claimed 123 ACC championships and 24 national collegiate titles, inlcuding 18 by the school's women's programs. During the 1994-95 season, the Tar Heels won an ACC-record 12 conference titles, more than half of the league championships contested that year.

In Swofford's final 10 years at Carolina, the Tar Heels won a league-high 85 ACC titles and 15 national collegiate titles. In 1993-94, Carolina captured the inaugural Sears Directors' Cup, edging Stanford for the award, emblematic of the collegiate all-sports champion. UNC finished in the top six of the Sears Cup standings in each of the past three years.

Carolina Head Coaches

In the 1996-97 school year, Carolina again had a tremendously successful season on and off the field. The Tar Heels won eight ACC titles, two national championships and finished second in the prestigious Sears Directors' Cup standings. Carolina won ACC titles in field hockey (Karen Shelton), women's soccer (Anson Dorrance), women's basketball (Sylvia Hatchell), men's basketball (Dean Smith), men's swimming (Frank Comfort), women's indoor and outdoor track (Dennis Craddock) and wrestling (Bill Lam). Highlights from the 1996-97 season:

- Mack Brown led Carolina to its first top 10 season since 1981 as the Tar Heels went 10-2 and defeated West Virginia in the Gator Bowl.
- Dean Smith's Tar Heels advanced to the Final Four for the 13th time in school history. Carolina team won the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. Smith became the alltime winningest coach with UNC's NCAA second-round victory over Colorado.
- Sylvia Hatchell's women's basketball team advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament. Carolina has won three of the last five ACC Tournament titles.
- Karen Shelton led the field hockey team to its second-straight national championship with a 3-0 victory over Princeton. Carolina has been to the final four eight-consecutive seasons.
- The women's soccer team, coached by Anson Dorrance, won its 14th national title in the last 16 years by defeating Notre Dame, 1-0 in the championship game. Co-National Player of the Year Debbie Keller scored the game-winner.
- Dennis Craddock's women's track team captured both the indoor and outdoor conference titles. Eric Bishop won the NCAA indoor high jump title.
- In just its second year as a varsity sport, the women's lacrosse team, under the tutelage of Jenny Slingluff, advanced to the national semifinals with a 12-11 overtime victory over Virginia.
- Frank Comfort directed the men's swimming team to its fifth consecutive ACC title.

Academic Support Program

At the University of North Carolina, athletes are still, first and foremost, students in the classroom. While most universities make that claim, Carolina can substantiate it.

In October 1986, North Carolina opened its doors to its new Student-Athlete Development Center, located at the east end of Kenan Stadium, adjacent to Kenan Fieldhouse. The Center is a 10,000 square-foot state-of-the-art academic facility that sets the standard for other universities to follow.

Will Owen

"The Department of Athletics has always been committed to academics," says John Blanchard, Director of Academic Support Program. "But they felt they needed to make a tangible sign of their commitment by putting in a building that could really serve the students, and they went about doing it in a first-class manner. They erected the best building of its kind in the country."

The academics center boasts an impressive array of facilities for the benefit of all Tar Heel student-athletes in the 28-sport program. Included in the building, convenient to dorms and classrooms alike, are a computer lab, a resource room, a language lab with tape players, seven tutorial rooms, a large classroom which can be divided into two smaller ones and a 128-seat auditorium, used for seminars and lectures.

The center has 15 computers and two laser printers as well as a variety of multi-media software packages which include word processing programs, spreadsheets, CD-ROM reference materials, tutorials, internet access and e-mail. The center has now has the latest and most up-to-date computer systems in place.

Also, Blanchard has assembled an enthusiastic and highly competent staff which includes associate directors Brian Davis, Caroline Furry and Burgess McSwain and assistant directors Jean Bryant and Robert Mercer. Doug Roberts serves as the office assistant.

"The academic success of student-athletes is most directly attributed to the students themselves, but we have an outstanding staff, dedicated and professional and very caring individuals.

"When students struggle in college," says Blanchard, "95 percent of the time that struggle is in their freshman year, and that's due to all the adjustments they need to make. We have a program and staff that aids in those adjustments and minimizes the struggle.

"It involves getting our students fully acquainted with the University and the resources available to them. They learn about what we have to offer, the University advisory system, the University processes and procedures — everything that's available to them academically."

To try and ensure that student-athletes will not run into early academic difficulty, Blanchard and his able staff teach the freshmen necessary study skills, such as note taking and time management, and all freshman football players are required to attend study hall every night Sunday through Thursday at the Center. On those nights, tutors are available to assist the student-athletes in a variety of subjects. Also, a Freshman Academic Success seminar is held weekly in the fall and is required of selected freshman student-athletes.

The Center is open from 8 a.m. to midnight during the week and from 6 p.m. to midnight on Sundays. During those hours, the facility is in almost constant use.

"Our students make great use of it," says Blanchard. "They use it for a variety of purposes and they use it throughout the day." Blanchard estimates that in any given week, that at least half of the University's 700 athletes use the Center. For this reason Blanchard and his staff are excited about expansion plans into the current football offices once the Frank H. Kenan Football Center is completed.

The statistics bear out the fact that the Center has made an impact. In eight of the last nine years the Tar Heels have received honorable mention recognition from the College Football Association for graduating at least 70 percent of its football players. The CFA uses a five-year period from matriculation to graduation to base its awards.

In the last nine years, Carolina has placed 30 players on the ACC All-Academic Team. Since 1985, Carolina has more than doubled the number of student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll.

In 1991 Randy Jordan earned an award for academic and athletic excellence from the National Association for Academic Advisors for Athletes. In 1992 Corey Holliday was named to the Hitachi/CFA Scholar-Athlete Team. Holliday was the only player from the ACC to be named to the team. Holliday also was a recipient of the ACC Postgraduate Scholarship. While finishing his master's degree in sports administration, Holliday has served as an intern in the ACC office.

Jonathan Perry and Johnathan Robertson, members of the 1992 Peach Bowl team, received their law degrees from Emory and Harvard, respectively. Four players from the 1993 football team are medical students. Mike Armstrong, Shawn Hocker and Lawrence Winslow are attending UNC, and Mike Bolognesi is studying at Duke. Mike Morton was named to the 1994 Academic All-ACC football team and was named to the CFA/Hitachi Scholar-Athlete Team.

Russell Babb, a senior offensive tackle in 1995, was also named to the Academic All-ACC Team, the CFA/Hitachi Scholar-Athlete Team, was the Weaver-James ACC Postgraduate Scholarship recipient for football, and was the ACC's top senior football-playing scholar-athlete. Babb will be in his second year in the UNC School of Law. Mike Cordora, a member of the Carquest Bowl winning squad in 1995, will be entering the UNC Dental School this fall.

Blanchard emphasizes that the Student-Athlete Development Center is only "one concrete way in which things have become better. The Department of Athletics also initiated moving the academic support program into the College of Arts and Sciences. That has put us under the supervision of the University, which has been a very positive move."

Under Mack Brown, the football program has renewed its resolve to provide the best education possible for its students.

"The football program is in a position now where we are really doing things to maximize the academic opportunities here," says Blanchard.

"Coach Brown has been very supportive and creative in developing academic standards for the team and pressing the players to reach those standards. That's been very helpful to us as a program."

Carolina has a high graduation rate for players in the NFL. According to Blanchard, "80 percent of former Tar Heels that are active NFL players have earned their degrees from Carolina. Statistics indicate that our student-athletes strive for excellence on and off the field."

What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and holds a status comparable to the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other fund-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 1997-98 school year at a cost of close to $5.3 million.

Is the Educational Foundation similar to a booster club? Absolutely not. It is a foundation in every sense of the word. The Educational Foundation operates in compliance with all rules and regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference. It is a tax-exempt entity as recognized by the Internal Revenue Service.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($50) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $50 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football and basketball ticket exchanges; purchase group travel packages; receive the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages when available and receive football and basketball media guides.

Rameses ($300) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased, location subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($600) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of four season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,200) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to eight season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $50,000 and $100,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles.

In addition, the Foundation just concluded a $35 million campaign to renovate and expand Kenan Stadium.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members and an Investment Committee, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his 10th year as President. He was appointed to the position in December 1986. There are also five vice-presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; Sue Walsh Stankavage, V.P. for Endowment; and Dawn D. McPherson, Administrative V.P. Effective August 1992, Ernie Williamson retired as V.P. for Endowment but continues to serve as a V.P./consultant to the Foundation.

Where are the Educational Foundation offices located? The offices are located in the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium adjacent to the Dean E. Smith Center.

How can one become a contributor to the Educational Foundation? By contacting the Educational Foundation at (919) 962-2393 or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

Strength & Conditioning Program

The University of North Carolina football program has risen through the Top 25 ranks the past few years and one of the key reasons for that development has been the overwhelming success of the team's strength and conditioning program and the fact that Carolina is one of the most focused and most disciplined teams in the country.

Will Owens

Headed by Jeff Madden, Associate Director of Athletics for Student-Athlete Development, the Tar Heel program is one of the finest in the country. Madden and his staff preach the gospel of explosive power – linking speed and strength to maiximize results. Over the last four years those results have been startling. Carolina's players follow the maxim of "practice winning every day" and that begins with each moment in the weight room.

"Each year of our program we are fielding bigger, stronger and more athletic players," says head coach Mack Brown. "That is such a compliment to the work Jeff Madden and his staff puts in to get our players in peak physical condition. Over the last four years we have made great strides toward reaching our goal to be one of the best conditioned teams in the country. We want to be in a position to win games in the fourth quarter. That is when all that dedication in the weight room really pays off for a football team.

"Even more important than the work Jeff Madden performs in the weight room is the manner in which he is a father figure for our players," continues Brown. "Jeff is more about growing as a person than he is growing as an athlete. As Associate Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Development, Jeff is in a position where he has become an outstanding role model for our players. He is interested in the total life skills program, developing our student-athletes to be better people. He understands the true mission of the University."

Madden came to Carolina just after the Tar Heels won the Peach Bowl in January 1993. Since his arrival at UNC the Tar Heels have a 35-14 record, played in four consecutive postseason contests, finished in the Top 10 for the first time in over a decade and had nearly 25 players earn professional contracts, including 16 who were selected in the NFL Draft. He and his staff, which includes George Smith, Ken Sheppard, Jodi Hopkins and Greg Gatz, is one of the hardest working and most popular in the entire department.

Student-athletes from all sports appreciate the obvious commitment, long hours and diligence Madden's staff displays. It is one of the student-athletes' favorite training environments. Madden demands hard work and a positive attitude from his staff and the student-athletes and it is a demand which has been successfully met.

Madden was a key element in the University of Colorado's rise to national prominence in the late 1980s. A former offensive lineman at Vanderbilt and a member of the USFL's Memphis Showboats in 1984, Madden joined the Buffaloes in 1989 and was on hand as the Colorado won three consecutive Big Eight titles and was co-national champion in 1990.

Madden is not your average strength coach. He also teaches plyometrics, flexibility, mental toughness, nutrition, stretching, Proprioceptive Neuro-Muscular Facilitation (PNF), rehabilitation techniques and motivation. He is certified by International Sports Science Associations, the National Association of Speed and Explosion, and Peak Performance USA. He is a well sought-after clinician and motivational speaker.

Last year Madden was named the National Strength Coach of the Year by the International Sports Sciences Association. The award is named after former Chicago Bear lineman Stan Jones.

E.J. "Doc" Kreis, strength coach at Colorado, tutored Madden when he played at Vanderbilt and was the ISAA's 1994 Stan Jones award receipient. "I believe the ISAA recognized a true pioneer in speed-strength and conditioning," Kreis said of Madden's award. "I've seen natural progress in his abilities. I had him as a player and as a coach. For what the Stan Jones Award stands for, there could be no finer recipient."

Explosion is a key component to the Tar Heels' regimen. Speed and explosion go hand in hand and Madden's football background serves him well in his training methods. He installed a program which centers around speed, explosive power and flexibility. "We are concentrating on flexibility, we concentrate on explosion," says Madden. "We mimic the exercises that they perform on the football field.

"The difference is more between power and explosion than between power and strength. You can be a 400-pound bench press guy and not be able to run. Then you don't have explosion. Speed and strength equals explosion. What we try and do is cross-formulate the two."

Madden prefers the free weight system to the nautilus approach and says the extra benefits the free weights allow can be applied more readily to the game of football.

"We are using explosive lifts like power cleans and snatches. A nautilus machine takes you through the same range of motion every time," Madden says. "When lifting a free weight you can go out of that range of motion. It is undetermined which way it is going to go. In a bench press or military press your left arm may not be as strong as your right therefore you have to overcompensate or work on that arm. Free weights allow that.

"It's just like playing against a defensive lineman. One play he may go left, the next he may go right or he may come right at you, you never know. Free weights help you overcome weaknesses. That's why we use explosive movements with our free weights and dumbbells."

Madden has identified the football-specific movements and applied his training techniques to them.

"Football is short, quick and powerful. If we were training long distance runners we would use more endurance exercises. But since we are training football players we have more quick and explosive exercises. We do use endurance as a foundation, though.

"Flexibility plays a big part because the more you can stretch a muscle then the more it can grow. If you have greater flexibility then you can improve your running technique and when you do that you can increase your speed and quickness and strength. Then you can have a pretty good football player."

Madden's football playing background is obviously a positive influence, as well.

"Knowing exactly what it was like to be in the trenches and understanding what the game is all about has helped me tremendously, " says Madden. "It's vital to know how each of the positions have to move. The key for us is to get our linemen running like linebackers, our linebackers running like defensive backs and our wide receivers and backs running like Carl Lewis.

"I can see in a drill whether a guy is getting beat by a strong move or a quick move. I can watch and tell if a player is getting beat on a particular side and then help him work to correct that deficiency.

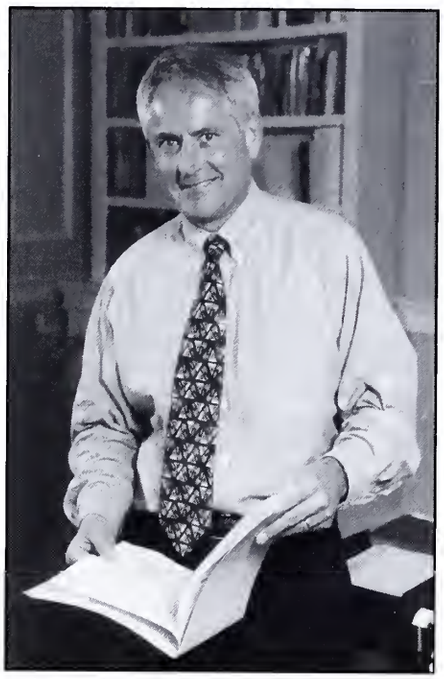
"The bottom line is all I ask is that they work as hard and as diligently as they can every time they're in here."

Chancellor Michael Hooker

In 1969, Michael Hooker became the first person in his family to earn a college degree: no small accomplishment for someone coming from the coalfields of southwest Virginia near Richlands. Hooker credits his parents' strong work ethic — his father was a coalminer — and their unwavering belief in education with his academic success at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and beyond.

Twenty-six years after leaving the classrooms of Chapel Hill to pursue graduate degrees in philosophy, Hooker returned on July 1, 1995, as Carolina's eighth chancellor, continuing an extraordinary career for a man of his years. He was president of a prestigious Vermont private school, Bennington College, at age 36; president of the University of Maryland-Baltimore County at age 40; and president of the five-campus University of Massachusetts system at age 47. Hooker took UNC's helm at age 49.

A staunch believer in accountability, Hooker, 51, emphasizes the importance of the university working better, faster and cheaper to meet the challenges facing higher education in a knowledge-based economy. "We can't escape the information revolution," he says. "It's reshuffling all of the decks in society. In the 21st century, the only thing that will secure competitive advantage for our regional, state and national economies is the extent to which we have developed, nurtured, fostered, cultivated and deployed brain power. That is the only thing that will matter. Education must become a lifelong affair. We will all have to retool ourselves to keep up."



"There is only one reason to have a public university, and that is to serve the people of the state. That should be the touchstone of everything we do: whether it's in the interest of North Carolina and our citizens."
– Chancellor Michael Hooker

Hooker's vision for Carolina's leadership role in that era includes marshaling resources for students and faculty that will make UNC the top-ranked public institution in U.S. News and World Report magazine's annual list of the best colleges and universities. In fall 1996, UNC ranked third among the publics, behind the universities of Michigan at Ann Arbor and Virginia. "This is, by any standards, a great university that is very, very strong," Hooker says of UNC. "It has an exceptional faculty that is highly committed to good teaching. It's easy to find strong research faculty among the top 20 or so universities. It is not so easy to find a faculty that is as committed to teaching as ours."

The chancellor stresses the university's commitment to North Carolinians and the his administration's theme: "For the People." "There is only one reason to have a public university, and that is to serve the people of the state," he says. "That should be the touchstone of everything we do: whether it's in the interest of North Carolina and our citizens. Our litmus test is the question: Is this the best possible use of our resources? Is what we do in Chapel Hill helping the factory worker in Kannapolis?"

To show that conviction, Hooker drew from the tradition of UNC President Frank Porter Graham, who barnstormed the state more than a half century ago to earn support for education at all levels during the economic shift from farming to manufacturing. Hooker spent 1996-97 personally visiting all 100 North Carolina counties to reconnect the university with the people and learn first-hand about the state's economy and educational system.

The issue-oriented tour, which Hooker calls a "life-changing experience," included speeches to civic, business and education groups in dozens of Tar Heel towns and cities. He visited classrooms, teachers, principals and superintendents as well as community colleges, which he says are critical to North Carolina's future success. Among the stops were small businesses, manufacturing facilities, Seymour Johnson Air Force Base and the North Carolina Motor Speedway. He visited legislators, alumni and incoming and current Carolina students in their hometowns. And he participated in a weeklong, 1,200-mile bus tour hitting more than 40 counties last May to introduce 26 new faculty members from out of state to the "real" North Carolina — everything from tobacco farms in the east to the handmade craft industry in the west.

"The thing that I keep encountering time and time again is a tremendous reservoir of pride across all corners of the state in the high quality of Chapel Hill," Hooker says. "People recognize that this is one of the leading institutions in our country. They are proud of that fact. Our job is to make sure that they get their money's worth when they send part of their paychecks to Chapel Hill to support the hard work of our students, faculty and staff."

Citizens like Diana Dagenhart, a master sixth-grade teacher at Claremont Elementary School in Catawba County, applaud the 100-county tour and Hooker's special attention to public education. He visited her classroom last spring, spoke to students and asked for advice about training teachers. "It's great when someone comes out of the halls of ivy to a place where real teaching is going on," she says. "I told him, 'I welcome you to the trenches.' ... He really listened. It was important that he really wanted to know."

Findings from the 100-county tour will help Hooker as the sole North Carolinian on the 1998 Commission on the Future of the South, which is chaired by Martha Lane Collins, former governor of Kentucky. Governor Jim Hunt nominated the chancellor to serve on the panel, which will make recommendations to help guide the region into the 21st century. The commission is expected to focus on issues such as technology, globalization and training the workforce of the future.

Such themes mesh well with technology priorities at UNC. The university offered its first undergraduate on-line courses via the Internet in spring 1996 and will add similar offerings this fall. Carolina also will launch a statewide master's degree in public health using the Internet, e-mail and teleconferencing. The broad-based, interdisciplinary program seeks to train professionals to become leaders in the state's rapidly changing health-care system. Hooker has emphasized making Carolina accessible to working people who have mortgages to pay, children in school and can't pull up stakes and move to Chapel Hill. He also encourages faculty to use new technology in Carolina classrooms by awarding $2 million in academic enhancement funds appropriated by legislators to 55 projects that will help professors teach students better and make university resources more widely available.

Public education has been a major priority for Hooker, who has moved to re-engineer the UNC School of Education's curriculum to better prepare new teachers for practical problems they face in classrooms. Of particular concern is the attrition rate for new North Carolina teachers. Up to 20 percent of the state's teachers quit after a year, and more than a third drop out by the fifth year.

Two initiatives ardently supported by Hooker with more than $700,000 in state-appropriated academic enhancement funds are under way in the School of Education. The Lighthouse Project targets attrition by providing a place where new teachers can turn for help. Last year, laptop computers, modems, and Internet accounts were issued to a dozen first-year teachers who graduated from the UNC education school. They communicated by e-mail and listservs with each other, master teachers and UNC professors. This on-line discussion group gives teachers peer support and coaching tips. A quick fix is not the goal; teachers develop problem-solving skills while helping each other. The successful pilot program will more than double in size during 1997-98.

The Lighthouse Project draws from the electronic backbone of LEARN North Carolina (Learners' and Educators' Assistance and Resource Network of North Carolina), a unique effort to help teachers use technology in classrooms. Partners include public schools, sister UNC campuses, community colleges and private industry. The university is building a data base that eventually will provide lesson plans for every course taught in every grade level in every public school in North Carolina. Any teacher in the state, when he or she sits down at home or school after dinner and grading papers, can prepare for the next day's classes by downloading model lessons pegged to the state's Standard Course of Study, the teacher's "Bible." "These teachers' lives will be less harried, and their students will benefit from lesson plans more thoughtfully conceived," the chancellor says.

Other focal points of Hooker's first two years in office have included taking numerous steps to bolster relations with the North Carolina General Assembly and reorganizing senior administration to consolidate academic units under the provost and non-academic units under the executive vice chancellor. Work by chancellor's task forces on Greek affairs and substance abuse — which involved trustees, alumni, parents, students and administrators — has led to policies and programs addressing binge drinking, which begins in junior high and high schools nationwide. Last year Hooker sent a letter asking season football ticket-holders not to drink at home football games to set a good example for students.

The chancellor also has stressed adequate and equitable support for faculty, staff and graduate students. The learning environment has been improved through new interdisciplinary programs on the environment and international affairs. He has resolved long-standing personnel conflicts including those with the university's housekeepers and continued efforts to involve the local community in planning for the possible future development of the university's outlying properties. Under Hooker's leadership, the university also works to sustain the success of private fund-raising efforts during the $440 million Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina.

Hooker returned to Chapel Hill from the presidency at UMass, where he oversaw a $1.2 billion budget, 58,000 students, 3,400 faculty and 7,000 staff. After becoming president in 1992, he spearheaded improvements in areas such as teaching and economic development and later tackled restructuring two campuses.

Hooker went to UMass from the 10,300-student University of Maryland-Baltimore County, which he led from 1986 to 1992. Hooker governed Vermont's Bennington College, a 600-student liberal arts school, from 1982 to 1986. The chancellor was featured in Esquire magazine's 1984 story on the "Best of the New Generation" along with future U.S. President Bill Clinton.

From 1975 to 1982, Hooker held posts at Johns Hopkins University, including dean of undergraduate and graduate studies. He taught philosophy at Harvard University from 1973 to 1975 after earning master's and doctoral degrees in philosophy from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst in 1972 and 1973, respectively.

Hooker long has been a national leader in education. In 1996, he was among the first 20 college presidents named by Secretary of Education Richard Riley to serve on a steering panel for the "America Reads Challenge" initiative, which will boost the ranks of college students helping elementary students learn to read well by the end of the third grade. Hooker is a member of the Association of Governing Boards' Advisory Board of Presidents, served on the American Association of State Colleges and Universities' Committee on International Programs and chaired the American Council of Education's Commission on Leadership Development. He also serves on the boards of Centura Bank Inc., headquartered in Rocky Mount, N.C., and 360 Communications in Chicago.

An expert on medical ethics, Hooker has written scholarly articles on applied ethics in business and the ethics of biological warfare. He chaired a biotechnology advisory panel for the U.S. Congress' Office of Technology Assessment from 1982 to 1984. A former member of the editorial board of the Journal of Business Ethics, Hooker was editor of "Descartes: Critical and Interpretive Essays" and "Leibniz: Critical and Interpretive Essays." His awards include an honorary degree from Drexel University, a Danforth Associateship and a Woodrow Wilson Dissertation Fellowship.

Hooker is the father of a 15-year-old daughter, Alexandra. His wife, Carmen, a Philadelphia native, is group vice president for the Carolinas HealthCare System with responsibilities for coordinating government relations activities in the Carolinas and Washington, D.C. She served six terms in the Massachusetts House of Representatives and was House Chairman of the Joint Committee on Health Care. A graduate of Springfield College, she earned a master's degree in regional planning from UMass-Amherst in 1984. She has two daughters: Jennifer, 29, a public school teacher in Charlotte, and Cyndi, 26, an art student at the Museum School in Boston.

The Hookers are ardent supporters of Carolina athletics — attending dozens of contests involving virtually every team — and student activities, including concerts by campus a cappella groups such as the Loreleis and the Clef Hangers. They pride themselves on sitting in the student section during home Tar Heel basketball games. That led to the chancellor's involvement in a "crowd-surfing" episode with students during 1997's Duke game that he enthusiastically says is likely to set a precedent for future adventures during big conference games.

The University of North Carolina

❒ As the nation's first state university, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was chartered in 1789. The cornerstone of its first building, Old East, was laid in 1793 and opened to students in 1795. Carolina was the only public university to award degrees to students in the 18th century.

❒ Carolina's 13 colleges and schools offer programs in more than 100 fields leading to 95 bachelor's, 169 master's and 109 doctoral degrees, as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, law and library science. Five health-affairs schools, which help comprise one of the most complete academic medical centers in the country, are well-integrated with a prestigious liberal arts program.

❒ Among the most comprehensive universities in the United States, UNC belongs to the select group of 62 research campuses forming the Association of American Universities.

❒ The 729-acre central campus, once called "The Noble Grove," is among the nation's most beautiful. It includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East, a residence hall, and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks.

Recent National Rankings

❒ In U.S. News & World Report magazine's "American's Best Colleges" issue:

Carolina was third among public universities and tied for 25th among all public and private universities, up from 27th the previous year and the school's highest spot since 1991.

The university was first in best value among national universities based on "sticker price" and 24th for "discount price."

The Kenan-Flagler Business School's undergraduate program tied for 5th overall; its general management program ranked fourth.

❒ In Kaplan/Newsweek magazine's "How to Get into College" guide:

Carolina was one of just 12 U.S. campuses called "first-rate schools at bargain prices."

Editors cited some of the university's "pluses" as strong academics, high-quality facilities, a college-friendly town, a beautiful campus and power-house sports.

❒ According to Money magazine's "Your Best College Buys Now" guide:

Carolina was the sixth-best buy based on out-of-state tuition for the second consecutive year and the second-best value in the Southeast.

In discounted tuition — the amount spent after financial aid is deducted from the list price for tuition and fees — Carolina ranked 15th nationwide.

❒ According to the 1996 The Princeton Review/Time magazine's "The Best College for You and How to Get In" guide, Carolina had one of the top 10 sociology programs in the country.

❒ Carolina was the top-scoring public university in the country for academic quality and financial value in the March 1997 issue of Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine.

❒ In the 1996 issue of The Fiske Guide to Colleges:

The university was one of just 20 universities in the national selected as a "best buy."

In a profile about Carolina, editors cited the university's "dazzling academic reputation, top-notch faculty, a gorgeously lush campus, and Ivy League ambiance with a public school price. ... Chapel Hill has been blessed as a powerhouse in research and education, as well as their athletic teams."

❒ According to a September 1996 issue of Mother Jones magazine, Carolina is among the top 20 campuses in the country for student activism. UNC students were singled out for spawning national grassroots organizations including the Student Coalition for Action in Literacy Education.

❒ In a separate May 1997 listing of graduate programs and specialty areas, U.S. News and World Report ranked seven of UNC's in the top 10:

The master's degree in public health tied for second with Harvard University.

The master's degree in health-services administration was third.

The doctor of pharmacy degree tied for seventh with six other schools.

The master's degree in social work tied for ninth with the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

The School of Medicine was ranked ninth-best primary-care medical program overall. The school's family-medicine program was ranked third, and its rural-medicine program tied for fourth place with Michigan State University.

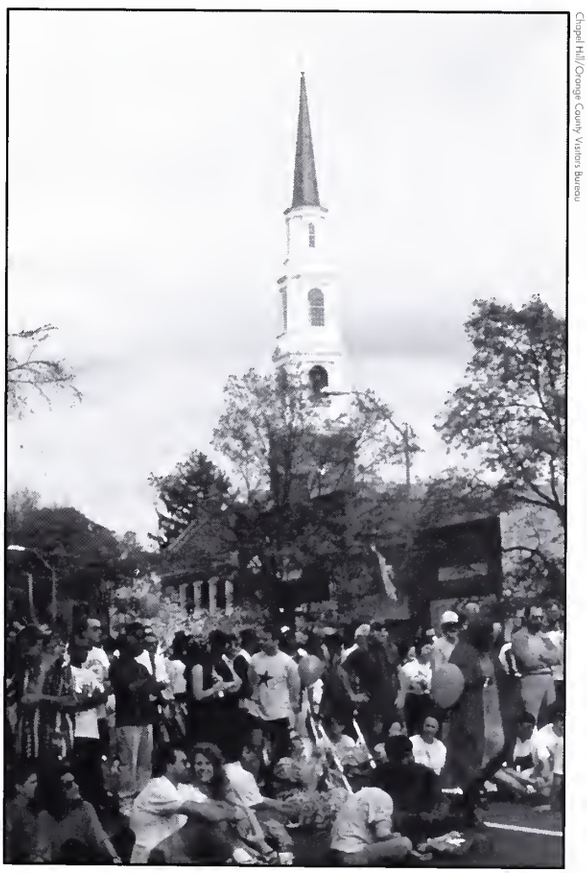
Ratings and Achievements

❒ Among 40 members of the American Association of Universities — including Duke, Carnegie-Mellon and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology — Carolina ranked second in 1995-96 in the percentage of bachelor's degrees awarded to women (60.4 percent) and fourth in the percentage awarded to blacks (8.9 percent.) For master's programs, UNC ranked second in degrees awarded to women (59.3 percent) and third in degrees awarded to blacks (6.4 percent). For doctoral programs, Carolina ranked second in degrees awarded to women (48.2 percent) and 22nd in degrees awarded to blacks (2.2 percent). Among professional schools, Carolina ranked 28th in degrees awarded to women (41.5 percent) and third in degrees awarded to blacks (10.1 percent).

❒ The University's $440 million Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina, held from 1989 through 1995, was the largest fund-raising campaign in the university's history and the fourth-largest campaign ever completed at a public university.

❒ 1996 proved to be the best fund-raising year yet for Carolina. Private gifts and grants totaled $94.6 million. Individuals, corporations and foundations supported a range of priorities, including support for students and faculty and enhancements for library collections and buildings.

❒ The School of Information and Library Science's master's program tied for second in the nation in the most recent reputational study reported in the professional journal



Chapel Hill/Orange County Visitors Bureau

Library Quarterly.

❒ The School of Journalism and Mass Communication is "arguably the best all-around program in the country," according to a team from the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications. The team evaluated UNC's undergraduate and professional master's programs.

❒ Deans and researchers ranked the UNC School of Nursing ninth among the best U.S. nursing programs in a study published in a 1995 issue of Nurse Educator magazine.

Students

❒ Some 24,141 students come from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and more than 100 countries studied at UNC in 1996-97. About 64 percent are enrolled as undergraduates, 28 percent in graduate programs, and 8 percent in professional programs.

❒ Nearly 69 percent of incoming freshmen graduated in the top 10th of their high-school classes.

❒ More than 30 percent of incoming freshmen scored 1,300 or higher on their SATs. More than 57 percent scored 1,200 or above. The average SAT score among in-state incoming freshmen was 1,222; the average among out-of-state students was 1,289.

❒ Sixty-two percent of the 3,208 freshmen who enrolled in 1992 graduated after four years, a rate significantly higher than the 35-percent average among colleges in the Association of American Universities. For the class starting in 1991, Carolina's five-year graduation rate of nearly 82 percent was 20 points above the AAU average.

❒ The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education reported in 1996 that Carolina ranked third among all state-supported universities nationwide in its six-year graduation rate, 64 percent, for the blacks who entered the university between 1986 and 1989. In 1995, for the first time ever, Carolina's freshman retention rate of 94.4 percent was the same for white and black students, according to the Office of Institutional Research. The freshman retention rate refers to the percentage of freshmen who return to campus for their sophomore year.

❒ Ten Carolina students have been selected as Rhodes Scholars since 1980. Carolina has been represented by 33 Rhodes Scholars since the program began in 1902. UNC, the alma mater of the first black woman recipient, has been one of the nation's most successful public universities in the Rhodes competition.

❒ Ninety-three percent of Carolina's 1996 graduating seniors said they were satisfied with the quality of the education they received at Chapel Hill, with 43.5 percent saying they were very satisfied. When surveyed upon their admission to Carolina in 1992, 88 percent of the group said that the university's academic reputation was a "very positive" factor in their decision to apply to Carolina.

Dan Sears

❒ Sixty-two percent of Carolina's graduate students remain in North Carolina five years after graduation.

❒ Thirty-five percent of its out-of-state graduate students still live in North Carolina five years after graduation and 25 percent after 10 years.

❒ More than 210,224 living alumni reside in all 50 states and 129 foreign countries.

Faculty

❒ Carolina's full-time faculty of 2,417 includes professors who hold or have held major positions in virtually every national scholarly or professional association. Overall, more than 90 percent of Carolina's faculty members have earned their field's highest degree.

❒ Many faculty members have been elected to some of the nation's most prestigious academic organizations, including 10 current members of the National Academy of Sciences, 18 of the academy's Institute of Medicine, six of the National Academy of Engineering and 25 of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

❒ Carolina's average student-teacher ratio is 14 to one. A fall 1992 study found that only 5.4 percent of 2,083 undergraduate class sections contained 100 or more students; 7.8 percent contained 50 to 99 students. Estimated average enrollment is 40 for freshman lecture classes, 30 for upper division lecture courses.

❒ Dr. Darryl Gless, professor of English, was appointed by President Bill Clinton to serve on the National Council on the Humanities, the official advisory board of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

❒ Dr. Joseph S. Pagano of the School of Medicine and John L. Sanders of the Institute of Government were among the 1996 winners of the North Carolina Awards, the highest civilian honor given by the governor. Pagano was cited as an internationally renowned researcher of viruses, human cancer, antiviral drug therapies and AIDS. Sanders was recognized for his pivotal role in public policy-making for the state and the UNC system for more than 30 years.

❒ Carolina boasts more endowed chairs held by black faculty members than any other university in the country, according to an ongoing study published in the Journal of Blacks in Higher Education and conducted by Chuck Stone, Spearman Professor of Journalism and Mass Communication.

❒ The Kenan-Flagler Business School was named the 1996 Outstanding Educational Institution of the Year by the National Black MBA Association's Raleigh chapter for its efforts to encourage blacks to enter the field of business.

Research

❒ In 1996, UNC attracted sponsored research, including grants and contracts from government and private agencies, totaling more than $248.9 million. That figure has risen sharply — up from $78.6 million in 1985 and about $70 million in 1980. Since 1981, outside research funding at UNC has increased more than 350 percent.

❒ In 1995-96, UNC received $139 million from the National Institutes of Health and ranked 12th in the nation among universities receiving NIH funding. Only four state-supported universities received more NIH funding.

❒ Carolina ranks among the nation's top 20 research universities in the amount of total federal support for research.

❒ Each dollar invested in Carolina creates an estimated $4 in net earnings. That's a four-to-one return, and it means that sponsored programs at UNC contribute about $1 billion and some 15,000 jobs to the state's economy.

❒ UNC contributes skilled employees to the North Carolina economy: 60 percent of the dentists, 40 percent of the attorneys, 43 percent of the physicians, 15 percent of the city managers and more than 10 percent of the college and university professors.

❒ In 1996-97, UNC was awarded 21 patents, all as a result of research conducted at the university. During fiscal 1996, UNC disclosed 91 inventions and licensed 35 of them. Since 1979, seven new high-tech companies have been created as a direct result of UNC inventions. New research initiatives that promise valuable new technologies are based in areas such as environmental science, gene therapy, biomaterials science and neuroscience.

❒ Carolina, Duke and N.C. State will share a $1.4 million grant from the National Science Foundation to connect to a new high-speed, research-oriented version of the Internet. Called Internet II, the network will link about 100 leading research universities. The grant was part of a 35-school, $12.3 million package announced by Vice President Al Gore in May 1997. The new network will allow universities to share research without having to compete for bandwidth along with businesses and Internet "surfers."

❒ Carolina chemists have developed a significantly improved method of synthesizing promising antiviral drugs for people with AIDS, hepatitis B and other deadly illnesses. The new method is faster and possibly cheaper than those now used to create the compounds.

❒ AIDS researchers at Carolina are studying a new combination of three drugs that promise to be the best treatment yet for people infected with the virus that causes AIDS.

❒ U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley named the Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center the National Center to Enhance Early Learning and Development, the only university-based facility aimed at boosting U.S. children's intellectual and social development. The recognition will bring grants expected to total nearly $14 million from the National Institute on Early Childhood Development and Education to support center activities over the next five years.

❒ Using genetic engineering techniques, UNC medical researchers have created "knock-out" mouse models to help better understand and treat several deadly diseases and health conditions. In 1992, researchers at the Cystic Fibrosis Center created the first animal model for the nation's leading fatal genetic illness.

❒ Computer scientists are pioneers in virtual worlds research, using sophisticated computer technology to create realistic but imaginary worlds. Applications may help doctors fight cancer and biochemists design new drugs.

designated comprehensive cancer centers in the United States. In 1994, NCI awarded it a five-year, $11.3 million grant for cancer research.

Public Service

❒ Carolina's public service activities and programs easily reach more than 400,000 people each year, according to conservative estimates in the most recent self-study completed for the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities. Carolina's service programs extend to every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect public health, deliver better medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage and enrich the quality of life.

❒ The William and Ida Friday Continuing Education Center, headquarters for the Division of Continuing Education, reached more than 68,000 participants through more than 1,000 events in 1996-97.

❒ Created in 1984 by the N.C. General Assembly, the Principals' Executive Program based at Carolina provides the state's public school superintendents, principals and other administrators with the latest management and leadership skills. More than 2,000 graduates from all 100 North Carolina counties have returned home with specific plans to improve their schools.

❒ Dozens of UNC faculty members share their expertise on state commissions, licensing and regulatory boards, task forces and committees to benefit North Carolinians. The experience helps faculty reinvigorate their teaching and research. That means students in classrooms, labs and other academic settings benefit, too.

Cultural Resources

❒ UNC's Academic Affairs Library, the nation's oldest public university library, houses about 4.4 million volumes and ranks 17th among 108 peer libraries in the Association of Research Libraries.

❒ It encompasses special libraries in art, astronomy, city and regional planning, computer science, North Carolina and Southern history, journalism, math, music, statistics and more. Last spring, the federal Library of Congress chose the library as one of just 10 nationwide asked to contribute to the national library on the Internet.

❒ The University's Health Affairs Library, which serves the schools of medicine, pharmacy, dentistry and public health, contains approximately 300,000 volumes. It maintains the finest collection of books and journals related to the health sciences in the Southeast and one of the best in the nation.

❒ The Morehead Planetarium attracts about 123,000 people, including more than 70,000 school children from 80 counties, each year.

❒ More than 31,600 visitors annually enjoy the Ackland Art Museum's 14,000 works of art. Those visitors include about 4,300 school children from around the state and 3,600 university students. The museum also serves an additional 1,900 school children through an outreach program that focuses on public and private K-12 students in the Triangle region.

❒ PlayMakers Repertory Company, the only non-profit professional, full-season theater company in the state, draws 65,000 patrons annually. More than 8,000 N.C. public school students attend its Glaxo Wellcome Educational Matinee Series every year. The campus features two garden classrooms, the Coker Arboretum on the central campus, the Mason Farm tract and the North Carolina Botanical Garden, which attracts more than 80,000 visitors annually.

❒ Other drama and musical performances on campus abound with events offered through the Carolina Union and Dean E. Smith Center as well as 70 department of music concerts, recitals and performances events a year.

Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

Ram Mascot

Will Owens

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

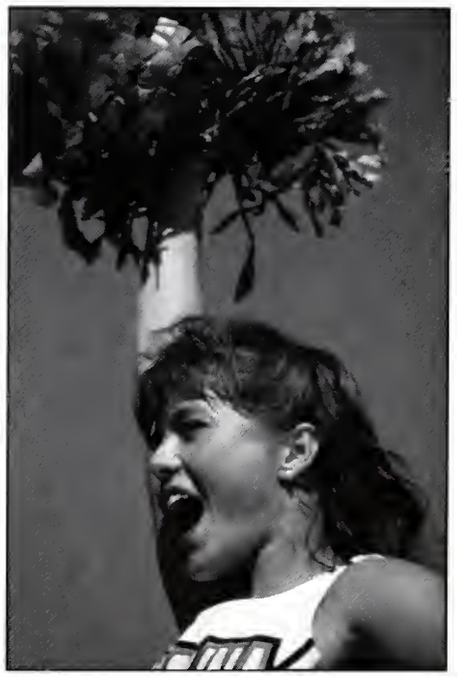
Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

School Colors

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.



Kenan Stadium

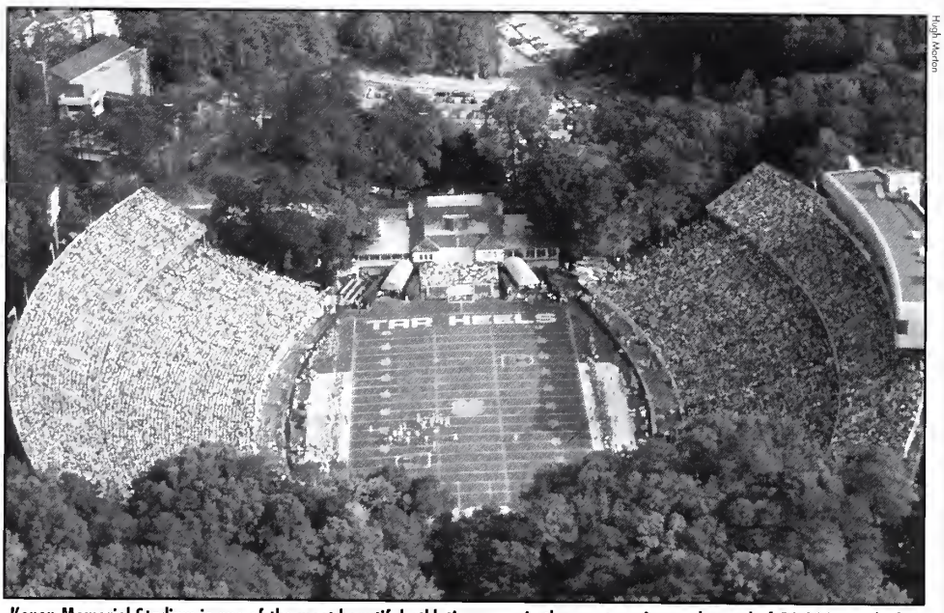
Kenan Stadium

How does that saying go – the more things change, the more they stay the same? If you look around Kenan Stadium it is obvious that the 70-year-old stadium has undergone several major additions and some other minor alterations. One thing has not changed, however. Carolina's home venue continues to be one of the most picturesque settings in all of college football.

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Memorial Stadium. It is here in this natural valley that Tar Heel football teams have played since 1927.

Kenan Stadium is generally regarded as one of the most beautiful football venues in the nation. Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many say it is the most beautiful. One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it cannot be surpassed.

Even Michael Jordan, the former Tar Heel basketball standout and NBA superstar, speaks highly of his days in the Kenan grandstand. "I've always wondered what it would be like to play in Kenan Stadium on a sunny afternoon in front of a big crowd. That's one of the things I missed about college football Saturdays. They are something special in Chapel Hill. I can't imagine what it must be like for the guys who get to play in that beautiful stadium every week."



Hugh Morton

Kenon Memoriol Stadium is ane of the most beautiful othletic venues in the cauntry. A record crowd of 54,300 watched on Oct. 29, 1994, as the Tor Heels defeated N.C. State, 31-17.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact. The addition of the Frank Kenan Football Center and the North Side Stadium Preferred Seating Box have further enhanced the stadium's status as a crown jewel.

Over the last year and a half the University embarked on a campaign which helped secure the funding for the expansion. The expansion, designed by Corley, Redfoot and Zack Inc. of Chapel Hill, was financed through a combination of private contributions through the Educational Foundation and bonded indebtedness from the athletic department through the sale of revenue-generating bonds. In the first 16 months of the campaign the Educational Foundation raised more than $31 million from more than 4,000 donors.

The Frank Kenan Football Center houses the Tar Heel dressing room as well as a new strength and conditioning facility, training room, meeting rooms, players' lounge, coaches' offices and multi-media memorabilia center. The ground floor of the Football Center, third floor concourse and permanent seating areas are scheduled to be opened in August 1997.

Permanent seats on the field side of the facility increase the stadium to capacity to 57,800 en route to 60,000 when further expansion is completed over the next few years. The project, in which great care was taken to ensure that the surrounding environment would be altered as little as possible, also ties the north and south concourses to either end of the lower deck, making fan movement around the stadium much easier. The expansion project also included the North Side Stadium Preferred Seating Box, located opposite the press box, with a capacity of just over 1,000.

"This is one of the most important and most challenging projects that Carolina Athletics and The Educational Foundation have ever undertaken," said John Swofford when the fundraising campaign was introduced. Swofford was athletic director at UNC from 1980-1997 and is now the Commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference. "It is similar in scope to the Dean E. Smith Center project. Our goal is to maintain the aesthetics of Kenan Stadium while expanding it and modernizing it in a way that we can keep pace with the facilities at programs such as Michigan and Penn State, as well as those of our ACC colleagues.

"It is vitally important to the future of Carolina football and our overall athletic program that we expand and improve in order to meet the challenges of the future and to give our program a chance to reach its full potential."

The new football center is named in honor of the late Frank H. Kenan, one of the school's most generous benefactors. Kenan was a Durham resident and chief executive officer of Kenan Transport Company in Chapel Hill. He passed away at the age of 83 in June 1996.

Kenan, a 1935 Carolina graduate, was the great-great-grandson of General James Kenan, a member of the University's founding board of trustees. An Atlanta native, Kenan had a tremendous impact on the growth of the University. He served on many campus boards, including the Board of Visitors and the Educational Foundation Board of Directors.

In recent years the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, of which he was a trustee, has donated more than $100 million to schools in the state's consolidated university system, including Carolina, N.C. State and the N.C. School of the Arts. Among other things, the trust funds 92 William R. Kenan Jr. Professorships at 56 colleges and universities nationwide.

He served on the steering committee of Carolina's Bicentennial Campaign, the University's largest fund-raising effort. Gifts by him, his family and the trust during the campaign exceeded $31 million. The largest portion of that was targeted for the business school. In 1991 the school was renamed the Kenan-Flagler Business School after a $10 million gift.

The new fieldhouse and preferred seating box are the predominant changes in a multi-year renovation plan which has been underway for the past three seasons. A new playing field was installed in the spring of 1995. The new turf includes an improved drainage system beneath the field that drains through the field itself rather than off the sides of the field as in the past. Prior to the 1996 season the restrooms and concession stands were expanded and renovated and the bleachers in the end zone nearest the Bell Tower were removed in order to prepare for construction of the new Football Center.

The most recent stadium expansion took place prior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats between the 40-yard lines where the press box and chancellor's box formerly stood. A new press box was constructed on top of the upper deck on the stadium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line. The press box is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the nation.

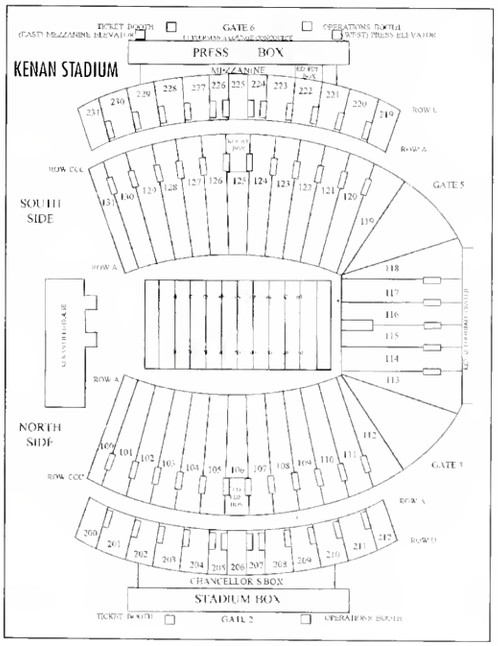
Also part of the project were a permanent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the north side of the field and a football lettermen's lounge on the south side. The lights are part of a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the lightpoles. Cost of the entire project was $7 million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. During his business career he was president of The Florida East Coast Railroad, The Florida East Coast Hotel Company, The West Palm Beach Water Company and the Florida East Coast Car Ferry Company.

He was a director of Florida Power and Light Company and built the first power plant in Miami in the early 1900s.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Mr. Kenan who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents and the pressing need for a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediately endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium.



Mr. Kenan remained very interested in Kenan Stadium throughout his lifetime. In the 1950s he gave a $1,000,000 contribution to construct a second deck on the stadium. After Mr. Kenan's death in 1965 the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, which was established by his will, donated $1,000,000 to enlarge and modernize Kenan Fieldhouse.

In 1988 the Kenan Trust made another $1,000,000 gift to complete the new chancellor's box on the North Side. Another lasting memory of William R. Kenan Jr. is the Kenan Athletic Scholarship Endowment valued at over $1,000,000.

Each year a student athlete is awarded a full scholarship from this fund.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

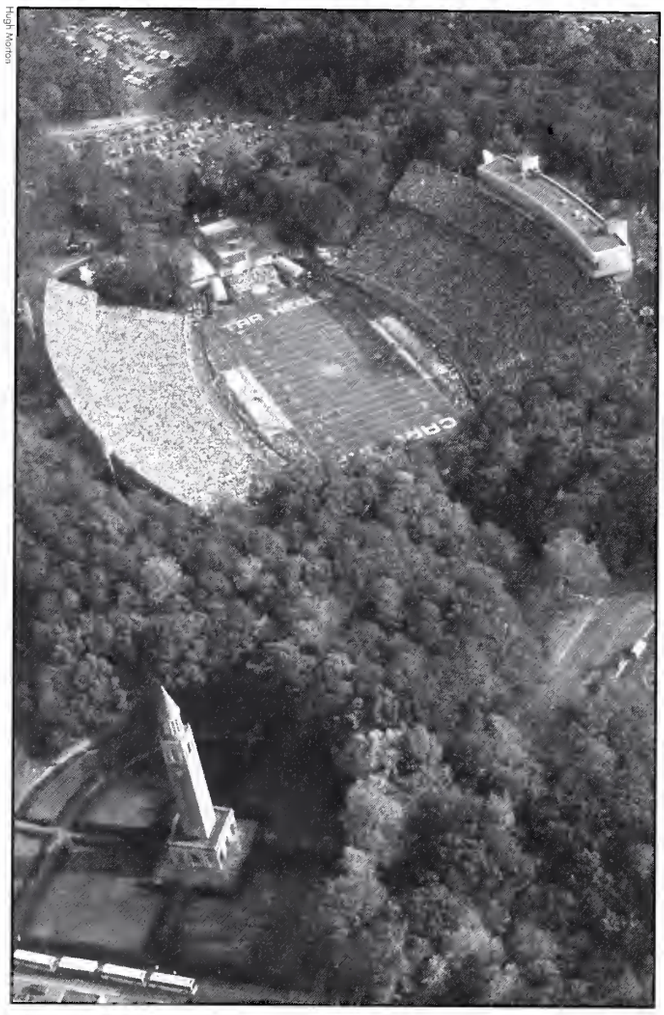
In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's alltime record at Kenan Stadium is 223-130-16. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

Under Mack Brown the Tar Heels have a 31-6 mark at Kenan Stadium in the last six seasons.

"Last year our players nicknamed the stadium the "Tar Pit" because opponents have had such a tough time winning here," says Brown. "Enclosing the end zone with the new football center and extra seats will only make the stadium louder and more difficult for opposing teams to play and should give us an incredible home field advantage."

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in 1963 the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 in 1979 and then to 52,000 in 1988.



Hugh Morton

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, lounges, meeting rooms, weight-training quarters and other facilities. The players' lockerroom was renovated again in 1988.

The Student-Athlete Development Center was added to the fieldhouse in 1986. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility. For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. Carolina's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in helping student-athletes with their studies.

The bottom half of the building encompasses one of the most complete strength fitness centers in the country. Workout rooms and performance labs contain the most current apparatus available.

Scheduled improvements to renovate the original fieldhouse include providing substantially remodeled academic support space on the second floor which will connect with the Student-Athlete Development Center, improve the visiting team's dressing room on the first floor, and public rest rooms for use on football game days. Additional space on the second floor will be used to increase the size of the existing Ram's Room and to provide office space for use by the athletic department.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. The highest attendance at a game there was the crowd of 54,300 which viewed Carolina defeat rival N.C. State, 31-17 in 1994. That topped the previous high of 54,100 which saw the 13th-ranked Tar Heels play host to number-one rated Florida State in 1993.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium — a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset. Portable lights were also used in the 1987 Clemson game which was televised nationally by ESPN.

The 1991 season opener versus Cincinnati and the Clemson game, which was televised nationally by ESPN, were the first true night games ever played at Kenan Stadium. A total of nine night games have been played since the lights were installed.

1996 Review Notes

Fifth Straight Bowl Game

Carolina appeared in a postseason bowl game for the 21st time in school history and the fifth consecutive year. That matches the longest previous streak of consecutive bowl games in Carolina history. The Tar Heels also played in five straight bowl games from 1979-83. Carolina's five straight bowl appearances is the ninth-longest active bowl attendance streak in the country. Nebraska (28), Michigan (22), Florida State (15), Colorado (9), Ohio State (8), Tennessee (8), Penn State (8) and Florida (6) are the only schools with longer active streaks. The Tar Heels have won 44 games over the last five years. That is the second-winningest five-year period in Carolina football history. UNC won 45 games from 1979-83.

Another 10-Win Season

Carolina defeated West Virginia 20-13 in the Gator Bowl to finish with a 10-2 overall record and a 6-2 mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference. It is the sixth time UNC has won at least 10 games in a season and the second in four years. In 1993 Carolina went 10-3 and played Alabama in the Gator Bowl. The last time UNC went 10-2 was in 1981 when Carolina beat Arkansas in the Gator Bowl. UNC also won 10 games in 1914 (10-1), 1972 (11-2) and 1980 (11-1).

Seven Straight Winning Seasons

For the seventh consecutive season the Tar Heels posted a winning record. That marks just the second time this century Carolina has accomplished that feat. The Tar Heels had seven straight years of winning football from 1934-40. The school record is nine straight years, a feat which occurred from 1897-1905.

Four Straight In-State Sweeps

For the first time in Carolina history the Tar Heels have swept Duke, N.C. State and Wake Forest in four consecutive seasons. UNC has won seven straight against Duke, seven in a row against Wake Forest and four in a row over N.C. State. Duke swept its in-state ACC rivals for five straight years from 1952-56, the only streak longer than Carolina's current one.

In the Rankings

Carolina finished the year ranked No. 10 in the country by the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN polls. That is the Tar Heels' first Top 10 finish since 1981 when UNC was eighth in the coaches' poll and ninth in the writers' poll. Carolina was No. 9 in both polls on October 20, the school's first appearance in the Top 10 since 1983 when the Tar Heels won their first seven games. Carolina moved up to No. 6 in the AP poll after the ninth game of the season, its highest national ranking since 1983 when the Tar Heels were third in the country.

Winning on the Road

Carolina's 27-10 win over No. 9 Syracuse on September 7 was the first Carolina victory over a Top 10 team on the road since a 21-7 win over No. 8 Michigan on Oct. 1, 1966. In fact, Carolina's win in the Carrier Dome was just the second Top 10 road win by UNC since it joined the ACC and the fourth in school history. Carolina also defeated No. 10 Penn in 1943 and No. 8 Duke in 1937.

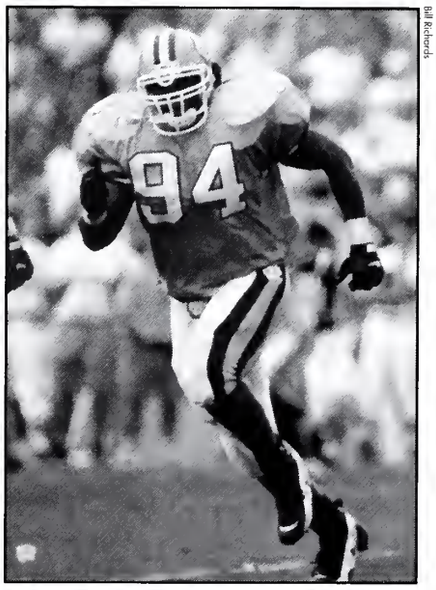
Kenan a Tar Pit For Opponents

Kenan Memorial Stadium has proved to be one of the toughest road trips in the country. In the decade of the 1990s the Tar Heels have a 35-8-1 record in Kenan. That is a winning percentage of .807, the highest of any decade in UNC history. The only teams to post wins in Kenan in the 1990s are N.C. State (1990 and 1992), Virginia (1990), Clemson (1991 and 1994), Florida State (1993 and 1995) and Syracuse (1995). The Tar Heels allowed just 37 points at Kenan in 1996. Carolina shut out Clemson (45-0) and Georgia Tech (16-0) and beat Maryland (38-7) N.C. State (52-20) and Louisville (28-10). Carolina's 5-0 record at home marked the first unbeaten season in Kenan Stadium since 1980 when the Tar Heels also won all five of their home games.

Class Group of Seniors

North Carolina's five-year senior class produced one of the most successful runs in the history of UNC football. In addition to making five consecutive postseason bowl appearances, the group of five-year seniors which came to Chapel Hill in the fall of 1992 produced a record of 35-14 over the last four years. That includes an ACC record of 21-11, two second-place ACC finishes, and a Kenan Stadium record of 20-4.

Bill Richards



Defensive tackle Rick Terry wos the first pick in the second round by the New York Jets.

Five Drafted

A quintet of Tar Heel seniors were selected in the NFL Draft, which was held in April. Defensive tackle Rick Terry was the first pick in the second round by the New York Jets. Tight end Freddie Jones went in the second round to San Diego, although he was the Chargers' first pick. Linebacker James Hamilton went in the third round to Jacksonville, tailback Leon Johnson went in the fourth round to the Jets and defensive tackle Andre Purvis was a fifth-round pick by Cincinnati.

Brown ACC Coach of the Year

Mack Brown was selected the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year in voting by the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association. He received 34 first-place votes, six more than Clemson's Tommy West and nine more than Florida State's Bobby Bowden. It was the first Coach of the Year award by a Carolina head football coach since 1980 and just the fourth in ACC history. Jim Hickey was ACC Coach of the Year in 1963, Bill Dooley won the award in 1971 and Dick Crum was the recipient in 1980.

A Finalist For Bear Bryant Award

Carolina head coach Mack Brown was one of six finalists for the Bear Bryant National Coach of the Year Award given by the Football Writers Association of America.Brown, Florida's Steve Spurrier, Ohio State's John Cooper, Army's Bob Sutton, Wyoming's Joe Tiller and Arizona State's Bruce Snyder were the six finalists.

Bly Consensus First-Team All-America

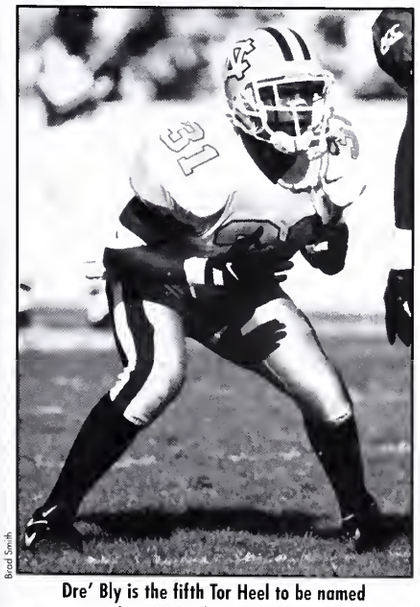
Cornerback Dre' Bly became the first ACC player in history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors as a freshman. Bly was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Football Writers Association of America and The Sporting News. Bly is just the fifth freshman in college football history to be named to the Associated Press' All-America first team. The other four players include Pittsburgh running back Tony Dorsett in 1973, Georgia running back Herschel Walker in 1980, San Diego State running back Marshall Faulk in 1991 and UCLA place-kicker Bjorn Merten in 1993. He is the first Tar Heel in history and the second player in ACC history to earn any first-team All-America honors as a freshman.

Bly and Marcus Jones First Repeat Selections

For the first time in Carolina football history, Carolina had players earn consensus first-team All-America honors in consecutive seasons. Defensive tackle Marcus Jones was a consensus first-team choice in 1995 when he made teams named by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation, the American Football Coaches Association and United Press International. Carolina's eight other consensus first-team selections are: Andy Bershak in 1937, Charlie Justice in 1948, Don McCauley in 1970, Ron Rusnak in 1972, Ken Huff in 1974, Dee Hardison in 1977, Lawrence Taylor in 1980 and William Fuller in 1983.

Ellis, Simmons, Jones Nab National Honors

Outside linebacker Brian Simmons was named a second-team All-America by the Associated Press and defensive end Greg Ellis was a third-team AP All-America selection. Ellis and Simmons received second-team All-America honors from The Sporting News. Ellis and tight end Freddie Jones were third-team All-America picks by Football News.



Broad Smith

Dre' Bly is the fifth Tor Heel to be named the ACC Rookie of the Yeor.

Bly a Thorpe Finalist

Cornerback Dre' Bly led the country in interceptions with 11 and added two more thefts in the Gator Bowl. Bly was a consensus first-team All-America, a first-team All-ACC selection, the ACC Rookie of the Year and one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe Award as the National Defensive Back of the Year. Bly was the fifth Tar Heel to earn ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honors and the first since teammate Leon Johnson in 1993. Linebacker Darrell Nicholson earned the award in 1978 and tailback Amos Lawrence was the recipient in 1977. Carolina has had more ACC Rookies of the Year (5) than any other school.

Mack Brown wos named the ACC Cooch of the Year ond wos o finalist for notionol cooching honors.

Seven Tar Heels on All-ACC Team

Carolina placed seven players on the 1996 All-ACC First Team. That was the highest number of any school in the ACC. Florida State and Virginia each had six first-team selections. Five Carolina players also received second-team All-ACC honors and Carolina tied Florida State at 12 with the most players on the first two teams. Carolina's seven first-team All-ACC recipients included quarterback Chris Keldorf, tight end Freddie Jones, center Jeff Saturday, defensive lineman (end) Greg Ellis, linebacker Brian Simmons, defensive back (cornerback) Dre' Bly and specialist Leon Johnson. Second-team All-ACC selections in 1996 included linebacker Kivuusama Mays, defensive lineman (tackle) Rick Terry, defensive back (cornerback) Robert Williams, defensive back (free safety) Omar Brown and tailback Leon Johnson.

Keldorf a Davey O'Brien Finalist

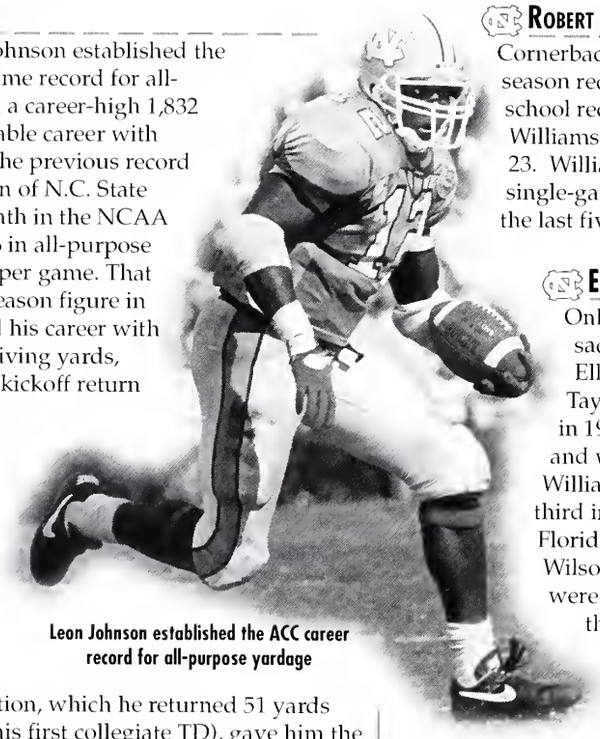
Quarterback Chris Keldorf, Carolina's first All-ACC quarterback since 1974, was one of 10 finalists for the 1996 Davey O'Brien Award as the National Quarterback of the Year. Florida's Danny Wuerffel was the winner. A transfer from Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif., Keldorf completed 201 of 338 passes for 2,347 yards and 23 touchdowns. He is the first UNC quarterback to earn first-team All-ACC honors since Chris Kupec in 1974. Keldorf completed 201 of 338 passes, both of which are school records, for 2,347 yards. That is a completion percentage of 59.5, the fourth-best in Tar Heel history. His yardage total is also the second-highest behind Thomas, who had 2,436 in 1995. Keldorf was closing on the yardage record before he suffered a season-ending ankle injury in the first quarter at Duke.

Keldorf Sets Interception Avoidance Mark

Carolina quarterback Chris Keldorf was picked off just five times in 338 passes, a rate of 1.48 percent. That is the lowest figure in school history and the fifth-best in ACC single-season history. The previous UNC record was 2.0 percent by Chris Kupec in 1974. Keldorf also threw 143 consecutive passes without an interception, another school record. The previous mark was 120 by Kupec from 1972-74.

Johnson Sets ACC Record

Tailback/kick returner Leon Johnson established the Atlantic Coast Conference alltime record for all-purpose yardage. Johnson had a career-high 1,832 yards and finished his remarkable career with 5,828 yards. That mark broke the previous record of 5,565 yards set by Ted Brown of N.C. State from 1975-78. Johnson was ninth in the NCAA and second in the ACC in 1996 in all-purpose yards per game at 166.5 yards per game. That is the seventh-highest single-season figure in ACC history. Johnson finished his career with 3,693 rushing yards, 1,288 receiving yards, 390 punt return yards and 452 kickoff return yards.



Leon Johnson established the ACC career record for all-purpose yardage

Bly Sets ACC Record

Red-shirt freshman cornerback Dre' Bly led the nation in interceptions and set the ACC single-season record with 11. Bly led the nation in interceptions each week since the third game of the season. Bly's 11th interception, which he returned 51 yards for a touchdown vs. Virginia (his first collegiate TD), gave him the ACC record. The former record was 10 by Bob Sullivan of Maryland in 1965. Sullivan and Bly are the only two players in ACC history to average at least 1.0 interceptions per game. Bly is the only player in league history to average at least one per game in an 11-game season. Against Georgia Tech, Florida State and Virginia, Bly combined to pick off seven passes. He had three against the Yellow Jackets, two at Florida State and two at Virginia. Bly had more interceptions than N.C. State (9), Clemson (7), Wake Forest (7) and Duke (5) and as many as Florida State (11).

Short-Lived School Record

In what may go down as the shortest-lived record in school history, Dre' Bly set a Carolina single-season record for interception return yards when he brought a pass theft back 51 yards for a touchdown against Virginia. Bly had 11 for 141 yards. The previous record was 125 yards by Bill Maceyko in 1948. The reason Bly's record was short-lived is that less than eight minutes after Bly's interception UNC linebacker Brian Simmons picked off a pass and raced 57 yards on the return. That gave Simmons four interceptions for 160 yards in 1996 and gives him the UNC single-season record. Simmons has six career interceptions for a record 161 yards. Simmons had an 84-yard return for a touchdown in the 28-10 win over Louisville.

Johnson Among ACC's Best Ever

Senior tailback Leon Johnson is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be in the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in career touchdowns, top five in career scoring, top 10 in career rushing yards and top 10 in career receptions. He is first in league history in all-purpose yards, second in touchdowns, fourth in scoring, eighth in rushing and tied for 10th in receptions. He scored 50 touchdowns in his career, just one shy of the alltime ACC record held by Ted Brown of N.C. State. He scored 306 points, one of just four players in league history to top the 300-point mark. He and Brown are the only two non-kickers to accomplish that feat.

Robert Williams Breaks Up a Record

Cornerback Robert Williams shattered UNC's single-season record for pass breakups. Prior to 1996 the school record was 16 by Thomas Smith in 1991. Williams easily topped that figure and finished with 23. Williams broke up five passes at Virginia, the top single-game figure in the ACC. He had 14 breakups in the last five regular-seaon games.

Ellis High on the List

Only one player in Carolina history has more sacks in a season than Greg Ellis had in 1996. Ellis had 12.5 sacks for 99 yards. Lawrence Taylor had a school-record 16 sacks for 127 yards in 1980 when he led the Tar Heels to the ACC title and was named conference player of the year. William Fuller had nine sacks in 1981. Ellis was third in the ACC in quarterback sacks behind Florida State's Peter Boulware (19) and Reinard Wilson (13.5). Wilson (22) and Boulware (20) also were the only players with more tackles for losses than Ellis (18).

Seventh 100-Yard Game For Barnes

Octavus Barnes caught three passes for 109 yards in the Tar Heels' 52-20 win over N.C. State. It was the first 100-yard receiving game for Barnes since he had 111 yards at Georgia Tech in 1995. Barnes holds the Carolina record for 100-yard receiving games with seven, four of which were in 1995.

Jones Sets Tight End Record

Senior tight end Freddie Jones set a UNC record for most catches in a season by a tight end. Jones had 32 receptions for 288 yards and four touchdowns. Bob Loomis had the previous record with 31 catches in 1978. Jones was a second round draft choice of the San Diego Chargers.

First Time Ever Four Have 25 (and 30)

Carolina had four players with at least 30 receptions. That is the first time in school history that four players have caught even as many as 25 passes in one season. Flanker Na Brown (52), split end L.C. Stevens (44), tailback Leon Johnson (39) and tight end Freddie Jones (32) surpassed the 30-catch mark.

First Back-to-Back 300-Yard Games

Chris Keldorf became the first player in Carolina history to pass for 300-plus yards in consecutive games. He extended that mark by passing for 300-plus in a third straight game. He had 340 yards against Maryland on Oct. 12, 322 yards at Houston on Oct. 26 and 315 vs. N.C. State on Nov. 2. The 340-yard game was the second-highest in school history, the 322-yard night against the Cougars was the third-most passing yards by a Tar Heel and the 315-yard game was the sixth-best.

Brown Joins the 50-Catch Club

Sophomore flanker Na Brown became the sixth player in Tar Heel history to catch at least 50 passes in a season. Brown led the Tar Heels and tied the third-highest number of catches in UNC single-season history with 52.

Stevens Keeps Making Big Plays

Sophomore split end L.C. Stevens was second on the team with 44 receptions, including 17 in the last three weeks against Louisville, Virginia and Duke. Stevens averaged a team-high 17.5 yards per catch and grabbed a team-best seven touchdown passes. He broke open the game at Duke with an 80-yard touchdown catch in the third quarter. That is the sixth-longest touchdown reception in school history. He tied Carolina's single-game touchdown catch record with three against Maryland. He had six receptions against the Terrapins for 167 yards and three scores. He had a 76-yard TD catch on the Tar Heels' second play from scrimmage in the first quarter, a 25-yard scoring grab on the final play of the opening period and a 7-yard TD reception early in the second quarter. The 167 yards against Maryland marked the fourth-highest receiving total in UNC single-game history. The 76-yard touchdown catch was the longest by a UNC player in the history of Kenan Stadium.

Simmons Butkus Award Semifinalist

Brian Simmons, a junior outside linebacker from New Bern, N.C., was one of 11 national semifinalists for the Butkus Award. The award is given by the Downtown Athletic Club of Orlando, Fla., to the nation's top linebacker. The other 10 semifinalists included: Ohio State's Greg Bellisari, Florida State's Daryl Bush, West Virginia's Canute Curtis, Northwestern's Pat Fitzgerald, Michigan's Jarrett Irons, Alabama's Dwayne Rudd, Colorado's Matt Russell, Virginia's Jamie Sharper, Auburn's Takeo Spikes and Arizona State's Scott Von der Ahe. Russell was the winner.

Mays Hits 100 Again

Kivuusama Mays led the Tar Heels in tackles for the second straight year. Mays, an inside linebacker, had a season-high 15 tackles, including 10 primary, against Virginia. He had 10 or more tackles in a game six times and finished the season with 112 total tackles. The last player to have 100 or more tackles in consecutive seasons was linebacker Tommy Thigpen, who made 106 tackles in 1991 and 111 stops in 1990. The last Tar Heel to lead the squad in tackles for two straight years was inside linebacker Dwight Hollier who made 159 tackles in 1989 and 155 in 1990.

Carolina Defense Among National Leaders

Carolina ranked No. 1 in the country in scoring defense and turnover margin, second in the nation in total defense, and third in run defense and pass efficiency defense. Carolina allowed just 225.6 total yards per game, the fewest allowed by a UNC team since the 1948 team gave up 178.0 yards per game. Carolina allowed only 10.0 points per game, the best figure in the nation. UNC posted two shutouts (Clemson and Georgia Tech), gave up six points at Wake Forest, seven to Maryland, 10 at Syracuse, 10 to Louisville, 10 at Duke, 13 at Florida State, 14 at Houston and 20 to N.C. State and Virginia. The 10.0 points per game is the fewest allowed by UNC since 1977 when the Tar Heels' opponents averaged 7.4 points a contest. The opponents averaged 73.9 rushing yards per game, the lowest figure allowed by a UNC defense since the 1935 team gave up 46.8 yards per game.

NCAA Leaders

Carolina led the nation in two major statistical categories. The Tar Heels allowed 10.0 points per game, the lowest figure in the country, and had a turnover margin of plus-2.0 per game. Those are the fifth and sixth instances in which UNC has led the nation in a statistical category. The others are as follows: UNC led the country in pass defense in 1943 with an average of 36.5 yards allowed per game; in punting in 1948 with an average of 44.8 yards per kick; in punt returns in 1955 with an average of 22.5 yards per return; and in scoring defense in 1977 with an average of 7.4 points allowed per game.

ACC Leaders Again

Carolina led the ACC in total defense for the second consecutive year and the 10th time in history. Florida State was second in the ACC this year allowing 229.5 yards per contest. The Tar Heels also led the ACC in pass defense for the first time since 1982. Carolina's opponents managed a pass efficiency rating of just 83.2 points, the lowest in the league.

Air Defense

Carolina intercepted 20 passes and yielded only seven touchdown passes. Cornerback Dre' Bly led the nation with 11 interceptions, outside linebacker Brian Simmons had four, and Ronald Thomas, Terry Billups, Greg Williams, Jomo Legins and Robert Williams each had one. UNC's 20 interceptions were the most by a Carolina team since 1972 when the Tar Heels had 21.

Sack Attack

Carolina's defense posted 42 quarterback sacks, the second-highest number in school history. The school record is 45 set in 1990. Defensive end Greg Ellis led the Tar Heels with 12.5 sacks for 99 yards, the second-highest single-season figures in Carolina history. Tackle Vonnie Holliday was second with five sacks for 48 yards and outside linebacker James Hamilton had 3.5.

No. 1 in Turnover Margin

Carolina was first in the country in turnover margin with a plus 2.00 per game. Carolina forced 34 turnovers and committed just 12 miscues. That is plus-22 for the season. Carolina intercepted 20 passes and recovered 14 opponents' fumbles, while losing six fumbles and six interceptions of its own.

Low Turnover Total

Carolina committed the fewest turnovers in school history with just 12. The 1990 and 1992 teams set the previous UNC record by committing just 19 turnovers.

L.C. Stevens set the Kenan Stadium record for longest touchdown receptian (76 yards) by a Tar Heel. It was the first of his three touchdowns against the Terrapins.

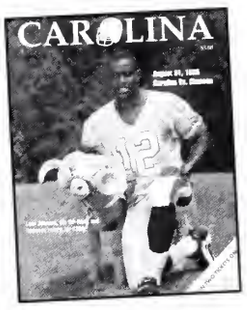
CAROLINA 45 CLEMSON 0

Game 1 • August 31, 1996
Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

ABC sports

Tailback Leon Johnson rushed for 109 yards on 19 carries and caught three passes for 51 yards to lead North Carolina to a 45-0 victory over Clemson in front of a regionally-televised ABC audience. UNC's 45 points and its 45-point margin of victory were both school highs in its 45-game history against Clemson.

The win was Carolina's second shutout over the Tigers in the last four years. The Tar Heels' most recent win over Clemson was a 24-0 victory in 1993. The victory was also Carolina's 24th in its last 28 home opening games.



Carolina outgained the Tigers by 338 yards as the Tar Heel defense limited Clemson to just 91 yards of total offense. UNC's new pro-style offense gained 191 rushing yards and passed for 238 yards.

Carolina opened the scoring late in the first quarter when Johnson broke through a hole on the left side of the line and scampered a career-high 67 yards before he was pushed out at the 1-yard line. He took the next snap over the goal line for Carolina's first score of the 1996 season.

Quarterback Chris Keldorf, playing his first game as a Tar Heel, began his UNC career with a 15 for 22 performance, throwing for 182 yards and two third-quarter touchdowns to sophomore L.C. Stevens.

The first was set up by a 13-yard interception return by linebacker Brian Simmons. Simmons intercepted Clemson quarterback Nealon Greene on second and 10 from the Tigers' 31-yard line.

After two Maurice McGregor runs, Keldorf floated a pass to the corner of the end zone where the 6-5 Stevens jumped high in the air for the touchdown. On UNC's next possession, Keldorf connected again with Stevens on a 45-yard pass on first down.

With the score 24-0 and Clemson backed up to its own 18-yard line, UNC defensive lineman Andre Purvis sacked quarterback Nealon Greene causing a fumble. Carolina's Greg Ellis recovered at the 5-yard line and two plays later, UNC scored on Johnson's 3-yard sweep around the left. Johnson moved into second place in Carolina history with his 40th career touchdown. Johnson's 109-yard effort marked the first time a UNC back had rushed for 100 yards or more against Clemson since Kennard Martin rushed for 116 in 1988.

Running backs Maurice McGregor and Mike Geter each added a touchdown in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring.

A question mark entering the 1996 season, Carolina's kicking game was flawless. Redshirt freshman Josh McGee connected on a 37-yard field goal in the first half and was 5-for-5 on extra-point attempts. Punter Derrick DePriest averaged 47 yards and Brian Schmitz consistently kicked off inside the Clemson 5-yard line.

Carolina shutout an opponent for the seventh consecutive season and the eighth time in the Mack Brown era. The Tar Heel defense forced four turnovers, three of which led to scores and allowed just one play over eight years. In fact, Clemson never moved the ball further than Carolina's 39 yard line.

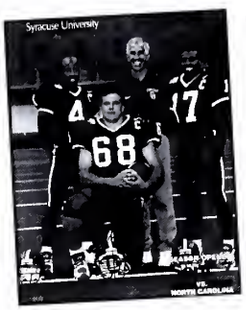
In front of an espn2 national-television audience, No. 24/22 (Associated Press/ USA Today) North Carolina moved to 2-0 with an impressive 27-10 win over No. 9/11 Syracuse. It was Carolina's first win over a top 10 team on the road since 1966.

Junior quarterback Chris Keldorf threw for 217 yards and two touchdowns as Carolina improved to 5-0 overall in dome stadiums.



Despite hot and humid conditions inside the Carrier Dome, Carolina was able to cool off the vaunted Syracuse offense, allowing just 184 total yards and limiting SU quarterback Donovan McNabb to just 12 completions and minus 8 yards rushing.

On Carolina's first drive of the game, the Tar Heels went 59 yards in 13 plays and scored on a 1-yard run by tailback Maurice McGregor. Keldorf was 6 for 7 passing in the drive for 42 yards, including a toss to Octavus Barnes for a first down on the Syracuse 1-yard line.

UNC's Jomo Legins recovered a fumble on Syracuse's next possession and Carolina scored on a 37-yard field goal by Josh McGee to make the score 10-0. Late in the second quarter, Keldorf tossed a 3-yard touchdown dart to Na Brown to put Carolina ahead, 17-0.

A more intense Syracuse team emerged from the locker room in the second half, and on Carolina's first possession, SU blocked Derrick DePriest's punt from deep in UNC territory. The Orange recovered and six plays later McNabb connected with tight end Kaseem Sinceno on a 5-yard touchdown pass.

Syracuse also blocked UNC's next punt and ran the ball in for an apparent touchdown. However, a Syracuse personal foul wiped away the TD and brought the ball back to the North Carolina 27-yard line. Carolina's defense did not allow a first down and the Orange were forced to kick a 37-yard field goal.

The Orange were plagued by penalties and a poor kicking game throughout the contest. SU committed 11 penalties for 87 yards and missed three field goals.

Carolina threatened to put the game away early in the fourth quarter, but Leon Johnson, who rushed for 48 yards on 26 carries, fumbled at the SU 1-yard line. However, Carolina's Dre' Bly picked off a long SU pass attempt and brought it back 15 yards to the Syracuse 40-yard line.

Keldorf completed a 25-yard pass on first down and two plays later tossed an 18-yard touchdown pass to tight end Freddie Jones.

McGee completed the scoring with a 46-yard field goal with 5:09 remaining in the game.

Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

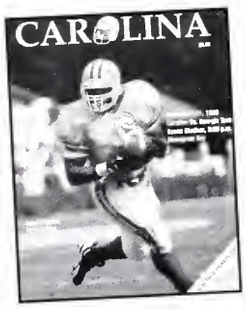
Carolina allowed just 214 total yards and shut down the nation's seventh-ranked rushing offense in a 16-0 victory over Georgia Tech.

The Tar Heels, ranked 11th in the AP poll and 13th by the USA Today/CNN coaches poll, recorded its second shutout of the season and second over an Atlantic Coast Conference team. The last time Carolina blanked two ACC teams in the same season was 1972.



In front of an ABC regional television audience and a sellout crowd of 50,000 at Kenan Stadium, Carolina improved to 8-0-1 against the Yellow Jackets at home since 1980.

The UNC offense was led by tailback Leon Johnson who rushed for 100 yards on 23 carries and quarterback Chris Keldorf who threw two touchdown passes.

Carolina took the opening kickoff 59 yards down to the Georgia Tech 6-yard line before settling for a 23-yard Josh McGee field goal. The key play in the drive came on 3rd-and-7 from the Georgia Tech 46-yard line. Keldorf found Na Brown over the middle for a 16-yard reception and a first down.

In the second quarter, a long Georgia Tech run was negated by a holding call. Two plays later, UNC cornerback Dre' Bly picked off a Joe Hamilton pass and returned the ball 44 yards before he was pushed out at the 5-yard line. On 3rd-and-goal, Keldorf lobbed a pass to the back of the end zone where tight end Freddie Jones made a spectacular one-handed grab.

The two teams traded the next six possessions before the Tar Heels struck again. With just 1:04 remaining in the first half and the ball at the Georgia Tech 37-yard line, Keldorf connected with Brown on a 24-yard touchdown pass. The drive consumed just three plays, 37 yards and 0:34.

In the second half, neither team was able to put any points on the scoreboard. On Georgia Tech's first possession of the third quarter, Hamilton and tailback C.J. Williams led the team to the Carolina 19-yard line. But the Tar Heels stuffed Tech on a 4th-and-1 and Carolina took over on downs. Georgia Tech did not get any closer to the Carolina goal line for the remainder of the day.

In the third quarter, freshman Deon Dyer stripped Georgia Tech punt returner Harvey Middleton at the Carolina 18-yard line, but the Tar Heels failed to convert. An illegal procedure call negated McGee's 29-yard field goal and McGee's try from 34 yards was blocked.

With 6:16 remaining in the fourth quarter, Carolina put the game out of reach by using up over three minutes on offense. Johnson was finally able to break through the Yellow Jacket defense as he put together consecutive runs of 15, 2, 7 and 14 yards.

Twice in the second half, Bly intercepted a Hamilton pass. It marked the first time a Tar Heel had three interceptions in the same game since Steve Streater against Duke in 1980.

Carolina entered the game ranked sixth in rushing defense and second in pass efficiency. The Tar Heels held Williams, Georgia Tech's leading rusher, to just 27 yards on 19 carries and did not allow a completed pass until 3:01 remaining in the third quarter.

Carolina had six sacks led by defensive tackle Vonnie Holliday who had two. Linebackers Brian Simmons and Kivuusama Mays led the team in tackles with 10 each.

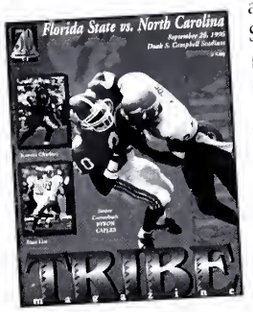
FLORIDA STATE 13

Game 4 • September 28, 1996
Doak Campbell Stadium • Tallahasse, Fla.

ABC sports

In a battle of the nation's top two defensive units, Florida State had just enough offense to score a 13-0 victory and hand the Tar Heels their first loss of the season.

An ABC-regionally televised crowd and 80,120 fans at Doak Campbell Stadium saw Florida State's No. 1-ranked defense hold Carolina to 187 total yards and sack junior quarterback Chris Keldorf an FSU-record eight times. The Tar Heel defense, ranked second in the nation, was equally outstanding, limiting FSU's normally explosive offense to 213 yards.



Carolina did not allow a Florida State first down until the middle of the second quarter and held Heisman Trophy candidate Warrick Dunn to 73 rushing yards. Despite leading in nearly every statistical category in the first half, the Tar Heels still trailed 10-0 at the break.

The difference in the game was on special teams. Florida State blocked two punts which led to Scott Bentley field goals and blocked a Carolina field goal attempt on the game's opening drive.

In fact, Carolina's opening drive was its most extensive, driving to the Florida State 30-yard line. The Tar Heels did not advance the ball deeper into Seminole territory the rest of the afternoon. After Keldorf was sacked back to the FSU 36, Josh McGee lined up a 53-yard field goal, but Shevin Smith broke through the Tar Heel line and blocked the ball straight up into the air.

Late in the first quarter with a steady rain falling, Derrick DePriest's punt from the UNC 39-yard line was blocked by Dexter Jackson. The Seminoles scored on the first play of the second quarter with a 33-yard Bentley field goal.

With 3:48 remaining in the first half, Florida State had the ball at Carolina's 41-yard line. On the second play from scrimmage, Thad Busby deep pass for Andre Cooper was intercepted by Dre' Bly. Bly, who would later intercept his second pass of the day and sixth of the season, fumbled on the return at the 11-yard line where it was recovered by Florida State.

On the very next play, Dunn popped through the Tar Heel defense for an 11-yard touchdown run and a 10-0 FSU lead.

Florida State's special teams again came through in the second half as Jackson blocked his second punt and gave FSU the ball at the Carolina 24-yard line. Bentley made a 37-yard field goal to make it 13-0.

The 213 yards of total offense by the Seminoles is the lowest figure by FSU since it had 173 against Nebraska in 1986. The 13 points scored by FSU marked the fewest by a Bobby Bowden team in Tallahassee since Florida beat the Seminoles, 17-13, in 1987. The 65 yards passing are the fewest by the Seminoles since Memphis allowed just 56 yards in 1984.

The shutout marked the first time Carolina had been blanked since the final game of the 1989 regular season.

Leon Johnson led UNC with 73 yards rushing and moved ahead of both Natrone Means and Ethan Horton into fifth place on the Tar Heels' alltime rushing list.

Johnson also moved ahead of Mike Voight into fourth place in alltime all-purpose yards.

Carolina 45 Wake Forest 6

Game 5 • October 5, 1996
Groves Stadium • Winston-Salem, N.C.

Leon Johnson broke the Carolina career scoring record and gained a career-high 252 all-purpose yards in a 45-6 rout over Wake Forest in front of 25,681 at Groves Stadium.

Johnson, who entered the game eight points behind Mike Voight on the alltime Carolina scoring chart, scored the game's first touchdown on a 5-yard dash. He then broke the record with a 94-yard kickoff return in the second quarter. The second touchdown also gave Johnson 42 for his career, tying the UNC career record also held by Voight.

The Tar Heels entered the game with an offense that ranked 90th in the country. But Johnson, who gained 101 yards rushing, and Chris Keldorf, who threw for 262 yards and three touchdowns, helped Carolina rack up 497 total yards of offense, its most in a conference game since 1994.

With 4:58 remaining in the first quarter, Carolina, which had earlier missed a 22-yard field goal, finally got on the board with an 11-play, 79-yard drive that culminated with Johnson's first touchdown. Keldorf was 3-for-4 in the drive, including two third down pass conversions.

In the second quarter, Carolina scored 17 points, highlighted by a 32-yard catch-and-run touchdown by Octavus Barnes and a career-long 49-yard field goal by Josh McGee.

Barnes, who tore his anterior cruciate ligament in the 1995 Carquest Bowl, had see limited action in the Tar Heels first four games. Following a Brian Simmons' interception which gave Carolina the ball at the Wake Forest 20-yard line, the Tar Heels failed to advance the ball on their first two downs. On 3rd-and-10, Keldorf hit Barnes over the middle on a routine crossing pattern. Barnes broke a tackle and followed Johnson's block right up the field and into the end zone.

McGee, who had earlier missed a short field goal, put the Tar Heels up 24-6 at the half with a 49-yard boot that just made it over the crossbar.

Carolina came out of the break and immediately drove the ball 78 yards in 6:25 for a 31-6 lead. Keldorf hit tight end Freddie Jones on 3rd-and-goal for the score.

Carolina's final touchdown was a first for starting fullback Chris Watson. The score was set up by a 20-yard interception return by safety Ronald Thomas. From the Wake Forest 1-yard line Watson surged up the middle for his first career touchdown and a 45-6 Tar Heel lead.

Despite allowing a season-high 313 yards, including 284 passing yards, Carolina forced five turnovers. The Tar Heels picked off three passes, including one by cornerback Robert Williams, and recovered two fumbles. The Demon Deacons were limited to just 29 yards on the ground.

The win was Carolina's seventh straight over the Deacs as UNC improved to 4-1 overall and 2-1 in ACC competition.

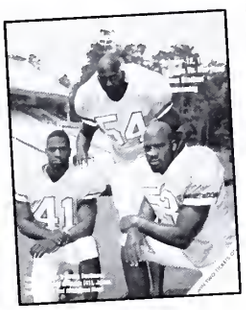
Quarterback Chris Keldorf completed 25 of 35 passes for 340 yards as the Tar Heels rolled up 551 total yards in a 38-7 victory over Maryland. On a chilly night in Chapel Hill, No. 13 (AP)/14 (USA Today/CNN) Carolina avenged a 1995 defeat in front of an espn 2 national television audience.

Keldorf's 340 yards passing was the second-highest total in school history and combined with his total of 262 yards passing against Wake Forest the prior week is a Carolina record for yards gained in two consecutive contests.



Keldorf threw four touchdown passes, including three to L.C. Stevens and one to Na Brown. It was the first time a Carolina quarterback had thrown for four touchdowns since Mark Maye against Georgia Tech in 1987.

The Tar Heels offense clicked from the opening kickoff. Carolina needed just two plays on its first possession to go 79 yards in 45 seconds for a score, culminating with a 76-yard touchdown pass to Stevens.

Maryland, who attempted numerous trick plays throughout the night, quickly responded with a 60-yard reverse by Geroy Simon.

Carolina completely dominated from that point, only allowing Maryland to cross the 50-yard line three times and holding the Terps to just 76 yards. The Tar Heels controlled the ball for over 41 minutes on offense and converted on 15 of 21 third down conversions.

Stevens, who had 167 receiving yards and three touchdowns, put the Tar Heels up 21-7 on back-to-back touchdown receptions. The first came on a 3rd-and-10 play from the Maryland 25-yard line on the last play of the first quarter. Stevens then capped off the most prolific day of his young career with a 7-yard touchdown catch on UNC's first possession of the second quarter.

Carolina scored again when Keldorf hit Brown, the ACC's leading receiver, with a 19-yard touchdown dart. Tailback Jonathan Linton rushed for 30 yards on the Tar Heels' 7-play, 54-yard scoring drive.

Following a Dre' Bly interception, Josh McGee kicked a 40-yard field goal to give Carolina a 31-7 lead.

Oscar Davenport relieved Keldorf in the fourth quarter and drove the Tar Heels 70 yards for Carolina's final touchdown. On an end around rushing attempt, Davenport fumbled into the end zone, where the ball was recovered by tight end Alge Crumpler.

Leon Johnson rushed for 79 yards, moving to third place on the Carolina career rushing chart.

Defensive end Greg Ellis led the Tar Heels with two sacks and also had four tackles.

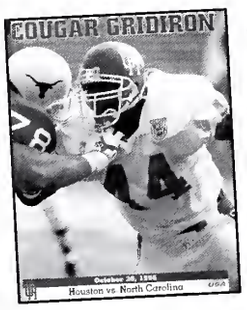
Carolina 42
Houston 14

Game 7 • October 26, 1996
Astrodome • Houston, Texas

FOX SPORTS NET

Carolina upped its alltime record to 6-0 in dome stadiums with a 42-14 victory over Houston at the Astrodome.

It was yet another outstanding game for quarterback Chris Keldorf as he threw for four touchdowns for the second consective game. His 322 passing yards marked the first time in school history that a quarterback had thrown for over 300 yards in consecutive games. Combined with his yardage total against Maryland (340) and Wake Forest (262), Keldorf's consecutive three-game total of 924 yards is another school record.



Before a sparse crowd of only 16,850, the Tar Heels created their own excitement with five touchdown passes, including a fourth-quarter scoring toss from Oscar Davenport.

All-conference tight end Freddie Jones established a career high with seven catches for 95 yards, including a career-long 43-yard touchdown reception.

Carolina's defense held the Cougars on three and out on the game's first possession and had excellent field position following Leon Johnson's 37-yard punt return. Johnson, who had 74 yards rushing, 82 yards on punt returns and 39 kickoff return yards, moved past Don McCauley as the school's career leader in all-purpose yards with 5,138 yards.

The Tar Heels drove 45 yards and opened the scoring with a 3-yard touchdown toss from Keldorf to wide receiver Na Brown.

Carolina's next possession ended on a blocked field goal, but early in the second quarter Keldorf found Octavus Barnes, who broke a tackle and scored on a 32-yard touchdown strike.

Johnson's name was again etched in the UNC record book as he scored his 43rd career touchdown on a 1-yard run to give Carolina a 21-0 lead. The touchdown broke the previous Carolina record of 42 set by Mike Voight from 1973-76.

In the second half, Houston quarterback Chuck Clements, who threw for just 43 yards in the first half, twice found open receivers for touchdowns after being flushed out of the pocket. He connected with Robbie Wheeler on UH's first possession of the third quarter and then found Damion Johnson on a 39-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter. The 39-yard pass and resulting total of 14 points are both opponent highs against UNC's defense.

After Houston's first score, Keldorf drove the Tar Heels 88 yards and hit Jones on a 43-yard touchdown pass. Jones, who had a career-high seven receptions caught the ball over the middle, broke three tackles and rumbled down the sideline for his fourth touchdown of the year.

Houston did not earn a first down in its final two drives, failing to advance the ball past its own 37-yard line.

Davenport relieved Keldorf in the fourth quarter and was 4-4 for 28 yards and one touchdown. He hit Ebenezer Ekuban on a 4-yard touchdown pass for the final 42-14 margin.

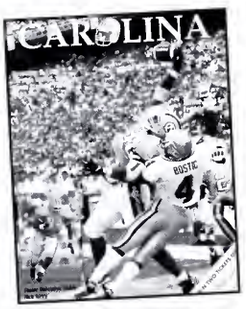
CAROLINA 52
N.C. STATE 20

Game 8 • November 2, 1996
Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

Jefferson Pilot Sports

Tailback Leon Johnson scored four touchdowns for the third time in his career and quarterback Chris Keldorf had his third straight 300-yard passing game as Carolina defeated N.C. State for the fourth-consecutive time, 52-20, in front of 47,000 at Kenan Stadium.

Carolina's 52 points were the most scored in the 102-game series against N.C. State.



Keldorf was 16 for 22 for 315 yards and three touchdowns. He passed Matt Kupec as the school's alltime career touchdown leader with 20 and became the first Carolina quarterback to throw for over 300 yards in three straight games. In addition, he set the Carolina record for passes attempted without an interception, breaking Chris Kupec's record of 120.

Despite allowing a season-high 20 points, the Carolina defense allowed just 240 total yards and had a season-high nine sacks for 94 yards.

Defensive tackle Vonnie Holliday sacked N.C. State quarterback Jamie Barnette on the first play from scrimmage and Kivuusama Mays recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Following another N.C. State turnover on a punt return, Carolina drove 40 yards in five plays and scored on a 1-yard run by Johnson. Johnson also scored a 1-yard touchdown on the Tar Heels' next possession, giving UNC a 19-0 advantage.

N.C. State rallied with a 78-yard scoring drive that ended with a 12-yard touchdown pass from Jamie Barnette to Torry Holt. The Wolfpack could not sustain the momentum on its next possession and Johnson took Jay Dukes' punt 39 yards up the middle for a touchdown. It was the second time Johnson had returned a kick for a touchdown this season, tying a Carolina record.

Johnson, who scored his fourth touchdown on a 2-yard run in the fourth quarter, moved into fifth place on the ACC's career scoring chart.

Carolina led 33-14 at halftime, but fumbled the second-half opening kickoff and N.C. State recovered. Barnette tossed a 24-yard strike to Jimmy Grissett, closing the gap to 33-20.

However, the Tar Heels rattled off 19-consecutive points led by wide receiver Octavus Barnes. On 3rd-and-7 from the State 26-yard line, Keldorf scrambled out of the pocket and lofted a soft pass over the Wolfpack defense that landed safely in Barnes' hands.

In the fourth quarter Barnes, who had his seventh career 100-yard receiving game, caught a Keldorf pass near the N.C. State sideline, shook off one tackler and raced down the sideline 63 yards for his second touchdown.

Mays led Carolina with 12 tackles and Greg Ellis had 2.5 sacks for 30 yards.

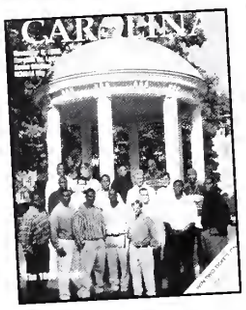
Carolina 28
Louisville 10

Game 9 • November 9, 1996
Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

Linebacker Brian Simmons returned an interception 84 yards with 3:17 remaining in the fourth quarter to cement a 28-10 victory over a stubborn Louisville squad.

In a battle of two of the nation's top defenses, neither team was able to sustain any offensive momentum. Carolina held the Cardinals to just 1 yard rushing, the lowest total by a Tar Heel opponent since 1947. Louisville was equal to the task, limiting Carolina to just 20 yards rushing.



In fact, Louisville outgained the Tar Heels, 269 to 226. But as they have done all season, Carolina capitalized on its opponent's turnovers.

Cardinals' quarterback Chris Redman threw two fourth-quarter interceptions and Louisville committed five turnovers overall.

Louisville's Ryan wade scored on a 4-yard run to give UL a 7-0 lead. That marked just the second time all year the Tar Heels had trailed at any point in a game. Louisville's drive, which covered 38 yards in five plays, was aided by a 15-yard personal foul penalty.

The Tar Heels responded quickly as quarterback Chris Keldorf hit L.C. Stevens with a 44-yard touchdown pass. Keldorf was just able to get the ball away before he was flattened by the Louisville pass rush.

With just 2:03 remaining in the first half, Keldorf completed five of six passes, including a 15-yard toss to Octavus Barnes for a touchdown and a 14-7 UNC lead. Scrambling out of the pocket, Keldorf was able to find Barnes, who had slipped behind the defense for the catch.

Carolina looked to continue its momentum in the third quarter, scoring on its first second-half possession. On 3rd-and-8 from the Louisville 43-yard line, Keldorf completed an 18-yard pass to Stevens for a first down. In addition, the Cardinals were penalized for roughing the passer and Carolina wound up with 1st-and-10 from the UL 12-yard line.

After four consecutive three and outs, Louisville completed a 35-yard pass and had first down on the UNC 16. But Carolina was able to hold Louisville on three straight pass attempts and the Cardinals were forced to kick a 33-yard field goal.

Following a Leon Johnson fumble, Louisville had the ball on the UNC 23-yard line, but could not move the ball forward. A Louisville penalty nullified a successful 43-yard field goal and the subsequent try sailed wide right.

In the fourth quarter, Louisville wide receiver Ibn Green appeared to score on a long pass play, but just as Green was ready to cross the goal line, strong safety Greg Williams stripped Green and UNC's Russell Davis recovered at the 1-yard line.

The Cardinals mounted one more substantial drive late in the fourth quarter, driving to the Carolina 21. But Simmons' interception, his third of the year, sealed the Tar Heel victory.

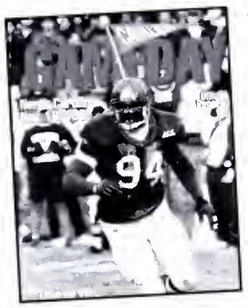
Virginia 20

Game 10 • November 16, 1996
Scott Stadium • Charlottesville, Va.

ABC sports

Rafael Garcia booted a 32-yard field goal with 39 seconds remaining to give Virginia a 20-17 come-from-behind victory and end Carolina's five-game winning streak. Played before an ABC regional television audience and a Scott Stadium crowd of 42,500, Carolina lost its seventh straight in Charlottesville.



The game's biggest offensive play, a 41-yard pass from Virginia's Tim Sherman to Germane Crowell ultimately decided a game that was dominated by both defenses. With the score tied at 17 and just 2:11 remaining, Crowell and Carolina free safety Omar Brown both seemed to have a grasp on the ball as they fell to the ground. Crowell was awarded possession and Virginia set up the field goal with three straight rushes.

Set up by a 57-yard interception return by Brian Simmons, Carolina had the ball at the Virginia 9-yard line and held a 17-3 lead with 10:03 to play. But on 3rd-and-goal, Antwan Harris picked off Chris Keldorf's slant pass and ran it back 95 yards for a touchdown.

Carolina was unable to move the ball on its next possession and were forced to punt the ball back to the Wahoos.

On their next drive, the Cavaliers converted two fourth-down chances. The second conversion came on a 7-yard touchdown run by Sherman to tie the score. Sherman scrambled for six yards on 4th-and-4 from the UNC 21 and then scored the tying touchdown from the seven.

Carolina seemed to take control of the game in the third quarter when Keldorf hit Octavus Barnes on a 7-yard touchdown pass. Carolina converted five-of-five third down conversions on the drive, eating up 80 yards and 6:32 of the clock. On four of those five third downs, Keldorf found Barnes to advance the chains. For the game, Barnes caught seven passes for 66 yards.

Freshman cornerback Dre' Bly then intercepted Sherman's pass and ran it back 51 yards for a touchdown and a seemingly insurmountable 17-3 lead. For Bly it was his nation-leading 11th interception of the season and first career touchdown.

For the second straight game, Carolina failed to establish a strong running game. The Tar Heels ran for just 11 yards and had just one first down on the ground. Leon Johnson led the Tar Heel ground game with 16 carries for 40 yards. Much of Carolina's rushing total was erased by Virginia's seven sacks for 41 yards.

Carolina's defense held Heisman Trophy hopeful Tiki Barber to just 79 yards on 26 carries. Kivuusama Mays paced the Tar Heels with 13 stops.

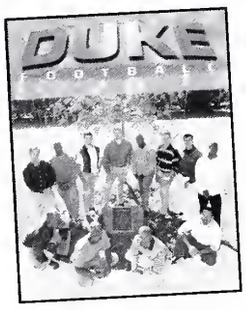
Carolina 27 Duke 10

Game 11 • November 23, 1996
Wallace Wade Stadium • Durham, N.C.

Jefferson Pilot Sports

Carolina defeated arch-rival Duke, 27-10, for the seventh-straight season, but lost record-setting quarterback Chris Keldorf for the remainder of the year. Keldorf, who established Carolina records for touchdown passes in a season, went down in the first quarter with a fracture dislocation of his left ankle.



On the same drive in which Keldorf injured his ankle, the Tar Heels drove 49 yards on eight plays and scored on a 1-yard run by Leon Johnson.

Johnson, who became the Atlantic Coast Conference's all-purpose yardage leader on the game's opening 16-yard kickoff return, rushed for a season-high 167 yards, scored two touchdowns, had 265 all-purpose yards and threw a 40-yard pass. Despite scoring twice, Johnson came up short on his attempt to tie N.C. State's Ted Brown for the ACC's alltime touchdown lead. Johnson, who ended his career with 50 touchdowns, failed to score from the 1-yard line late in the fourth quarter.

With Keldorf shelved, back-up quarterback Oscar Davenport, who had played well, but sparingly in the prior 10 games, came off the bench and ignited the offense. Davenport was 10 of 13 for 162 yards, including an 80-yard touchdown pass to his roommate L.C. Stevens. It was the Tar Heel's longest pass play of the year and the sixth-longest in school history.

With Carolina holding a 7-0 lead, Davenport and Johnson moved the Tar Heels 70 yards in six plays for a touchdown. On successive plays, Davenport hit Darrin Ashford on a 22-yard pass and Johnson found Na Brown on a halfback option pass play. From six yards out, Johnson carried twice for the score.

After Carolina's defense held Duke on a fourth-and-one from the Devils' 29-yard line, Carolina's Josh McGee booted a 26-yard field goal for a 16-0 lead.

Duke put points on the board just before the half. The Blue Devils found new life via an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty after failing to convert a 3rd-and-16 chance. Moments later Dave Green hit Corey Thomas for a 38-yard touchdown reception.

Duke came out of the half and drove the ball 70 yards in 3:29, but stalled at the Carolina 5-yard line. Sims Lenhardt kicked a 23-yard field goal to pull Duke within six at 16-10.

Carolina responded quickly with Davenport hitting Stevens on an 80-yard touchdown on 3rd-and-14. Carolina tacked on a 20-yard field goal with 2:20 remaining in the game. Stevens finished with six receptions for 135 yards as Carolina passed for 269 yards.

Johnson's 167 yards highlighted a Carolina running game that finished with a season-high 202 rushing yards.

Carolina 20
West Virginia 13

Game 12 • January 1, 1997
Gator Bowl • Jacksonville, Fla.

NBC Sports

Oscar Davenport, starting in place of injured first-team all-conference quarterback Chris Keldorf, completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and one touchdown as Carolina defeated West Virginia 20-13 in the 52nd annual Toyota Gator Bowl. Davenport, who also rushed for one touchdown, was named the game's MVP.

The win was Carolina's ninth bowl victory overall and the third under head coach Mack Brown. Brown also led the Tar Heels to victories in the 1993 Peach Bowl and the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

In a game that featured the nation's top two defenses, neither team was able to score in the first quarter. Carolina broke the scoring drought early in the second quarter when Davenport found Barnes in the back corner of the end zone on an 18-yard pass. The Tar Heel drive, which began at their own 10-yard line following a missed West Virginia field goal, was led by Davenport who was 5 of 6 passing, including a 30-yard, third-down completion to Na Brown.

Carolina led the nation in turnover margin in 1996 and was quickly able to capitalize on West Virginia's first miscue of the afternoon when cornerback Robert Williams picked off Chad Johnston's errant pass. That led to a 22-yard Josh McGee field goal.

West Virginia finally broke through the Carolina defense with a 12-play, 43-yard drive that resulted in a Jay Taylor field goal. The Mountaineers had the ball at Carolina's 5-yard line, but Johnston was sacked by defensive end Greg Ellis and his next three passes were either hurried or broken up.

As time was running down in the first half, Davenport and Leon Johnson led the Tar Heels on a five-play touchdown drive. Johnson caught a pass for 13 yards and rushed twice for 19 yards in the drive. Davenport scored on a 5-yard option keeper for a 17-3 lead. His first-half numbers were oustanding as the St. Petersburg, Fla., native was 11 of 14 for 136 yards and one touchdown.

West Virginia opened the second-half scoring with a 34-yard touchdown pass to close within seven points. A fumble recovery by Greg Williams ended one WVU threat, but West Virginia had one last chance to tie the game late in the fourth quarter. As it had done all season, Carolina's defense rose to the challenge, stopping the Mountaineers on 4th-and-6 at the UNC 24 with just under two minutes remaining. A tackle for a loss by Mike Pringley and a pressure by Brian Simmons were the key defensive plays.

Dre' Bly, Carolina's consensus first-team All-America, picked off two second-half passes. Carolina's defense forced four West Virginia turnovers; the Mountaineers had 10 in 11 regular-season games.

6-1, 210, Morganton, N.C.

•The only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be ranked among the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in scoring, top five in touchdowns, top 10 in rushing yards and top 10 in receptions.
•Holds the ACC record for career all-purpose yards with 5,828.
•Averaged nearly 130 all-purpose yards per game in his career.
•Carolina's alltime leading scorer and touchdown maker with 306 points and 50 touchdowns.
•Finished his career just one touchdown shy of the ACC record set by Ted Brown of N.C. State and scored 10 or more touchdowns in each of his four seasons as a Tar Heel.
•Is second alltime at UNC in receptions with 151, just four shy of the school record and is tied for 10th all-time in ACC history.
•Holds the UNC record and is second alltime in receptions by a running back. Duke's Roger Boone had 168 to set the ACC mark.
•Is third all-time at Carolina and eighth in ACC history in rushing yards with 3,693. Is third in UNC career rushing attempts with 797.
•Amos Lawrence and Mike Voight are the only players in UNC history with more rushing yards.
•Set the alltime ACC all-purpose yardage record with the opening kickoff return at Duke in 1996, a 16-yard return.
•In addition to 3,693 yards rushing, he also caught passes for 1,288 yards, returned punts for 390 yards and kickoffs for 457 yards.
•His 50 career touchdowns came in a variety of ways – he rushed for 43 scores, had four touchdowns by reception, returned two punts for scores and one kickoff for a TD. He also completed 4 of 7 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown in his career. He is seventh all-time at Carolina in total offense with 3,823 yards.
•Was selected the Tar Heels' Offensive Most Valuable Player in 1996, the second straight year in which he received that honor.
•Was named first-team All-ACC as a specialist and second-team All-ACC at tailback in 1996. He had his finest all-around season as a Tar Heel, averaging 166.5 yards per game, the seventh-highest single-season figure in ACC history and the ninth-best in the NCAA this year.
•As a senior, he scored 10 touchdowns by rush, one on a 94-yard kickoff return at Wake Forest and one on a 39-yard punt return against N.C. State. He was one of 15 semifinaliats for National Offensive Player of the Year by Football News.

•Had at least 100 all-purpose yards in 10 games in 1996 and had more than 200 yards in four of the last seven games, including a career-high 265 all-purpose yards in his regular-season finale at Duke when he led the Tar Heels to a 27-10 win over the Blue Devils.
•Had 252 all-purpose yards at Wake Forest in 1996, 94 of which came on a kickoff return for a touchdown, the eighth-longest return in school history. He had 101 yards rushing, 40 receiving and 111 on returns against the Demon Deacons.
•Had 233 all-purpose yards against N.C. State in his final season, including 39 on his second career punt return for a touchdown. He rushed for 90 yards and a season-high three touchdowns against the Wolfpack. It was his second career four-touchdown game and the first since 1993.
•Finished his career with 15 100-yard rushing games, including a career-high 195 yards against Arkansas in the 1995 Carquest Bowl. As a senior he had 109 yards against Clemson, 100 against Georgia Tech, 101 against Wake Forest and 167 against N.C. State. Had a 67-yard run against Clemson to set up Carolina's first touchdown.
•Elected by his teammates as a team captain following the regular season.
•In 1995, he became the first Tar Heel player in 24 years and the fourth in 65 previous seasons to lead the team in rushing yards and receptions in the same season.
•Set the school record for receptions as a junior with 54 catches, breaking the previous mark of 52 set in 1949 by Art Weiner and and in 1966 by Charlie Carr. Also set the UNC single-game receptions record for a running back with 10 against Syracuse.
•Honorable-mention ACC selection as a junior and second-team All-ACC as a sophomore.
•Was a runaway winner for the ACC Rookie of the Year award in 1993 and was a second-team All-ACC selection.
•He became just the second Tar Heel and fourth ACC player to rush for 1,000 yards in his freshman season and was named to Football News' first-team Freshman All-America team.

Freddie Jones

Tight End
6-5, 255, Landover, Md.

92

•Two-time first-team All-ACC tight end.
•Picked by the San Diego Chargers in the second round of the 1997 NFL Draft.
•Set a UNC single-season record for receptions by a tight end with 32 as a senior. That was three more than he had in his first three years combined.
•Was fourth on the team in receptions and tied for third on the team with four touchdown catches in 1996.
•Named a Football News third-team All-America in 1996
•Elected by his teammates as a team captain in 1996.
•Had 62 career receptions for 580 yards and six touchdowns. He had a 50-yard reception against Alabama in the 1993 Gator Bowl.
•Had a season- and career-high seven catches for 95 yards and a touchdown at Houston in UNC's 42-14 victory. In that contest, he made a great catch-and-run on a 43-yard pass play on which he literally ran over a Cougar defender.
•Began 1996 with four receptions for 22 yards against Clemson and was outstanding in a win at Syracuse as he made four grabs for 48 yards, including a key, 18-yard touchdown catch-and-run down the right sideline early in the final quarter.
•Made a leaping, one-handed catch in the left corner of the end zone against Georgia Tech in 1996. It was one of the most spectacular plays of the season by any UNC player or opponent.

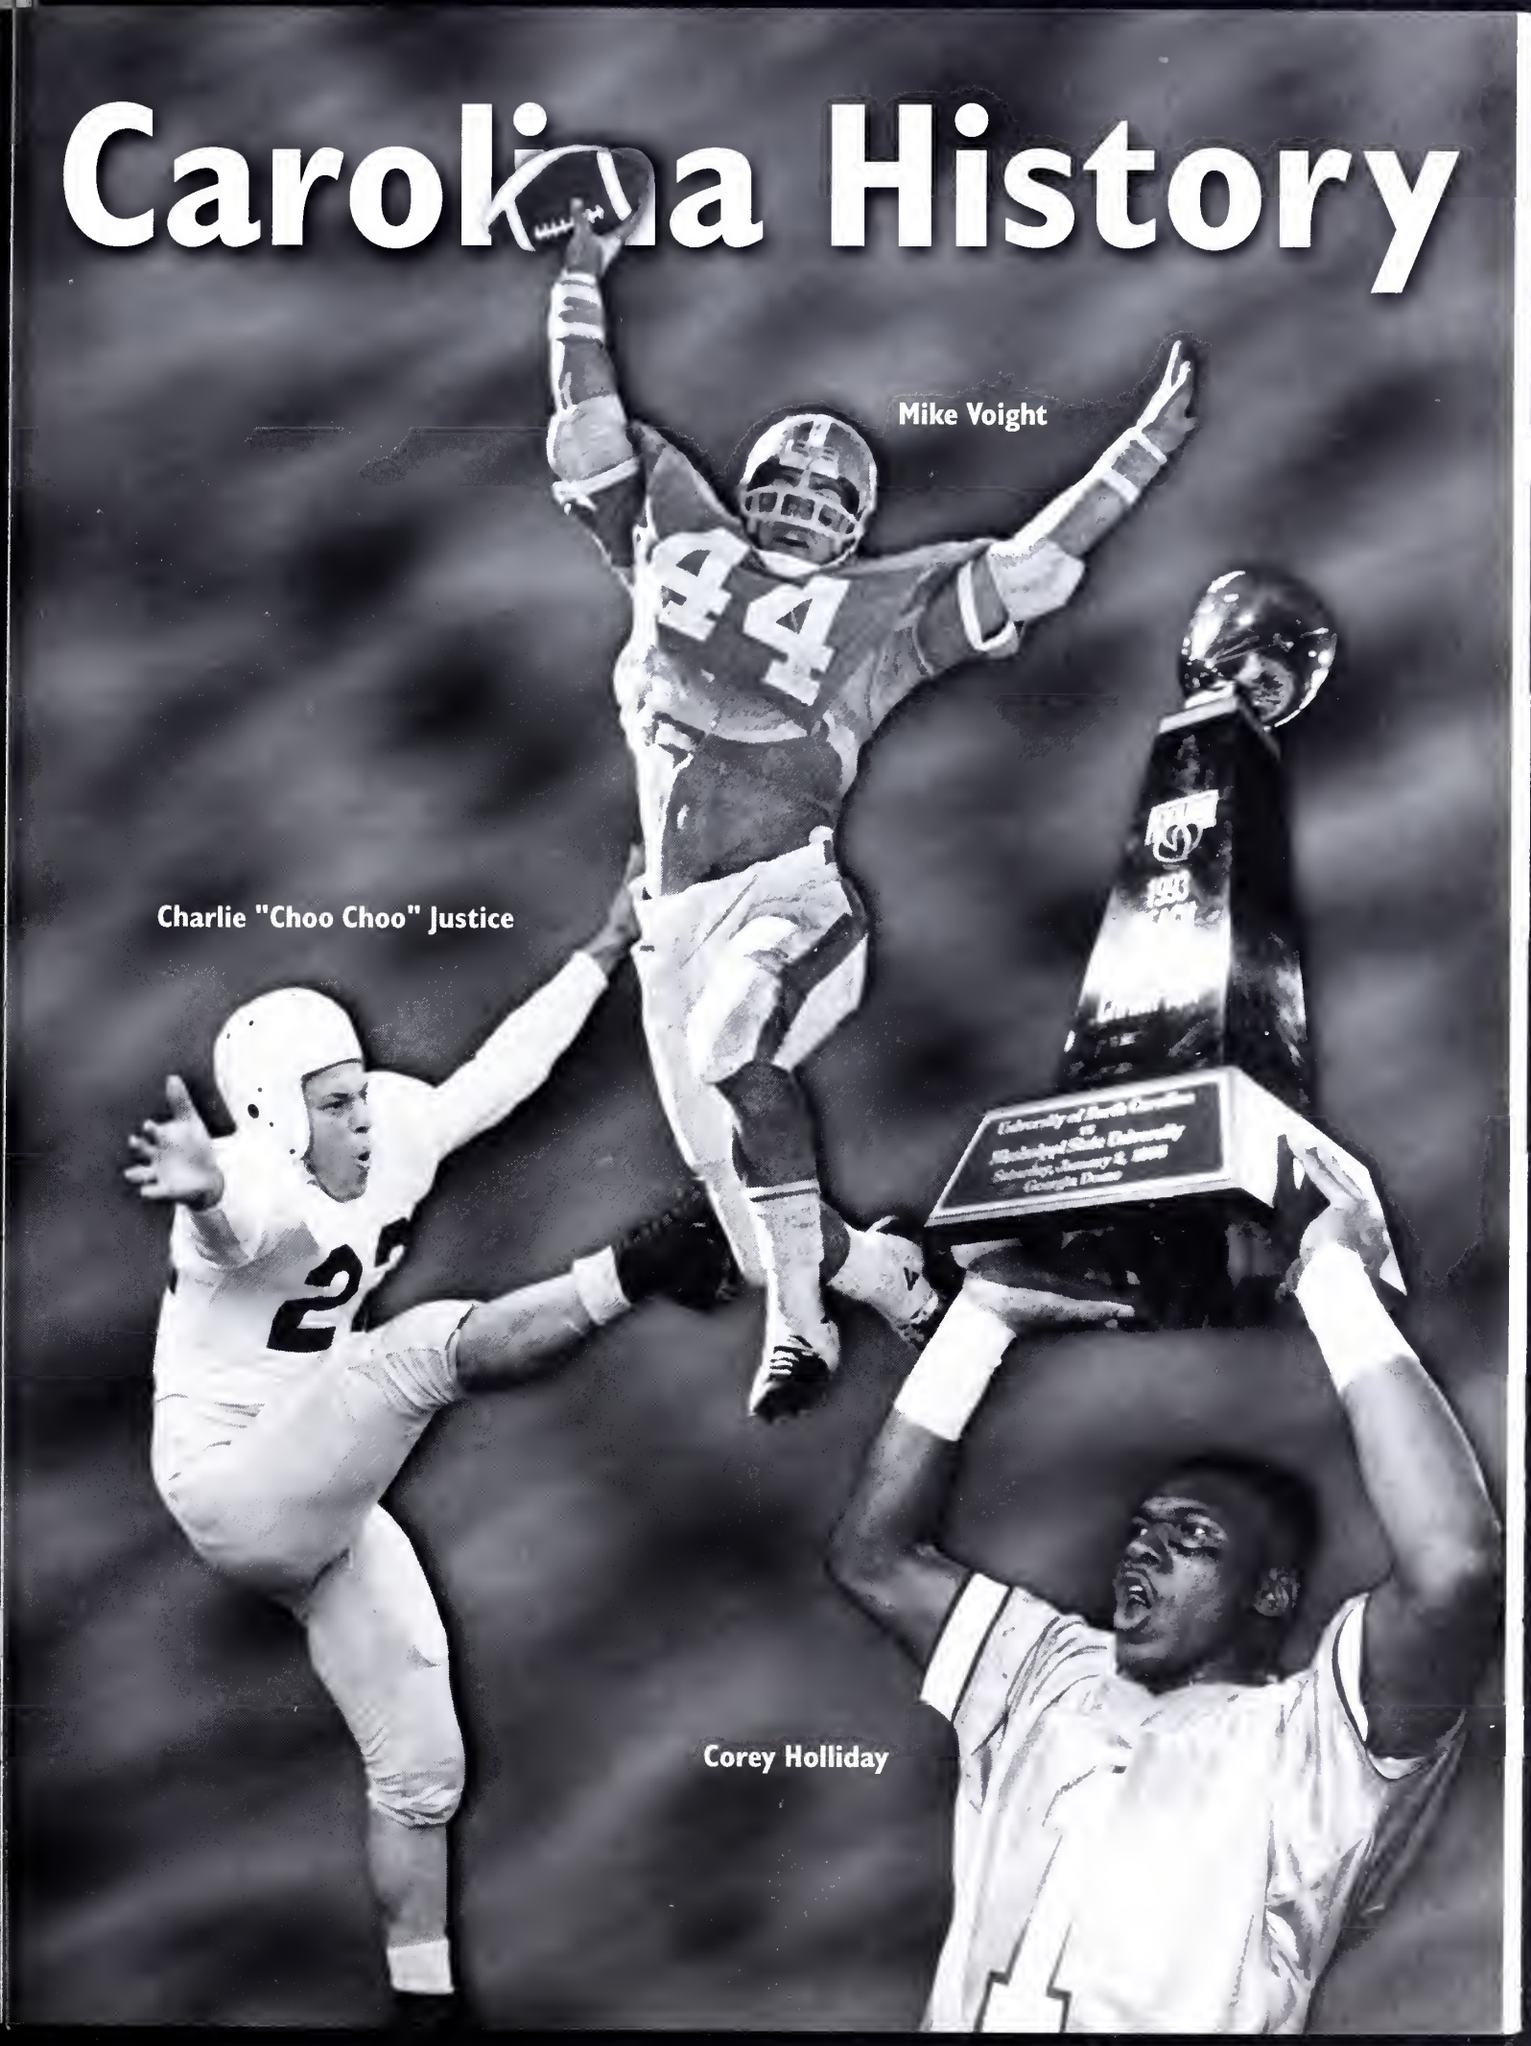
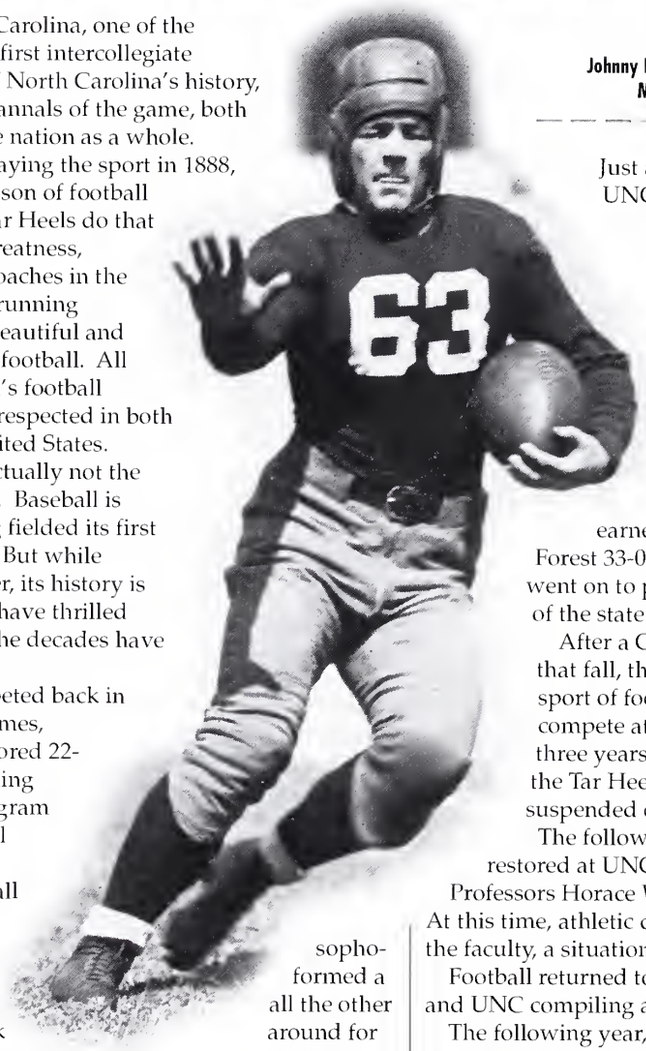
Carolina History



Carolina Football History



Johnny Branch's 96-yard punt return for a touchdown against Maryland in 1930 is the longest in UNC history.

The University of North Carolina, one of the institutions involved in the first intercollegiate football game in the state of North Carolina's history, holds a special place in the annals of the game, both in the Tar Heel state and the nation as a whole.

Carolina, which began playing the sport in 1888, will embark on its 107th season of football competition in 1997. The Tar Heels do that with a history of gridiron greatness, including some of the top coaches in the game, a lineage of talented running backs and one of the most beautiful and historic stadiums in college football. All factors considered, Carolina's football tradition is one of the most respected in both the South and the entire United States.

Surprisingly, football is actually not the oldest varsity sport at UNC. Baseball is accorded that honor, having fielded its first varsity squad back in 1867. But while football started 21 years later, its history is replete with memories that have thrilled legions of Carolina fans as the decades have elapsed.

The first UNC team competed back in 1888 and played but two games, losing both and being outscored 22-4. That inauspicious beginning belies the success of the program since then, but those football pioneers are nevertheless credited with starting football at Carolina.

In the fall of 1888, the sophomore class at UNC had formed a team and after vanquishing all the other classes at UNC, began to look around for stiffer opposition. The UNC team challenged the Wake Forest squad to a game which was scheduled during the State Fair in Raleigh on October 18, 1888. Wake won the game 6-4 in what came to be acknowledged as the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the state of North Carolina.

Later that same fall, Carolina challenged Trinity (now Duke) to a Thanksgiving Day contest in Raleigh that drew a crowd of 600 for a 16-0 Trinity triumph. One member of that 1888 UNC team was John Motley Morehead, who went on to great fame as the founder of Union Carbide and who endowed the Morehead Scholarship program and several buildings on the Carolina campus.

That first Carolina team's results may not have been what was expected, but the leaders of the '88 team did get the ball rolling. In Carolina's first 106 seasons of football competition, the Tar Heels have compiled a record of 573-406-54, a winning percentage of .581. Carolina has played in 21 bowl games in its history and won five Southern Conference championships and five Atlantic Coast Conference titles.

Twenty-five Tar Heel players have been honored as first-team All-Americas on 30 occasions. Carolina had 32 All-Southern Conference selections when it played in that league until 1952 and since joining the ACC in 1953, has had 154 first-team All-ACC choices.

Just a few months after the loss to Trinity in 1888, UNC acquired the services of Hector Cowan, former great tackle and captain at Princeton, to help teach the UNC players the fundamentals of the game.

Cowan arrived in February 1889 and drilled the Tar Heel troops on the existing athletic field, located on the current site of Bynum Hall.

The 1889 team played two games in the spring and two in the fall. On March 1, 1889, Carolina earned its first win in football as it routed Wake Forest 33-0 before a crowd of 500 in Raleigh. UNC went on to post a 2-2 record that year and earn a share of the state championship with Trinity and Wake Forest.

After a Carolina player suffered a broken collarbone that fall, the University faculty voted to discontinue the sport of football in January 1890 and Carolina did not compete at all the following fall. That is one of only three years since the start of football in 1888 in which the Tar Heels have not fielded a team; play was also suspended during World War I in 1917 and 1918.

The following year, students petitioned to have football restored at UNC and the ban was lifted with the help of Professors Horace Williams, F.P. Venable and Eban Alexander. At this time, athletic control passed from the hands of students to the faculty, a situation that still exists today.

Football returned to UNC that fall with W.P. Graves as coach and UNC compiling an 0-2 record.

The following year, 1892, is considered by most to be the first year of real football at UNC with a representative six-game schedule being played. That squad also earned the distinction of being UNC's first good team. Mike Hoke acted as team captain and the entire squad consisted of just 15 players, with UNC using only one substitute the entire season. The team opened the year with a 40-0 rout of Richmond and after a loss to Virginia in the next game, it went on to win its last four. Carolina's 5-1 mark was the best record in the South that year. That season also marked the first year in which University teams were referred to as "Carolina," with the appellations "University" and "Chapel Hill" being dropped from the popular vernacular.

A meeting in February 1893 signaled the start of the formation of what would become the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in later years. Ten schools, including UNC, were involved in the meeting and Dr. Venable was voted temporary chairman of the group. Later that same year, on May 12, the UNC athletic association approved the awarding of varsity letters for the first time.

Although the 1893 team managed only a 3-4 record, it did have the distinction of being the first Southern team to play in New York City as Carolina lost a 34-0 decision to Lehigh on November 25, 1893. A year later, Carolina brought in Vernon K. Irvine from Princeton as coach and he led Carolina to a 6-3 mark, attesting to the fact that experienced coaching benefited the team's performance. That UNC team finished second in the South and won the state championship. It was also the first to be forced to stage closed practices because of problems with crowd control at open sessions.

In 1895, T.C. "Doggie" Trenchard came from Princeton to coach the Tar Heels and he led UNC to an outstanding 7-1-1 season marred only by a loss to Virginia. A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the meeting between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers in Richmond, which UVa won 6-0. Twice during the game spectators ran onto the field to block the path of Tar Heel runners who had broken into the clear on apparent touchdown runs.

Gene Wong

Dan McCauley is carried off the field by the Kenan Stadium faithful following his legendary final home game performance in 1970. McCauley rushed for 279 yards and scored five touchdowns in a 59-42 win over Duke.

Carolina began to gain some consistency in the sport of football with the arrival of Will A. Reynolds of Princeton as head coach in 1897. Reynolds produced four winning Carolina teams in his four-year tenure at Chapel Hill. His first squad finished at 7-3 and was followed in 1898 by what is still the only unbeaten, untied team in school history. That 1898 squad was a perfect 9-0 and outscored its opponents by an amazing 201-8. The team finished the season by beating Virginia for the first time in six years, 6-2, in Richmond.

Reynolds' final two teams also posted respectable records, going 7-3-1 in 1889 and 4-1-3 in 1900.

Reynolds yielded the coaching reins after the 1900 season to Charles Jenkins, who led UNC to seven straight wins prior to a pair of season-ending losses in 1901. Carolina beat all of its state opponents to win its seventh state championship since 1892. In 1901, letters began to be awarded by an advisory committee of the athletic association. Previously, anyone who played had lettered.

The next 11 seasons saw Carolina with nine different head coaches. The 1905 Carolina squad was coached by William Warner, the brother of the famed "Pop" Warner.

Trenchard returned as Carolina's coach in 1913 for a three-year run. His 1914 squad was outstanding. Sixty men reported for the team and UNC went on to win its first 10 before losing to Virginia 20-3 before a record crowd of 15,000 in Richmond. That UNC team outscored its opponents 359-42 and became the first team in the South to display players' numbers on their jerseys.

Trenchard's 1915 squad did not fare as well, finishing the campaign with a 4-3-1 mark. Seven regulars missed the VMI game and the reserves struggled, fumbling 16 times en route to a 3-3 tie. That same year, Trenchard started the first athletic training table at UNC in his home, feeding the 56 squad members on a daily basis.

The year 1916 found the Tar Heels in a new home as Carolina began to play its games at Emerson Stadium, the site of the current Davis Library. Freshmen were banned from varsity participation for the first time and the team went 5-4 and won its sixth successive state championship.

All of the members of the 1916 squad had entered the military service in World War I by the following fall and varsity football was dropped for the second time in UNC history, this time for a two-year hiatus.

Carolina made its full-fledged return to the gridiron in 1919, going 4-3-1 under Coach Thomas J. Coleman. Carolina twice broke its single game home attendance record that year as it won the state championship. The Tar Heels defeated N.C. State, 13-12, before a crowd of 7,500 and then topped that with 9,000 for a 6-0 win over Virginia. That game marked the first time the Cavaliers had ever played in Chapel Hill.

The 1920 campaign was a dismal one as UNC went 2-6 and scored only 16 points in eight games. But a more positive era in North Carolina football began a year later with the hiring of Bill and Bob Fetzer as co-head coaches. Their hiring also marked a change in athletic policy at UNC as the Fetzers were assured of long-term positions instead of the usual one-year contracts. Carolina went 5-2-2 under the Fetzers in 1921 and 10,000 filled Emerson Field for Carolina's 7-3 win over Virginia.

That year also marked the first for UNC's participation in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference, the official name for what has come to be known today simply as the Southern Conference. At a February 25, 1921 meeting in Atlanta, the SIC was formed with a 16-school membership. The conference agreed to bans on post-season play, freshman eligibility and athletic training tables, required eligibility forms for players and disallowed organized practice before September 10.

Carolina would go on to have great success in the Southern Conference, tying for the league crown in 1922 and winning it outright in 1934, 1937, 1946 and 1949.

The Fetzers' greatest team was probably the 1922 edition which posted an impressive 9-1 mark, won the South Atlantic championship and tied for the Southern Conference crown. That team lost only to Yale, 18-0, and had three touchdowns called back by penalties in the game. The squad was ranked 11th in the nation by I.B. Thomas in the January 1923 issue of Intercollegiate Athletics and played before a record 68,500 fans during the course of the campaign.

The 1923 team was ravaged by injuries but limped to a 5-3-1 record nevertheless and a state championship for a second straight year. A year later, the Tar Heels were only 4-5 but they did play before their largest crowd to that date, 25,000 at New Haven's Yale Bowl in a 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs.

The 1925 season would prove to be the Fetzers' last as co-coaches. The Tar Heels responded with an excellent season, going 7-1-1 and winning the state championship. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest. A crowd of 16,000 jammed Emerson Field (capacity 2,400) to see the Heels and Virginia play to a 3-3 tie in the season finale.

The following year began a new era in Carolina football as Chuck Collins came on the scene as head coach. He had the longest tenure (eight years) of the early Carolina coaches. Collins, who was one of the seven mules in the offensive line for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, served as Carolina's coach from 1926 through 1933.

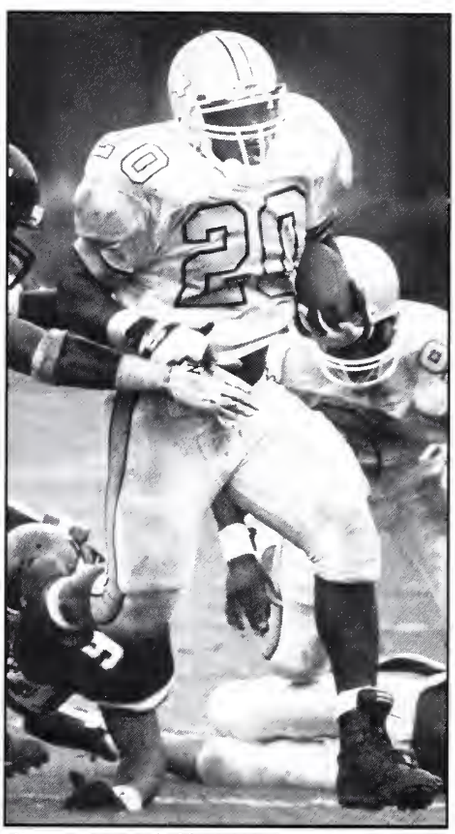
The 1926 season also brought onto the scene the infamous Kay Kyser, later to be a renowned Big Band leader and radio and motion pictures personality, as head cheerleader and his Cheerios as the first major organized cheer block at Carolina.

New stadium plans were also in the works in 1926. Carolina alumni in Durham and Chapel Hill met on May 24, 1926 to form the Durham Stadium Committee. On November 13 of that same year, William Rand Kenan, a New York City engineer and 1893 UNC football letterman, gave the University a gift of $275,000 to help build the stadium.

The first game was played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927 with UNC beating Davidson 27-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans. The following Saturday, UNC beat two-touchdown favorite Duke 18-0 in Durham. The stadium was officially dedicated on Thanksgiving Day 1927 with 28,000 attending as Carolina edged Virginia 14-13. John Sprunt Hill officially made the presentation of the stadium to Governor A.W. McLean who accepted on behalf of the University and state.

Carolina won its first state championship since 1925 during the 1928 season. Its 5-3-2 record that year included a 65-0 win over Wake Forest in the season opener. That still stands as the largest margin of victory in UNC history. President Calvin Coolidge attended the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville that year and saw the Tar Heels pull out a 24-20 win. It was the first time a U.S. President had ever attended a game in the South.

Collins' first great team was the 1929 edition which went 9-1 and outscored its opponents 346-60. The only loss of the year came to Georgia and only Southern California scored more points during the course of the season. Ray Farris was the captain of that UNC team and was a unanimous All-Southern Conference choice at guard. Carolina was called the "Team of a Million Backs" and drew a record attendance of 139,500.



David Minton

Natrane Means rushed for 1,000-plus yards in 1991 and 1992. He is tied for sixth alltime in rushing at Carolina.

The 1931 team coached by Collins went 4-3-3 and won the state championship. The Carolina-Duke game went big time for the first time that year as a crowd of 20,000 in Durham watched the two teams play to their second straight scoreless tie. Johnny Branch, a great all-purpose runner, was the star of that squad.

The quiet Dutchman, Carl Snavely, came to Chapel Hill in 1934 from Bucknell to take over the coaching reins of the Tar Heels. It would be the first of two tours of duty for Snavely as head coach. The 1934 team went 7-1-1 and was led by George Barclay, UNC's first All-America in football, at guard. Carolina lost only to Tennessee and it tied N.C. State that season. The Carolina-Duke game drew state and Kenan record crowds as the Tar Heels eked out a 7-0 victory.

The 1935 team also proved to be a great one as Snavely led his squad to an 8-1 record. Carolina won its first seven of the season and there was talk that the Tar Heels were headed to the Rose Bowl. But arch-rival Duke made sure that didn't happen on Saturday, November 16 in Durham as the Blue Devils played an errorless game, winning 25-0. That game drew a new Southern attendance record of 47,000 and in total 149,500 saw UNC play during the course of the year, another record. After losing to Duke, UNC came back to pummel Virginia 61-0 and ended up eighth in the final Associated Press rankings. Ace passer Don Jackson was named a second-team All-America.

Ray Wolf came to Carolina in 1936 to coach after Snavely had gone on to Cornell. Wolf had six successful seasons at UNC, producing winning teams the first five. The 1936 team went 8-2 and lost only to Tulane and Duke. That squad was led by end Andy Bershak, who was a second-team All-America in 1936 and a first teamer a year later. Wolf's teams continued their success, going 7-1-1, 6-2-1, 8-1-1 and 6-4 in subsequent years. Some of Wolf's outstanding players were Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin and George Stirnweiss.

The World War II years were an unsettled time in Carolina athletic history. From 1942 through 1944, UNC had three different head coaches who put makeshift teams through the paces against adjusted schedules which included some military teams. Jim Tatum, an outstanding player at Carolina in the 1930s, coached the 1942 unit. He would return for another coaching tenure later.

Snavely returned to Chapel Hill in 1945 and during the next five years produced some of the best teams in Carolina football history. His 1948 team finished third in the AP poll, the highest final ranking ever for the Tar Heels.

An Omaha, Neb. native, Snavely was a 1915 alumnus of Lebanon Valley College. He had coached Carolina teams in 1934 and 1935 to a 15-2-1 record and returned in 1945 after nine years at Cornell. In fact, at Cornell in 1940, Snavely was involved in an infamous contest which would be recounted repeatedly some 50 years after the fact. Snavely was the coach who, upon learning it had taken a fifth down for his Big Red to defeat Dartmouth, wired the opposing coach Red Blaik and relinquished the victory.

His 1945 team did well, finishing 5-5 after winning only one game the previous season. Then the incomparable Charlie Justice arrived a year later, and with his compatriots, UNC went to three major bowl games and won two Southern Conference titles in the period from 1946-49.

Snavely's 1946 team was 8-2-1, won the Southern Conference championship and lost to Georgia, 20-10, in the Sugar Bowl. The 1947 team was probably the best of the four. It finished 8-2, winning its last seven, but went uninvited in the post-season. The 1948 unit had only a regular-season tie with William & Mary to mar its record. It went on to lose to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Finally, the 1949 team was unbeaten in the conference and finished 7-4 overall, losing to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Justice was not the only star of those Snavely teams. Art Weiner and Ken Powell were tremendous ends on those teams and Hosea Rodgers was a great rugged fullback of the era.

But Justice was the main attraction unquestionably. He ran and passed for over 4,000 yards in his four-year career and he averaged over 42 yards a punt. He had only two punts blocked in his career and both of those were in the first game of his freshman year. When he was done after the 1949 season, Justice had established NCAA records in total offense and punting and was considered the greatest punter of all time.

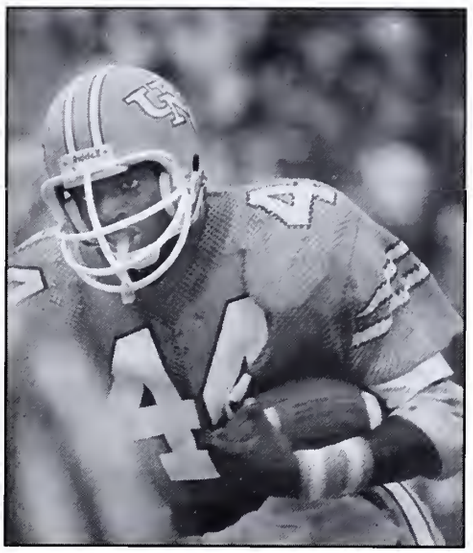
As a triple-threat All-America halfback, Justice captured the imagination and fancy of the football fan as no one else ever had. He was idolized and the attention he received from the fans and the media was almost unheard of in that time.

A native of Asheville, he had served in the Navy in World War II and was already 26 years old by the time of his senior year in 1949. He capped his amazing career by being named the Most Valuable Player in the 1950 College All-Star Game in Chicago.



Kelvin Bryant rushed far 17 tauchdawns and averaged 6.7 yards per carry in 1981. He is fourth in career rushing yards at Carolina.

The departure of Justice from campus coincided with a 20-year drought in UNC's football fortunes. Snavely, despite all his earlier successes, could not produce a winning team after the Justice era. George Barclay, Carolina's first All-America player back in 1934, was brought in as head coach, but he encountered little success in his three years of running the program. That's when Carolina successfully lured Jim Tatum back to the fold. Tatum was a great UNC player in the 1930s and had coached the Tar Heels during World War II in 1942. He had since been at Maryland where he led the Terrapins to the national championship in 1953.

Tatum's first season back in Chapel Hill, in 1956, was rather undistinguished. The Tar Heels went 2-7-1 with victories over Virginia and Maryland. In 1957, in Tatum's first return trip to College Park where he had enjoyed so much success, the Carolina-Maryland game was marked by the appearance of Queen Elizabeth II. The queen and her entourage watched the Terrapins beat the Tar Heels 21-7. But that 1957 team finished 6-4 as did the 1958 team under Tatum's steady leadership.

It appeared Carolina had the corner turned when Tatum died suddenly in the summer of 1959 from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. He was replaced by assistant Jim Hickey whose teams did not meet with a great deal of success in his eight seasons as head coach. Hickey produced only one winning record, that in 1963 when the Tar Heels finished 9-2 and shared their first Atlantic Coast Conference title. That team went on to post the school's first win in a bowl game, a 35-0 decision over Air Force in the Gator Bowl. That 1963 squad was led by the running of Ken Willard, the passing of Junior Edge and Gary Black and the pass receiving of Bob Lacey. Linebacker Chris Hanburger was a stalwart on defense for the Tar Heels.

After Hickey resigned after a 2-8 season in 1966, UNC looked to Bill Dooley to revitalize its football fortunes. The choice proved to be a wise one. Dooley's teams won 69, lost 53 and tied two in his 11-year tenure. ACC championships were won under Dooley in 1971, 1972 and 1977. Bowl trips became a regular feature — six in all during the Dooley years.

After three rebuilding seasons, Dooley's first good team was in 1970. It finished 8-4 and went on to play Arizona State in the Peach Bowl. Tailback Don McCauley, who had gained 1,092 yards rushing in 1969, returned for a 1,720-yard season in 1970. He was the first of UNC's 23 1,000-yard rushers. The Garden City, N.Y. native's 1,720 yards in 1970 broke what was then O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA rushing standard.

Dooley's teams won back-to-back ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. The '71 team lost to Georgia 7-3 in the Gator Bowl in a matchup of coaching brothers, Vince Dooley being the head mentor of the Bulldogs. The 1972 team had an 11-1 record marred only by a loss at Ohio State. It won a thrilling 32-28 decision from Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

The mid-1970s brought more success as UNC made bowl appearances in 1974 (Sun), 1976 (Peach) and 1977 (Liberty). Sammy Johnson was a 1,000-yard rusher for Carolina in 1973, as was James Betterson in 1974. But the outstanding offensive player of this era was Mike Voight who gained over 1,000 yards in 1974, 1975 and 1976, including 1,407 yards in '76. Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year in both 1975 and '76 for his efforts.

The 1977 team would prove to be Dooley's last at UNC. It won the ACC title and earned a berth opposite Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. A rugged defense led by All-America tackle Dee Hardison helped Carolina lead the nation in scoring defense that season. UNC allowed only 81 points in 11 regular-season games. The new offensive star was a freshman tailback named Amos Lawrence, who rushed for 1,211 yards and was named ACC Rookie of the Year.

Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual role of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech. At that time, Carolina turned to the "Cradle of Coaches" at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to find its new head coach, Dick Crum.

Crum had just completed an outstanding four-year run at Miami. His 10 years as head coach at UNC were equally brilliant. The winningest coach in Tar Heel history, he compiled a 72-41-3 ledger at the UNC helm. He took six of his 10 UNC teams to bowl games, winning on four occasions, and the 1980 squad won the ACC championship.

After a 5-6 record in 1978, Crum's teams from 1979 through 1983 went to five successive bowls and won 45 games. UNC posted four consecutive bowl wins over national football powers, beating Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl, Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and Texas again in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

In 1980 and 1981, UNC became the first team in league history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire service polls in successive years. The 1980 team was 11-1 and ranked ninth by United Press International and 10th by Associated Press. The 1981 unit was 10-2 and rated eighth by UPI and ninth by AP. Two more Carolina teams coached by Crum would later go to Bowl games, the 1983 team to the Peach Bowl to face Florida State and the 1986 corps to the Aloha Bowl for a meeting with Arizona.

There was a plethora of outstanding players at Carolina during the Crum era and the Tar Heel football record book was being constantly updated. In 1980, linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year and he went on to All-Pro status with the New York Giants. That season, Taylor led what was one of the greatest defenses in ACC history. Other great defensive players at UNC included linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson, linebacker Darrell Nicholson, defensive back Steve Streater, defensive tackle William Fuller and outside linebacker Mike Wilcher. All of those players were All-ACC selections and several went on to have distinguished pro careers. Fuller made four first-team All-America squads in 1983.

Bill Daaley gets a victory ride after clinching the 1971 ACC crawns. Daaley led Caralina ta six bawl appearances and three ACC titles in his tenure.

Hugh Morton

Dan McCauley and Charlie Justice are two of the top UNC offensive heroes. McCauley, two-time ACC Player of the Year, and Justice, two-time Southern Conference Player of the Year, have a combined 9,684 all-purpose yards.

Although Crum's teams were known for their rugged defense, Carolina also excelled offensively, leading the ACC in total offense four times in the 1980s and ranking sixth nationally in 1986.

There were several reasons behind the offensive fireworks. First, there was a succession of outstanding running backs. Five different players gained 1,000 or more yards rushing in a season a total of 10 times under Crum's tutelage. After his brilliant freshman year, Lawrence went on to gain 1,000 yards three more times. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only two runners in college football history to gain 1,000 yards rushing in each of their four seasons. Kelvin Bryant overcame an injury-marred career to gain 1,000 yards on three occasions. Ethan Horton turned the trick twice in his career and both Tyrone Anthony and Derrick Fenner had one 1,000-yard rushing season each.

A second reason behind UNC's offensive success was the presence of some outstanding offensive linemen in the '80s, four of whom gained first-team All-America status – guard Ron Wooten in 1980, guard David Drechsler in 1981 and '82, tackle Brian Blados in 1983 and tackle Harris Barton in 1986.

Carolina's offense also became more diversified in the Crum era and the passing section of the Carolina record book was basically rewritten at that time by a string of accomplished starters at quarterback– Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins, Scott Stankavage, Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye.

At the conclusion of the 1987 season, Crum resigned to return home to his native Ohio. Carolina conducted a national search to find a successor to lead the Tar Heels into their second century. The unanimous choice of the search committee was Mack Brown, who came to Carolina after head coaching stops at Appalachian State and Tulane. He is considered nationally as one of the finest young minds in the game, a brilliant motivator and communicator.

Jason Stanicek won a record-tying 24 games as a starting quarterback. He is the Tar Heels' alltime total offense and passing leader.

Caught with slim material, Brown's first two teams struggled. However, there were some bright individual stars for Carolina in that period, including center Jeff Garnica. He was a third-team All-America and the Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient in 1988 as the best offensive lineman in the ACC. Offensive guard Pat Crowley became only the second offensive lineman in ACC history to be named All-ACC in three successive years when he accomplished that feat in 1989.

The blocking of those two players was instrumental in tailback Kennard Martin leading the ACC in rushing in 1988 with 1,146 yards. Martin thus became the 19th runner in Tar Heel history to gain 1,000 yards in a season.

The Tar Heels turned things around in 1990, however, and put together a solid 6-4-1 record and even returned to the Top 25 at one point in the season. Inside linebacker Dwight Hollier led the ACC in tackles for the second consecutive season and rookie tailback Natrone Means capped a stellar second half of the season with a 256-yard, three-touchdown effort vs. Duke. Along the way, Carolina tied Georgia Tech 13-13; the stalemate proved to be the only blemish on the Yellow Jackets' otherwise-perfect national championship ledger.

In 1991, Means became the 11th Tar Heel to rush for more than 1,000 yards for an NCAA-record 20th time. Means ran for 1,030 yards and topped the 1,000-yard plateau on an electrifying, 68-yard scamper in the Tar Heels' 47-14 rout over Duke. Means, inside linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive guard Brian Bollinger each were first-team All-ACC selections.

1992 was another filled with great players, spectacular plays and electrifying memories. The Tar Heels won nine games, including a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, and finished the season ranked in the Top 20 in both major polls.

Means rushed for 1,195 yards, the 21st 1,000-yard rushing season in Carolina history. He had a 249-yard day at Maryland and once again dramatically crashed the 1,000-yard club with a 76-yard touchdown scamper against the Terrapins.

The Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opposition on consecutive weekends in mid-season, the first time in the program's history the team accomplished that feat.

Carolina accepted a bid to play in the Peach Bowl and provided one of the year's most entertaining bowl games. Trailing by two touchdowns in the third quarter, UNC rallied for a 21-17 win. Means, a repeat first-team All-ACC selection, gained 128 yards and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Strong safety Bracey Walker tied the game when he blocked a punt, his second of the game, and returned it 41 yards for a score.

Walker, the game's Defensive MVP, set up the game-winning touchdown when he forced an interception with a jarring fourth-quarter hit. Cornerback Cliff Baskerville picked the loose ball out of the air and raced 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

The 1993 Tar Heels provided one of the most entertaining seasons in Carolina history. UNC won 10 games for the first time in a dozen years, finished second in the ACC, 19th in the Associated Press poll and played in a bowl game for a second consecutive season.

UNC set nearly 40 team and individual records, including most points, points per game and total offense. Walker was named first-team All-America by several organizations and was a first-team All-ACC selection along with tailback Curtis Johnson and offensive tackle Ethan Albright.

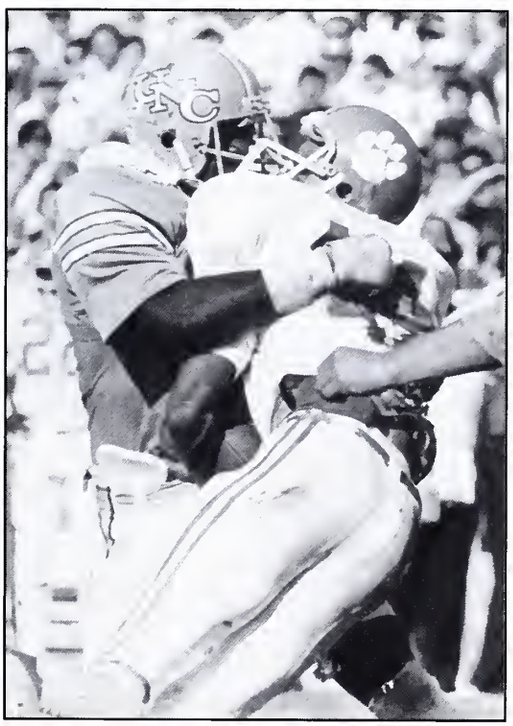
Johnson and red-shirt freshman tailback Leon Johnson each rushed for 1,000-plus yards. Curtis rushed for 1,034 yards and set a school record with a 90-yard score vs. Maryland; Leon was named the ACC Rookie of the Year as he rushed for 1,012 yards and led the conference with 16 touchdowns and 100 points. Carolina now has produced an NCAA-record 23 1,000-yard rushing seasons.

Quarterback Jason Stanicek set UNC records for one season in total offense (2,284 yards), total yards per game (190.3), completion percentage (64.1) and pass efficiency rating (145.79).

Corey Holliday concluded his brilliant career as Carolina's all-time leading pass receiver. Twice selected a captain by his teammates, Holliday finished his four years with 155 receptions for 2,447 yards and caught a pass in an ACC-record 45 consecutive games. He had nine receptions, a UNC postseason record, versus Alabama in Carolina's 24-10 loss in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

In 1994 Carolina went 8-4, losing to Texas, 35-31, in the Sun Bowl in an exhilirating contest. Stanicek concluded his career as the school's alltime total offense leader. Stanicek passed "Choo Choo" Justice's mark, which had stood since 1949, in the fifth game of the season and finished his standout career with 5,497 yards. Stanicek also set UNC career records for most pass completions (372), attempts (622), yards (4,683) and completion percentage (.598). He tied Matt Kupec's school mark for most wins by a starting quarterback with 24.

Marcus Wall set a Tar Heel record for most touchdown catches in a season with nine.. He added a touchdown catch in the Sun Bowl, returned a kickoff for a score against Duke, returned a punt for a touchdown against Texas and had a rushing touchdown against N.C. State.



Lawrence Taylor earned first-team All-America and ACC Player-af-the-Year hanars in 1980.

Carolina beat Duke 41-40 in one of the most exciting games in the storied history of that rivalry. The Blue Devils scored a pair of quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter to go ahead, 38-34, with less than 3:00 to play. Mike Thomas quickly connected with freshman Octavus Barnes on a short crossing route and Barnes raced past the entire secondary for a 71-yard game-winning score.

Barnes established an ACC record for receiving yards in a season by a freshman with 609. He had 165 yards on receptions, the third-highest single-game figure in Carolina history, in the regular-season finale at Duke and again in the Sun Bowl against Texas.

The 1995 Tar Heels rebounded from an 0-2 start to post a winning season for the sixth consecutive year and received an invitation to the Carquest Bowl in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Defensive tackle Marcus Jones was the ACC Defensive Player of the Year and became the first UNC player in nine years to be named consensus first-team All-America. Jones topped Lawrence Taylor's career UNC sack record as he concluded his four years with 24, three more than Taylor.

Mike Thomas set numerous single-season total offense and passing records, including most yards of total offense (2,489), most yards passing (2,436), most pass attempts (332) and most completions (185). He threw for more than 200 yards in each of the first six games and concluded his career with a school-record nine 200-yard outings.

Tailback Leon Johnson and split end Octavus Barnes each surpassed the previous school record for pass receptions in a season. Johnson led the team in rushing with 963 yards and added 54 receptions. Barnes had 53 catches for a UNC record 970 yards.

Johnson rushed for 195 yards and a touchdown in the 20-10 win over Arkansas in the Carquest Bowl. That is the highest rushing total in Carolina postseason history. Barnes established a UNC record with four 100-yard receiving games. He caught three touchdown passes and totaled 211 yards receiving, the second-highest figure in school history, in a 62-0 rout of Ohio.

Marcus Jones was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, the American Football Coaches Association, the Walter Camp Foundation and United Press International.

Last year was one of the finest in Carolina history. The Tar Heels went 10-2, won the Gator Bowl and finished 10th in both national polls. Brown was named the ACC Coach of the Year as he directed a new-look offense to record-setting heights.

Seven Tar Heels earned first-team All-ACC honors led by quarterback Chris Keldorf, a junior college transfer, who set UNC single-season passing records for completions (201), yards (2,347) and touchdowns (23). A record four UNC receivers had 30 or more catches, including Na Brown (52) and L.C. Stevens (44 catches, seven for touchdowns).

Leon Johnson set alltime UNC records for scoring (306) and touchdowns (50) and established the alltime ACC mark with 5,828 all-purpose yards. Johnson also earned All-ACC honors as a kick returner.

The Tar Heel defense, led by National Defensive Coordinator of the Year Carl Torbush, led the country in scoring and was second with 225.6 total yards per game. Red-shirt freshman cornerback Dre' Bly led the country in interceptions with an ACC-record 11 and was a consensus first-team All-America. That makes Bly just the fifth freshman in history and the first freshman defensive player to be named an Associated Press All-America.

Defensive end Greg Ellis and outside linebacker Brian Simmons earned second-team All-America honors, as well. Cornerback Robert Williams, a second-team All-ACC pick, set a school record with 23 pass breakups.

The year began with a 45-0 win over Clemson and included a 52-20 rout over N.C. State, both the largest margins of victory for the Tar Heels in series history. Carolina went to Syracuse in the second week and beat the No. 9-ranked Orangemen, the first UNC win on the road over a Top 10 team since 1966.

The Tar Heels tied for second in the ACC and received a bowl game invitation for the fifth straight year. Carolina played West Virginia in the Gator Bowl without Keldorf, who suffered a fracture dislocation of his left ankle in the last regular-season game. Sophomore Oscar Davenport came off the bench to win MVP honors as he completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and he passed and ran for scores.

Charlie Justice Profile

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar...a hero...a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to help them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower Chime, the late Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb. Carl Snavely had so many football players he couldn't have named them all had he taken a memory course.

The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snavely—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train,") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

The Snavely system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by players' ability and maturity to accept Snavely's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo", documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record of 4,883 yards lasted for 45 years until quarterback Jason Stanicek broke the mark in 1994. Justice, graciously, was on hand to congratulate Stanicek.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runnerup for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron.

Charlie Justice did it all for the Tar Heels - running, passing, punting, returns. He was the Walter Camp Foundation's National Player of the Year in 1948.

First-Team All-Americas

George Barclay

Guard, 1934

Here is Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

Andy Bershak

End, 1948-49

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snavely and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, was also a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

Steve Maronic

Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man" playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his final season.

Paul Severin

End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

Charlie Justice

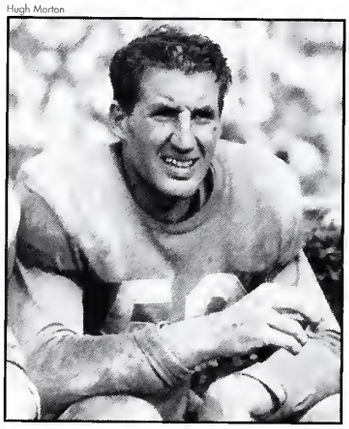
Twice runnerup for the Heisman Trophy, Charlie Justice is rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He was the school's alltime total offense leader with 4,883 yards for more than 40 years and also ranks as the Tar Heels' third-leading career scorer, eighth-leading rusher and 16th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns.

Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. In 1948 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy.

Hugh Morton



Art Weiner

Art Weiner

End, 1948-49

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the fifth-most in school history and he still holds the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. However, many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. After his senior season Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992. He is the receivers coach at Greensboro College.

Irv Holdash

Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He probably made All-America in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

Irv Holdash

Al Goldstein

Al Goldstein

End, 1958

Goldstein was another outstanding two-way end at Carolina. He earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

Bob Lacey

End, 1963

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He was the first Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches in two seasons. His career total of 102 receptions is the sixth-best in school history.

Bob Lacey

Don McCauley

Halfback, 1970

Don McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an alltime collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fifth in career rushing at Carolina. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts.

Ron Rusnak

Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

Ken Huff

Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards in 1974, at the time a school record. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

Charles Waddell

Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he was also a dynamic blocker. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

1975 Patterson Medal Recipient Charles Waddell

Defensive Tackle, 1977

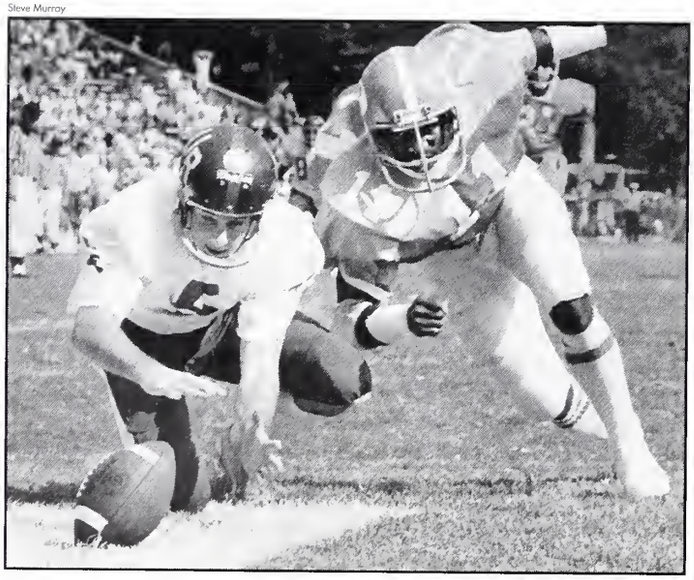
A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. UNC led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, passing and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.

Ricky Barden

Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler on the team. His 156 yards on interception returns are the second-most in school history.

Steve Murray



Ricky Barden

Lawrence Taylor

Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a runaway selection as Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year.

Ron Wooten

Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

Greg Perkins

Ron Wooten

David Drechsler

■ Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. Drechsler went on to become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

William Fuller

■ Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just five Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just two defensive linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

Brian Blados

■ Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

Brian Bladas

Harris Barton

Harris Barton

■ Offensive Tackle, 1986

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

Pat Crowley

Pat Crowley

■ Offensive Guard

Crowley was a standout offensive guard and a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988).

Bracey Walker

Bracey Walker

The first Carolina defensive back to ever receive first-team All-America honors by a major organization, Walker burst onto the scene in 1992 when he was one of the stars of the Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State. Walker blocked two punts in that game, returned one of them for a tying touchdown and set up the game-winning interception with a jarring collision. He was the Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl.

In 1993 he led the Tar Heels with 100 tackles and was the co-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team defense. He also blocked four more punts, two of which were recovered in the end zone by Carolina, and was named the National Special Teams Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

Marcus Jones

Defensive Tackle, 1995

The alltime leading sack man in Carolina football history, Jones became the first Tar Heel to earn consensus first-team All-America honors since Harris Barton in 1986 and the first defensive lineman since William Fuller in 1982-83. Jones had 25 career sacks, four more than Taylor, and finished with 222 tackles. That included 46 behind the line of scrimmage.

He was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1995 and earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second straight season. He became the first Tar Heel defender to repeat all-conference selections since Tim Goad in 1986-87.

As a senior he had a career-high 94 tackles, despite facing constant double- and triple-team efforts. He registered an ACC-leading 19 tackles for losses for 74 yards, seven of which were quarterback sacks. He was hampered in the first half of the season by a knee sprain. Over the last five weeks of the regular season, however, he averaged 10.8 tackles per game and had 16 tackles for losses for 65 yards, including six sacks for 41 yards, and pressured the quarterback 13 times.

Quite fittingly, Jones capped his career by sacking Arkansas quarterback Barry Lunney on the Razorbacks' final offensive play in Carolina's 20-10 win in the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

Dre' Bly

Cornerback, 1996

The first freshman to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in ACC history, Bly became just the fifth freshman in history to be named to the Associated Press All-America first team. He was also a first-team All-America selection by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Athlon Sports and a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award as the National Defensive Back of the Year. He earned Atlantic Coast Conference first-team honors and was the league's Rookie of the Year. He is the only Carolina freshman in history to earn first-team All-America honors.

He made two second-half interceptions, broke up two passes and had seven tackles against West Virginia in the Gator Bowl.

Bly led the nation in interceptions and interceptions per game. Just the fifth UNC player to ever lead the NCAA in a statistical category. He set an ACC single-season interceptions record with 11, one more than Bob Sullivan of Maryland had in 10 games in 1965. The Chesapeake, Va. native had three multi-interception games, including three against Georgia Tech, two at Florida State and two at Virginia. He had six more interceptions than any other player in the ACC and three more than any other player in the country. Bly had 141 yards in returns, including a 44-yard return against the Yellow Jackets to set up a touchdown and a 51-yard return for a touchdown at Virginia.

Carolina's 1,000-Yard Tradition

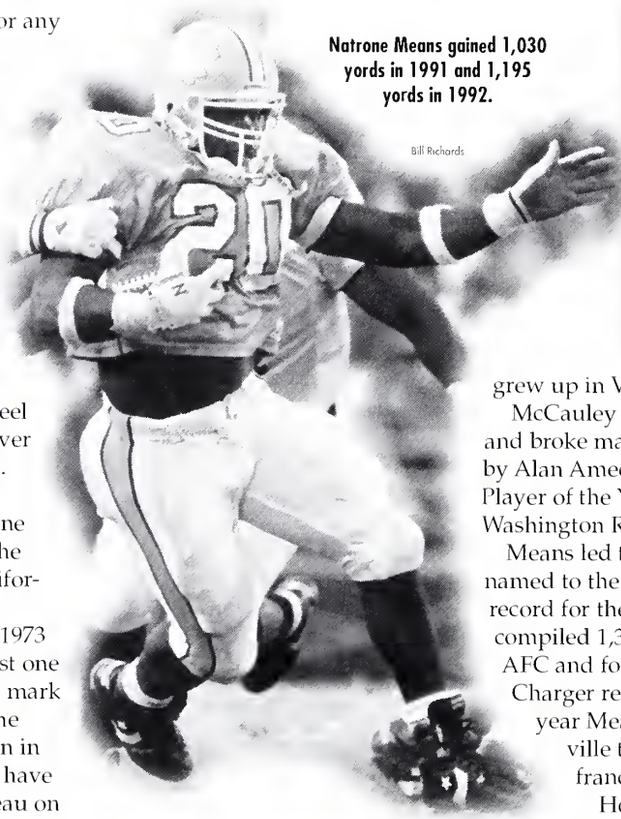
That's the magic figure for any runner in football.

Call him a halfback, a running back, a tailback, an I-Back or whatever you want. But, when he rushes for 1,000 yards, you simply call him something special.

Nowhere in college football have there been more special runners than at the University of North Carolina.

In the last 28 years Tar Heel tailbacks have rushed for over 1,000 yards on 23 occasions. That gives Carolina more 1,000-yard backs than anyone else in collegiate history. The University of Southern California is second with 20.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. And in the nine years of Mack Brown's reign in Chapel Hill, four Tar Heels have topped the 1,000-yard plateau on five occasions. In 1993 both Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson rushed for 1,000-plus yards, the fourth time in UNC history that not one, but two, players topped the 1,000-yard mark.



Natrone Means gained 1,030 yards in 1991 and 1,195 yards in 1992.

Wake Forest	6	John Leach, 1993
Geargio Tech	5	C.J. Williams, 1995
Maryland	4	Willie Jayner, 1982
Duke	4	Rabert Boldwin, 1994

In 1992 Natrone Means rushed for 1,195 yards, his second consecutive 1,000-yard season. In 1991, Means rushed for 1,030 yards and vaulted over the magical 1,000-yard barrier on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus arch-rival Duke. He topped 1,000 in similar fashion in '92 as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Three times in a 12-year stretch from 1973-84, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks– the veer or the wishbone. But, on all four occasions when Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position– tailback in an I-formation.

To be a tailback at Carolina, one has to be a superb athlete, one of the nation's best players, someone special.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times– Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000-yard mark four times.

Don McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time that broke O.J. Simpson's alltime NCAA single-season yardage record.

McCauley is Carolina's only 1,000-yard back from outside the ACC's geographic area. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y.

Bryant, Tyrone Anthony, James Betterson, Ethan Horton, Sammy Johnson, Kennard Martin, Means, Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia, and Derrick Fenner is from Maryland.

McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1986.

Means led the Chargers to the Super Bowl in 1994 and was named to the Pro Bowl. He set the single-season rushing record for the Chargers in just his second season when he compiled 1,350 yards in 1994. Means was second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in rushing yards and he set a Charger record with five consecutive 100-yard games. Last year Means was the offensive spark which led Jacksonville to the AFC Championship Game in the franchise's second year of existence.

Horton, Sammy Johnson and Leon Johnson were recruited as quarterbacks. All of the others were high school halfbacks, although McCauley was more highly regarded as a defensive back.

Fenner set the ACC rushing record in 1986 by gaining 328 yards against Virginia, although that mark was surpassed by Wake Forest's John Leach in 1993 against Maryland. Martin had 291 in 1988 against Duke. Lawrence had 286 against Virginia in 1977 and McCauley gained 279 against Duke in 1970. Then comes Voight's 261 against the Blue Devils in 1976. And in 1990, Means rushed for 256 yards in the season finale vs. Duke.

The top two single-season efforts ever in the ACC are McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976.

Leon Johnson is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be in the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in career touchdowns, top five in career scoring, top 10 in career rushing yards

"Famous Amos" Lawrence rushed for 100-plus yards a record 25 times ond goined over 1,000 yards four straight seasons.

Mike Voight, the first Tor Heel to rush for 1,000 yards in three straight seasons, was the ACC Player of the Year in 1975 and 1976.

He is first in all-purpose yards in league history, second in touchdowns, fourth in scoring, eighth in rushing and tied for 10th in receptions. He scored 50 touchdowns in his career, just one shy of the alltime ACC record held by Ted Brown of N.C. State. He scored 306 points, one of just four players in league history to top the 300-point mark. He and Brown are the only two non-kickers to accomplish that feat.

UNC Bowl History

The University of North Carolina has played in 21 postseason bowl games, including five consecutive heading into the 1997 season. The Tar Heels are 9-12 in bowl games, 3-2 under current head coach Mack Brown. Carolina has the ninth-longest active bowl streak in the nation behind only Nebraska, Michigan, Florida State, Colorado, Ohio State, Tennessee, Penn State and Florida.

UNC and Clemson are tied for the lead in bowl appearances among schools which were charter members of the Atlantic Coast Conference and the Tar Heels have the most appearances of any charter school since the league was formed in 1953.

Carolina's bowl history started with three New Year's Day appearances during the late Forties when Charlie Justice was the big star of some of the school's greatest teams. Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched UNC against Georgia. This game produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the UNC 14. Carolina argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and a 20-10 victory.

Justice was sensational running and punting when the Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later, but Oklahoma won the game, 14-6. Justice also played well in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance did not come until 1963, but Ken Willard made the wait worthwhile in sparking a 35-0 win over the Air Force in the Gator Bowl. He ran for 94 yards and scored the opening touchdown to key the runaway victory.

Beginning in 1970 Carolina made 12 bowl trips in 17 years. After dropping a 26-14 decision to Arizona State in the 1970 Peach Bowl, the Tar Heels and Georgia made bowl history in the 1971 Gator Bowl. This is the only time in history brothers have opposed each other as head coaches in a bowl game with Bill Dooley's Tar Heels taking on his brother Vince's Bulldogs. The game was a great defensive struggle with Georgia coming from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in 1972 with a dramatic 32-28 win over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. It was his 62-yard touchdown pass to Ted Leverenz which gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD strike with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then sealed the win when tackle Ronnie Robinson dropped Red Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson each had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Carolina couldn't stop the veer attack of Mississippi State. The two teams combined for 901 yards of offense, but the Bulldogs won, 26-24, when the Tar Heels were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 43 during a last-minute drive.

Kentucky blanked Carolina, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl and the following season the Tar Heels dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, Carolina had a 17-7 lead in the fourth quarter. But, the Cornhuskers rallied behind the play of reserve quarterback Randy Garcia.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the biggest stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Lawrence rushed for 118 yards and Kupec hit on 18 of 28 passes.

Lawrence again was the big star in a 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a two-yard plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Jeff Hayes.

But, the key to this game was a Tar Heel defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 total yards in the second half. Lawrence Taylor was all over the field making sensational plays, although safety Steve Streater was chosen the game's defensive MVP with an interception, fumble recovery and a 63-yard punt.

In an eerie setting the following year, Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the Gator Bowl. The field was shrouded in fog much of the night, making it almost impossible to see the action from the press box. Bryant ran for 148 yards and his backup, Ethan Horton, added 144.

Horton again was the big star in the 1982 Sun Bowl as Carolina came from behind to defeat seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10. Coming off the bench for an injured Bryant, Horton rushed for 119 yards and one touchdown.

The Tar Heel defense was brilliant, making two great goal line stands and shutting down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick added a pair of field goals despite weather conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.

That Sun Bowl game made Carolina the first Atlantic Coast Conference school ever to win four straight bowl games. But, that streak came to an end with a 28-3 loss to Florida State in the 1983 Peach Bowl.

The Tar Heels spotted Arizona a 30-0 lead in the 1986 Aloha Bowl, before putting on a big second-half rally. Torin Dorn finally got Carolina going against a rugged Wildcat defense with an Aloha-record 58-yard touchdown run.

Norris Davis made two big defensive plays, intercepting a pass and blocking a punt. Mark Maye threw to Randy Marriott for a score, but Arizona held on, 30-21.

Following the 1992 season the Tar Heels rallied from a 14-0 halftime deficit behind MVPs Natrone Means (128 yards rushing, one TD) and Bracey Walker (two blocked punts, one forced interception) to beat Mississippi State, 21-17, in the Peach Bowl.

Walker picked up his second blocked punt and returned it 41 yards for a touchdown to tie the game at 14. Moments later, early in the fourth quarter, Walker broke up a Bulldog pass and Cliff Baskerville intercepted the ball and ran it back 44 yards for the winning score.

The 1993 Tar Heels battled defending national champion Alabama to a 10-10 tie for the first half, but the Tide scored on a pair of 12-play drives of 65 and 66 yards in the second half to record a 24-10 win over Carolina in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

UNC quarterback Jason Stanicek set school bowl game records for pass completions (19) and yardage (235) and Corey Holliday established a Tar Heel postseason record for receptions (nine) and receiving yardage (125). Fullback William Henderson scored for UNC on a one-yard run.

Carolina lost a heartbreaking, 35-31 decision to Texas in the 1994 Sun Bowl despite record-setting performances from several players. The Tar Heels led the Longhorns, 31-21, early in the final quarter but Texas tailback Priest Holmes scored his third and fourth rushing touchdowns of the game in the final six minutes.

UNC quarterback Mike Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two scores, freshman wide receiver Octavus Barnes made nine receptions for 165 yards and wide receiver Marcus Wall added seven catches and returned a fourth quarter punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Wall's punt return, the first time he ever returned a punt in his collegiate career, gave Carolina a 24-21 lead. On the Tar Heels' next possession, Thomas completed a 50-yard scoring pass to Barnes.

Thomas established UNC bowl game records for most pass completions and yards and tied bowl game marks for pass attempts and touchdown throws. Barnes set Sun Bowl and Tar Heel records for catches and yards receiving.

Wall set an ACC bowl game record with 227 all-purpose yards. The 82-yard punt return was the third-longest ever in a bowl game.

Leon Johnson established a Tar Heel bowl game record as he rushed for 195 yards in Carolina's 20-10 win over Arkansas in the 1995 Carquest Bowl. The Razorbacks had won the SEC Western Division title. Johnson rushed for 172 yards in the second half, including a 28-yard touchdown run which gave the Tar Heels the lead for good in the third quarter.

Mike Thomas, starting his third career bowl game, iced the win with an 87-yard scoring pass to freshman L.C. Stevens. The reception was the longest in UNC bowl history and the second-longest in Carolina history. It also tied the mark for the fifth-longest passing play in college football bowl history.

Last year Carolina secured a Top 10 national finish with a 20-13 win over 25th-ranked West Virginia in the Toyota Gator Bowl. Sophomore quarterback Oscar Davenport made his first collegiate start a memorable one as he earned MVP honors by passing for 175 yards and rushing for a touchdown. Davenport was in the lineup because All-ACC quarterback Chris Keldorf had been injured in the regular-season finale.

Carolina compiled 289 yards of total offense against the Mountainneers, who had led the nation in fewest yards allowed per game. Leon Johnson rushed for 79 yards and caught three passes for 33 yards. Davenport threw an 18-yard touchdown pass to Octavus Barnes in the first quarter and capped a five-play scoring drive late in the second quarter with a 5-yard scoring run.

Freshman cornerback Dre' Bly, the nation's interception leader, picked off a pair of passes in the second half and safety Greg Williams recovered a fumble to thwart another West Virginia drive, as UNC held on for the victory. Bly's performance was rated the top defensive effort of the postseason by Athlon.

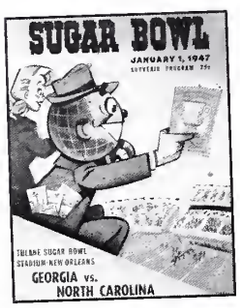
Recapping Carolina's Bowl History

1947 Sugar Bowl

January 1, 1947

Georgia 20, Carolina 10



New Orleans, La. — The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Terreshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

The Dawgs' Charley Trippi rushed for 77 yards, while Justice carried 18 times for 37 yards.

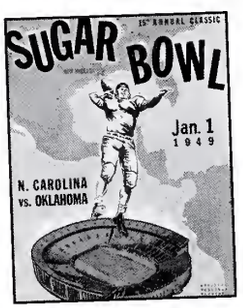
January 1, 1949

Oklahoma 14, Carolina 6



New Orleans, La. — The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

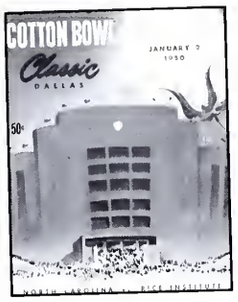
1950 Cotton Bowl

January 1, 1950

Rice 27, Carolina 13



Dallas, Texas — Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and the Owls kept right on rolling i n the third quarter.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to "Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo-Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

Carolina 35, Air Force 0

Jacksonville, Fla. — It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

1970 Peach Bowl

Arizona State 48, Carolina 26

Atlanta, Ga. — The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

Monroe Ely scored twice and Thomas reached the end zone for the third time in the Sun Devils' 27-point second half.

In his final game as a Tar Heel, McCauley gained 143 yards on 36 carries.

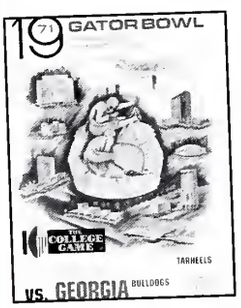
1971 Gator Bowl

December 31, 1971

Georgia 7, Carolina 3



Jacksonville, Fla. — For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first — brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the 'Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

1972 Sun Bowl

Carolina 32, Texas Tech 28

El Paso, Texas — Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wingback Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

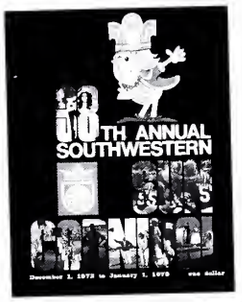
December 28, 1974

Mississippi State 26, Carolina 24



El Paso, Texas — Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense — 455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rockey Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 19 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 17 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game. Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

1976 Peach Bowl

December 31, 1976

Kentucky 21, Carolina 0

Atlanta, Ga. — Playing without an injured Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, the Tar Heels managed just five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in a hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

1977 Liberty Bowl

December 19, 1977

Nebraska 21, Carolina 17

Memphis, Tenn. — Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Brooks Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against the Tar Heels all season.

Bill Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual position of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

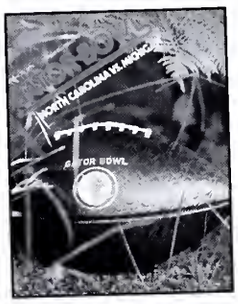
1979 Gator Bowl

December 28, 1979

Carolina 17, Michigan 15



Jacksonville, Fla. — Matt Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown and Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards to lead North Carolina to a 17-15 win over Michigan.

Trailing 9-0, the Tar Heels rallied for the next 17 points and then held off a Michigan threat late in the game to post the first of Dick Crum's four consecutive bowl wins.

Carolina had two chances early on to score first, but high winds knocked down a pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

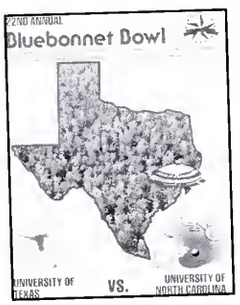
1980 Bluebonnet Bowl

December 31, 1979

Carolina 16, Texas 7



Houtson, Texas — Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead.

Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history.

Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards as Carolina rollied for 17 straight points to knock off Michigan, 17-15, in the 1979 Gator Bowl.

The Tar Heels finished ranked eighth by the Associated Press and ninth by UPI.

1981 Gator Bowl

December 28, 1981

Carolina 31, Arkansas 27

Jacksonville, Fla. — Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open the third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

Rod Elkin quorterbacked the Tor Heels to bowl victories over Michigan, Texos and Arkansos

Carolina closed the season with a 10-2 record and became the first team in Atlantic Coast Conference history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire services in successive years. UNC finished the year rated eighth by United Press International and ninth by Associated Press.

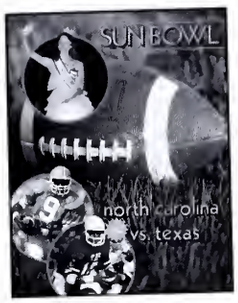
1982 Sun Bowl

December 25, 1982

Carolina 26, Texas 10

El Paso, Texas — North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels became the first



ACC team to win four consecutive bowl games.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half as Carolina won 26-10. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brooks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with 4:56 left.

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on 4th-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

1983 Peach Bowl

Florida State 28, Carolina 3

Atlanta, Ga. — Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half-empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl- game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running game to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Weegie Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at their own 16 and FSU converted via a 1-yard touchdown run.

Early in the fourth quarter, UNC quarterback Scott Stankavage hit tight end Arnold Franklin with a fourth down, 10-yard TD pass, but the play was called back due to a holding penalty. Carolina elected to kick for three and put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field goal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a season in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

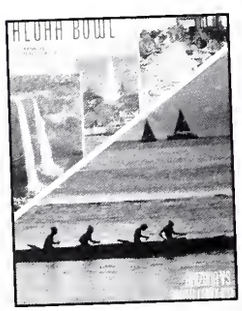
1986 Aloha Bowl

December 27, 1986

Arizona 30, Carolina 21



Honolulu, Hawaii — Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tailback Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards.

1993 Peach Bowl

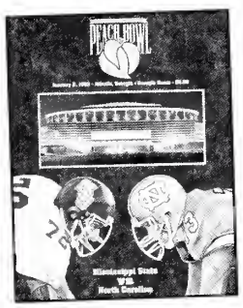
Carolina 21, Mississippi State 17



Atlanta, Ga. — Bracey Walker blocked consecutive third-quarter punts, returning one of them for the tying touchdown, and forced a fourth quarter interception which Cliff Baskerville returned 44 yards for a touchdown to lead Carolina to a 21-17 Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State.

Walker's heroics capped a fierce second-half comeback in which the Tar Heels came from 14 points behind to score three times, although just once on an offensive possession.

Mississippi State took a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter and had two more scores in the second quarter called back due to holding penalties.

Mack Brown's squad regrouped at halftime, however, and cut the lead to 14-7 just six plays into the third quarter. Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks for a 53-yard completion on the fourth play of the half and Natrone Means scored from a yard out two snaps later.

Means led the Tar Heel offense with 128 yards rushing and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Walker was the Defensive MVP.

Later in the third quarter, Walker blocked a punt but Carolina's field goal try was unsuccessful. On the next series UNC again forced the Bulldogs to punt and this time Walker blocked the kick, picked up the loose ball and raced 24 yards untouched for the tying score.

Early in the final quarter Walker forced a midair loose ball with a jarring hit and Baskerville plucked the ball out of the air and sprinted 44 yards down the left sideline for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Carolina held off two late MSU rallies to hang on to the lead. Linebacker Kerry Mock's interception stopped one threat at the UNC 17 with 2:32 to play and a fourth-down incompletion with just six seconds left halted the Bulldogs at the Carolina 21-yard line.

Cliff Baskerville (right) picks the ball out of the air in the fourth quarter of the 1993 Peach Bowl. Baskerville returned the interception, which Bracey Walker (27) caused, 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

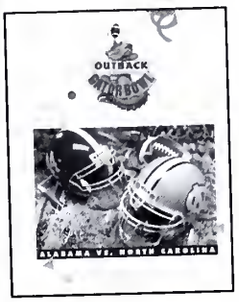
1993 Gator Bowl

December 31, 1993

Alabama 24, Carolina 10



Jacksonville, Fla. — Quarterback Brian Burgdorf threw for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead 18th-ranked and defending national champion Alabama to a 24-10 victory over 11th-ranked Carolina in Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

Corey Holliday caught nine passes for 125 yards and was UNC's MVP.

After a scoreless first period, Alabama took the lead on a 22-yard field goal by Michael Proctor. Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek then led a seven-play, 80-yard touchdown drive in just 1:36 to take the lead, 7-3, on the ensuing possession. Stanicek hit Holliday with completions of 29 and 22 yards and executed one of his trademark option pitches to freshman tailback Leon Johnson for an 18-yard gain. William Henderson plunged in from a yard out for the lead.

The Crimson Tide went up 10-7 Burgdorf scored from 33 yards out on a quarterback draw.

With 1:44 left before intermission, Stanicek led what would be the final Tar Heel scoring drive. He hit Holliday with passes of 12 and nine yards and Curtis Johnson ran twice for 20 yards before the drive stalled and Tripp Pignetti hit a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 10.

The Alabama defense was the key to the game, holding UNC to a season-low 42 net yards rushing on 25 carries. Carolina could only muster 40 total yards and four first downs in the second half.

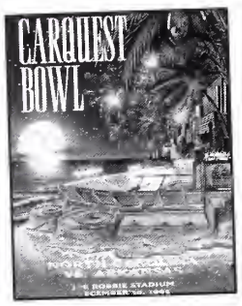
1994 Sun Bowl

December 30, 1994

Texas 35, Carolina 31



El Paso, Texas — Priest Holmes rushed for 161 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winner with 1:17 to play, to lead Texas to a 35-31 win over the Tar Heels before a Sun Bowl record crowd of 50,612.

Holmes' four-touchdown performance wrestled away MVP honors from UNC quarterback Mike Thomas, who had the finest passing day of his career. Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two touchdowns. He set UNC bowl game records for completions and yards and tied the mark with two scoring tosses. He was 15 for 19 in the first half and completed 20 of 29 before a final desperation drive.

Wide receivers Marcus Wall and Octavus Barnes were two more standouts for the Tar Heels. Wall was selected the game's Most Valuable Special Teams Player. He gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 lead in the fourth quarter when he returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Barnes set UNC bowl game records for most catches and yards with nine receptions for 165 yards and one score. The 165 yards were also the most in Sun Bowl history.

With Carolina up, 31-21, Texas quickly went on a 68-yard touchdown drive in only 2:38. On the next series, Texas took over at its own 32 and drove 68 yards in 10 plays for the winning score. Holmes carried the last three plays on the drive for nine, two and finally the five yard touchdown run.

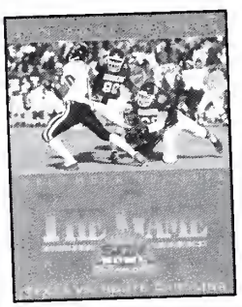
1995 Carquest Bowl

December 30, 1995

Carolina 20, Arkansas 10



Miami, Fla. — Leon Johnson rushed for a Carolina bowl record 195 yards and Mike Thomas threw for two scores as the Tar Hels knocked off Arkansas, 20-10, in the Carquest Bowl.

Johnson's 195-yard effort topped the previous high of 148 yards by Kelvin Bryant, also against Arkansas, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Johnson had just 23 yards on eight carries in the first half, but exploded for 172 yards in the second half.

All-America tackle Marcus Jones capped his career with four tackles for losses, including a quarterback sack on Arkansas' last play from scrimmage - his final collegiate play.

Trailing by a touchdown the Tar Heels quickly moved into position to tie the game. On third-and-long quarterback Mike Thomas rolled right, threw back across the field to Ashford, who sprinted around the left flank into the end zone.

The Razorbacks managed to take a 10-7 lead in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Latourette. Two series later Carolina went into the lead for good. On third-and-eight from the 28, Thomas ran the option around the right corner, turned upfield and then pitched the ball to Johnson, who was trailing the play perfectly. Johnson ran untouched for a 28-yard, go-ahead score.

Honored Jerseys

Fifteen former University of North Carolina football players have been honored in special fashion as their names and jersey numbers have been placed on the facade of Kenan Stadium's upper deck.

Athletic Director John Swofford announced in August 1994 that the University's Athletic Council had approved a request to pay tribute to some of the school's greatest players.

The men being honored are the five who have already had their jersey numbers retired, Carolina's consensus first-team All-Americas and any athlete who was named Atlantic Coast Conference Football Player of the Year. Consensus All-Americas are those players who made the majority of the first-team selections in any given year.

"We have been looking for a way to pay special tribute to those players who have been so instrumental in our football success over the years," said Swofford. "We felt this was a way to make people more aware of the great football tradition that we have here.

"Of course, it would be impossible to honor all of our outstanding players. So we had to have some sort of criteria to go by in coming up with a list of names. The retired jerseys gave us a start. After much discussion with a lot of people, we decided the highest honors any of our players have had were being named consensus All-Americas and chosen the best player in our league."

George Barclay #99

A guard and linebacker from 1932 to 1934, whose number has been retired. He was the school's first football All-America and is a member of the state of North Carolina's Sports Hall of Fame. A guard and linebacker at 5-11, 185 pounds, Barclay was a standout for three seasons under coaches Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A tremendous blocker and ferocious tackler, he was captain of the 1934 team that went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as UNC's head coach from 1953 until 1955.

Andy Bershak #59

A great two-way end from 1935 to 1937, who was a consensus All-America in 1937. His number has also been retired. Bershak was a brilliant defender and his team's top receiver. He also was a starter on the basketball team and an honor student. Bershak was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

Bill Sutherland #46

A blocking back on the 1946 Sugar Bowl team, whose number has been retired. He died in an auto accident after his freshman year, stunning his teammates and Coach Carl Snavely. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for what would have been his sophomore season and Snavely worked to ensure that his number would be retired.

Charlie Justice #22

Arguably the most famous and popular athlete in the history of the state. Justice was a consensus All-America and twice runnerup for the Heisman Trophy. During his four seasons, 1946-49, Carolina went to the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. A single-wing tailback, he still holds many of the school's total offense records. In addition, he was a sensational punter and kick returner. He was the 1948 National Player of the Year.

Art Weiner #50

An outstanding two-way end from 1946 to 1949, whose number has been retired. Weiner won All-America honors in 1948 and 1949 and was the nation's leading receiver as a senior. He teamed with the legendary Charlie Justice to form perhaps the most potent offensive duo in school history. Voted the top lineman in the Senior Bowl, Weiner is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame. He is still fifth in UNC receptions with 106.

Danny Talbott #10

A star quarterback from 1964 to 1966 and the 1965 ACC Player of the Year under Head Coach Jim Hickey.

Talbott led the league in total offense and scoring that season. He had 318 yards of total offense in one game against Georgia, at the time a school record.

Don McCauley #23

The ACC Player of the Year as a junior and senior and a consensus All-America in 1970, his final season. McCauley was the first of Carolina's NCAA-record 23 backs to rush for 1,000 yards. He twice led the ACC in rushing with 1,092 yards in 1969 and 1,720 in 1970. That latter total at the time broke O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA record. He also led the nation in all-purpose running as a senior and his 126 points that year still is the league record.

Ron Rusnak #62

An offensive guard on three bowl teams from 1970 to 1972, who won unanimous All-America honors in his senior season. At 6-2, 220 pounds, Rusnak wasn't as big as some linemen, but had great technique. He was the cornerstone of the offensive front on the 1972 team which went 11-1. Rusnak was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. He won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1972 as the best blocker in the ACC.

Ken Huff #68

A three-year starter at offensive guard from 1972 to 1974 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Huff was a dynamic blocker at 6-4 and 250 pounds. He was the key figure on the 1974 line which helped Carolina boast a pair of 1,000-yard backs and lead the ACC in total offense, rushing and scoring. Led by Huff, UNC accumulated 4,691 yards, at the time a school record. The Tar Heels were fifth nationally in total offense and ninth in scoring that season. Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference and was the third player selected overall in the 1974 NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

Mike Voight #44

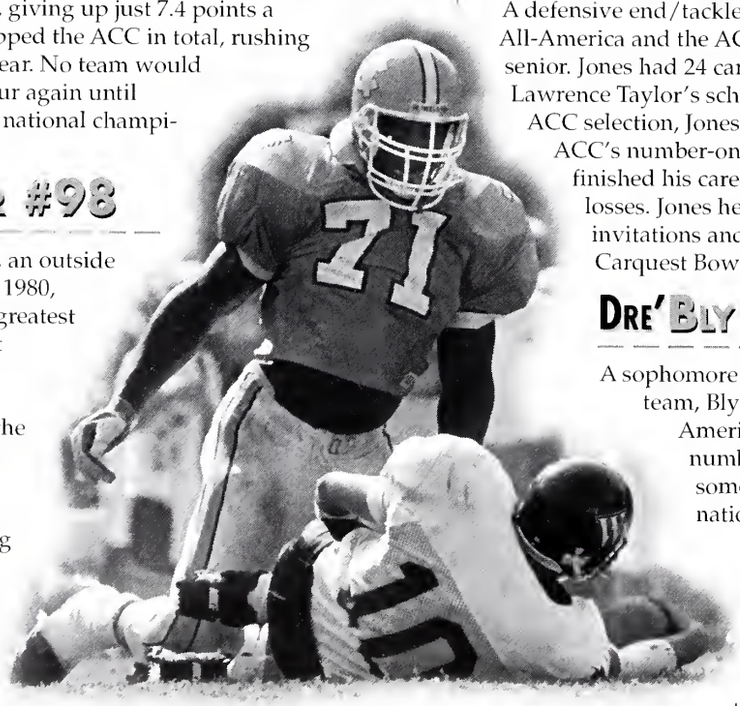
A hard-running tailback from 1973 to 1976, who was the ACC Player of the Year as both a junior and senior. Voight is second in Carolina history in scoring and rushing with 254 points and 3,971 yards, respectively. He had three 1,000-yard seasons and twice was the top ground-gainer in the ACC. In 1976 he scored 110 points and ran for 1,407 yards, including 261 in his final game—a dramatic 39-38 shootout with Duke.

Dee Hardison #71

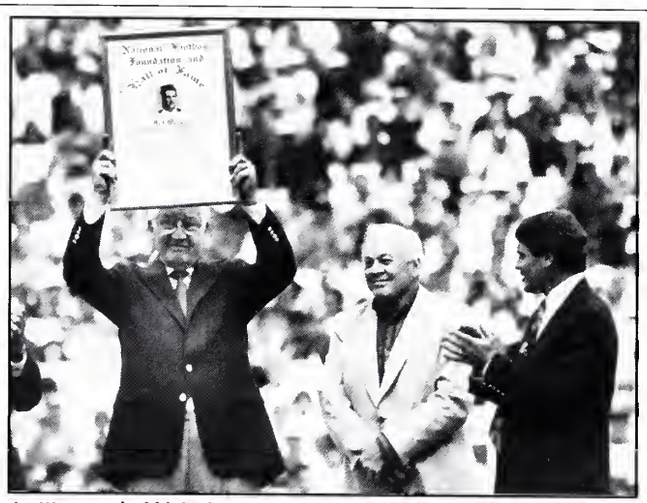
A defensive tackle from 1974 to 1977 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Hardison was the star of one of Carolina's greatest defenses in his final year. He dominated the line of scrimmage all season long as the Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. Carolina also topped the ACC in total, rushing and pass defense that year. No team would lead the league in all four again until Florida State in its 1993 national championship season.

Lawrence Taylor #98

Lawrence Taylor (98), an outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980, who is regarded as the greatest player of all time at that position. Taylor was a consensus All-America and the ACC Player of the Year in 1980. He had a Carolina-record 16 quarterback sacks that season for losses totaling 127 yards. Sparked by his play, the Tar Heels went 11-1 in 1980 and won the ACC championship.



Bill Richards



Art Weiner is the fifth-leading receiver in Corolina history. Teommate Chorlie Justice and UNC othletic director John Swofford were on hand when Weiner was recognized for his induction into the College Footboll Hall of Fame ot Kenan Stodium in 1992.

William Fuller #95

A defensive lineman from 1980 to 1983, who was a consensus All-America as a senior. Also honored as a first-team All-America as a junior, he is one of only five Tar Heel players to be named first-team All-America twice. Fuller, who utilized his tremendous quickness to slice through offensive lines, had 22 tackles for losses in both 1981 and 1983. He is one of only three defensive linemen ever to make the All-ACC team three times.

Ethan Horton #12

The Associated Press ACC Player of the Year as a senior, Horton rushed for 1,247 yards in 1984 after a 1,107-yard performance in 1983. He was named the game's co-MVP in UNC's 1981 Gator Bowl win over Arkansas and was the MVP of the 1982 Sun Bowl.

Marcus Jones #71

A defensive end/tackle from 1992-95, who was a consensus All-America and the ACC Defensive Player of the Year as a senior. Jones had 24 career quarterback sacks to break Lawrence Taylor's school record. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, Jones led a Tar Heel defense which had the ACC's number-one rated total defense in 1995. He finished his career with 222 tackles, including 46 for losses. Jones helped Carolina to four straight bowl invitations and wins in the 1993 Peach and 1995 Carquest Bowls.

Dre' Bly #31

A sophomore cornerback on the 1997 UNC football team, Bly earned consensus first-team All-America honors in 1996. His name and number will be added to the stadium facade sometime after his college career. Bly led the nation with 11 interceptions in the regular season and added two more pass thefts in the Gator Bowl win over West Virginia. Bly was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, the Football Writers and the Walter Camp Foundation.

Tar Heel Sports Network

Even when Carolina fans can see the Tar Heels play with their own eyes, they insist on looking with their ears at the action by tuning in Woody Durham and Mick Mixon on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

One of the most respected and acclaimed radio networks of its kind in the country, the Tar Heel Sports Network will again bring the excitement of Carolina football to life on an outstanding list of stations.

The radio network is just part of Tar Heel Sports Marketing's job. A division of the Village Companies of Chapel Hill, Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service marketing agency overseeing the production and sales of all University of North Carolina football and basketball media entities, including television, internet, and print and retail products.

If you are tuned in to a Carolina game on the radio, listening to the head coaches on "Mack Brown Live" or the "Carolina Blueline with Dean Smith", watching them on their weekly TV shows, "Inside Carolina Football with Mack Brown" or "The Dean Smith Carolina Basketball Show", reading a UNC football or basketball game program or a Carolina Court Magazine, listening to the ACC Hotline radio show or logging on to the famous Goheels.com internet site, you are in touch with Tar Heel Sports Marketing.

Play-by-play announcer Woody Durham and color analyst Mick Mixon

Village, producers of the Tar Heel Sports Network play-by-play for the past 21 years, began producing the Carolina game programs four years ago and became the true multi-media rights holder in 1993.

Woody Durham is beginning his 27th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels." A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., and began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

Durham and Head Coach Mack Brown give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the Coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the "Mack Brown Live" call in show.

Durham also will visit with Coach Brown on "Inside Carolina Football", a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Football with Mack Brown", hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on a network of six stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director at Village.

Since taking over play-by-play duties in September, 1971, he has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone during Tar Heel football and basketball games. Durham was been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times.

Woody and his wife of 34 years, Jean, are parents to two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes took over play-by-play duties for Georgia Tech in June 1995 after handling the same duties for three years at Vanderbilt University. Taylor is a recent graduate of Elon College.

Mixon is in his ninth year as color analyst and production manager and his fourth as the local producer of the Mack Brown TV Show. A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in broadcast journalism. He was named vice president in 1996.

Mixon came to the Tar Heel Sports Network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.
